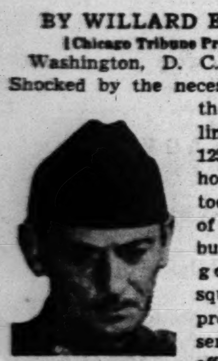
F. D. R., WIFE HIT AS HOUSE RIPS SQUANDERING

Vote on Debt Limit Sparks Debate.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 10.—Shocked by the necessity of raising the national debt limit from 65 to 125 billions, the house erupted today in a series of verbal outbursts against government squandering on projects not essential to the war effort.



Rep. C. I. Faddis.

The increase in the debt limit was approved by a unanimous vote of 367 to 0 and sent to the senate. Before and after the vote, debate raged on the issue of economy in the administration.

100 Million Fund Rejected.

Concrete action toward saving in expenditures was taken by an appropriations subcommittee, which voted, 7 to 5, to reject President Roosevelt's request for $100,000,000 which the WPA would distribute to workers who lost their jobs as a result of the war program.

The President made the request last week after the house ways and means committee tabled an authorization for a $300,000,000 appropriation to supplement state unemployment compensation benefits for that purpose. State officials declared their funds were large enough to absorb the added burden.

The house committee took the stand that the $100,000,000 was not needed at a time when unemployment was fast receding.

President, Wife Denounced.

During the spectacular debate on the debt limit bill, the President; Mrs. Roosevelt, his wife; Harry Hopkins, now assistant to the President in charge of aid to foreign countries, and Attorney General Francis Biddle were denounced for insisting upon carrying on the "new order" in time of war at a cost of billions.

Rep. Charles I. Faddis [D., Pa.], touched off the oratorical fireworks. He referred to a radio broadcast last Sunday night by Mrs. Roosevelt in which she declared that those congressmen who were now advocating a reduction in the appropriation for the Farm Security administration "were economy minded in days gone by on preparation for our defense."

Leaf-Raking Recalled.

"There seems to be an effort to drag a red herring across the trail of this matter of preparedness," said Faddis. "Let those who are to do without tires know the truth—that legislation was passed years ago to authorize a stock pile of rubber. But the advice of the armchair strategist, Harry Hopkins, outweighed that of those in the army and navy. The money went for leaf raking and boondoggling.

"What little preparedness we do have we do not owe to the National Youth congress, Joseph Lash, David Lasser, or Aubrey Williams. We pleaded for airplanes when others were calling for Arthurdale. [One of Mrs. Roosevelt's pet projects.] We called for stock piles while others called for leaf piles. We shouted for armaments when others were shrieking for relief. We were balked, when working for national security, by a preferential program for social security."

Time to Stop "Fiddling."

The vote on the debt limit measure had just been announced when Rep. John Taber [R., N. Y.] was given the floor.

"You have just voted a 125 billion dollar debt limit," he said. "Now it is time for us to stop the government from fiddling around with the taxpayers' money.

"I have just learned that the WPA on March 5 approved a New York City project to cost $940,106. It is intended to promote the study of 'piano tuning; library maintenance; copying, indexing and binding of music scores; musical therapy, research work; preservation of rare music; vocal, instrumental and band music.'

"It is time to realize that we are in the war. We should be getting sick of the government and the administration cutting this kind of a figure when they should be taking care of boys dying on the battle field."

Asked who was the sponsor of the

NEWS OF MAJOR ACTIONS ON ALL FIGHTING FRONTS

Latest war developments:

The Australian air ministry announced that its planes had scored direct hits on a warship and left four other ships in flames in an attack on Japanese invaders off New Guinea Island. The Australians acknowledged that the Japanese had made a third landing on the northeast coast of New Guinea—only 45 minutes by fast plane from the Australian mainland. The tenth Japanese air raid on Port Moresby, New Guinea's principal city, was disclosed.

British Retreat in Burma.

The British admitted their troops had abandoned the southern part of Burma to the Japanese. However, they claimed defense forces had escaped a Japanese trap north of fallen Rangoon and were falling back into central Burma to join Chinese allies for a defense of India. The British said they were counting on existing forces in Burma to stop the Japanese until India's defense can be fully organized. A communique from New Delhi, India, said the RAF had bombed an airdrome at Moulmein in Burma.

The United States war department announced that a Japanese cruiser had shelled the city of Cebu on the isand of Cebu in the Philippines. Slight damage was reported. There was no fighting in Bataan, a communique said.

Plight of Nazis Critical.

A dispatch from Berne, Switzerland said Moscow reports indicated that the remnants of the 16th German army surrounded at Staraya Russa have been resisting desperately soviet attacks from positions prepared in the last 48 hours. The dispatch said German spokesmen in Berlin admitted that the position of the Nazi troops was critical. Attempts to supply the trapped Germans from the air were said to have been "suspended" because of bad weather. Berlin claimed that German troops had repulsed a Russian attack 20 miles west of Leningrad.

DAVE BECK'S MAN LOSES IN SEATTLE MAYORALTY RACE

Seattle, Wash., March 11 [Wednesday]—(AP).—Seattle's voters hailed a new mayor designate today after turning out of office the incumbent who had the active support of Dave Beck, west coast leader of the AFL Teamsters' union, in a bitterly contested campaign. Police Judge William F. Devin ran up a surprising 3 to 2 margin over Mayor Earl Millikin in yesterday's voting. The totals were: Devin, 63,892; Millikin, 43,541.

Devin was a city judicial appointee of Gov. Arthur B. Langlie, Republican, while the latter was mayor.

PROFITEERING BRINGS CEILING ON CAR RUBBER

Stock Is Classified in Four Grades.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 10.—Price Administrator Leon Henderson tonight announced that to halt profiteering in used tires and tubes for passenger cars and trucks he has established maximum prices at which they may be sold after March 16.

"The regulation was issued in answer to widespread complaints of used tire price gouging that have been received by the Office of Price Administration," the OPA said.

Reasonable Price Sought.

"The cellings," continued the announcement, "are designed to preserve reasonable prices in the only remaining market for tires and tubes open to the ordinary citizen who cannot satisfy rationing regulation requirements for purchase of new or retreaded tires.

"Reports have come to the OPA that in many instances dealers have taken advantage of the critical wartime rubber shortage to sell used casings at prices considerably above the maximum levels established for new tires of corresponding size."

[Retail prices on pork will average higher under wholesale ceilings fixed by OPA, dealers declare. Story on page 4.]

Unlike new and retreaded tires, used tires haven't been under a price ceiling, except to the extent that basic tire carcasses usable for retreading have been covered by the price schedule on retreading.

Used October Base.

The OPA said that Henderson, in setting the price ceilings for used tires and tubes, took into consideration the prices existing between Oct. 1 and 15, 1941. For the purpose of determining the price ceilings used tires are divided into four categories. Roughly, the amount of wear determines the category into which a tire falls.

In passenger car tires the first category includes all tires that retain 7-32 of an inch or more of tread design depth. The second category includes tires that retain more than 3-32 of an inch, but less than 7-32 of an inch of tread design depth. The third category covers all tires that have been regrooved or that retain 3-32 of an inch or less of tread design depth. The fourth category includes all those tires worn smooth and usable as basic carcasses for retreading for recapping.

Schedule of Prices.

Henderson announced the following maximum prices for used four ply passenger car tires in the four classes:

Size—	New.	1st class.	2d class.	3d class.	4th class.
6.00/16....	$14.75	$8.10	$6.65	$4.45	$1.50
6.25/16....	16.60	9.15	7.45	5.00	1.50
6.50/16....	17.90	9.85	8.05	5.35	1.50
7.00/16....	20.30	11.15	9.15	6.10	1.50
5.25/17....	13.55	6.55	5.35	3.55	1.50
5.50/17....	13.55	7.45	6.10	4.05	1.50

For truck tires, the first category includes tires retaining 9/32 of an inch or more of tread; the second, those with more than 4/32 of an inch but less than 9/32 of an inch; the third, those having 4/32 of an inch or less tread design depth remaining, and the

TIRE RATIONING SPURS DEMAND FOR HORSES; TEAM SOLD FOR $450

A team of horses sold for $450 in lively bidding at an auction held in the Dexter park horse pavilion at 43d and Halsted streets yesterday by Erwin F. Dygert, horse dealer. Dygert said prices for horses sold at the auction, all work animals, were 30 per cent higher than last October and 15 per cent higher than a month ago, partly because of increased demand for horses since the tire rationing program went into effect.

The number of horses sold yesterday at the weekly auction was 140. Prices ranged from $85 to $175 and averaged $150 each. The average for teams was $350, Dygert said.

He reported that the number of farmers in the market for work animals is increasing. Farmers are using wagons more than formerly to haul produce to small towns, in an effort to save tires, he said.

Miners Shovel to Rescue 'Best Doggone Mule'

Boulder, Colo., March 10 (AP).—Miners cut and dug in round-the-clock shifts tonight hoping to rescue Teddy, a tough, hard working mule imprisoned eight days ago by a cavein in the Crackerjack coal mine.

Joe Robertson, the mine lessee who has worked with only snatches of sleep since the cavein to free Teddy, half of his two mule coal pulling power, said Teddy was the "best working doggone mule I ever saw."

Chance It's Alive.

Working steadily now with four man shifts in the small mine tunnel, Robertson hopes to dig thru about 80 feet of fallen rock and débris to reach little Teddy some time tomorrow.

William B. Wheeler, state humane society officer, said "there's a chance the mule is still alive. There's a possibility that enough air gets thru holes left by the roof fall for it to survive.

"They told me Teddy can get water where he's trapped at the back of the mine and they told me, too, that similarly trapped mine mules have chewed the bark of the mine supports for food."

Men Flee to Safety.

Robertson and Sam McGee were working in the mine when the roof fall started. Teddy was behind a mine car then. Robertson and McGee unhitched the mule and started to push the mine car up the narrow mine tunnel to a point where Teddy could squeeze by.

But there wasn't time. The men had to flee for their lives.

Billy, the mine's second mule, was in its stable near the mine entrance at the time of the cavein.

British Planes Collide Over Gibraltar; 6 Killed

MADRID, March 10 (AP).—Six men were killed and one rescued today when a British bomber and a British fighter collided in the air above Gibraltar bay, observers on the Spanish border said. The bomber carried a crew of four, the fighter three men. Several boats attempted to reach the planes in the bay, but were unable to approach because of flames.

HERO'S WIDOW

A reproduction in its original colors of a portrait of Mrs. Colin Kelly Jr., widow of the American air hero who lost his life in a successful attack on a Japanese battleship, will appear in all issues of tomorrow's Tribune. Painted by Charles D. Jarrett, Chicago artist and illustrator, this portrait shows Mrs. Kelly in the uniform of a Red Cross nurse. Its presentation tomorrow will be in observance of the 80th anniversary of the birth of Jane A. Delano, founder of the American Red Cross nursing service, which will mark the beginning of a campaign to increase the number of Red Cross nurses from 28,500 to 50,000.

PUT IN HOSPITAL AFTER 5 WEEKS OF HICCOUGHING

Gettysburg, Pa., March 10 (AP).—Miss Maybelle Scott, 39 years old, has been hiccoughing for five weeks, it was disclosed today. She began hiccoughing every 30 seconds early in February. She was taken to a hospital Sunday.

Her physician, who said the "five weeks is very unusual and quite remarkable," added "Miss Scott is able to rest at intervals. The hiccoughs cease for an hour or so, then return for a period of hours. Between attacks she can eat and get badly needed sleep."

Doctors said they could find no condition which could have caused the hiccoughs. The attacks "show signs of abating," they declared.

$10 MEALS FOR BRITISH DECRIED IN PARLIAMENT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 10.—Sir Kingsley Wood, chancellor of the exchequer, was asked in the house of commons today to impose a purchase tax on meals costing more than 50 shillings [about $10]. Sir Kingsley said he would note the suggestion.

I. C. Hannah, Conservative, asked: "Does the minister realize the deplorable effect on American officers when they see 50 shilling meals served in London restaurants?"

Miss Eleanor Rathbone, Independent, complained that the most serious aspect was not so much expenditure of money but wastage of food in expensive restaurants.

F. D. R. Clears Obscuration in Landis Decree

Washington, D. C., March 10 (AP).—The polished polysyllabic profundities of James M. Landis, dean of the Harvard law school and director of civilian defense, seem to be a little too fancy for President Roosevelt.

The chief executive read to a press conference today a letter Landis had prepared for him to send to the Federal Works agency on the subject of blacking out federal buildings during air raids.

"Such preparations shall be made," the letter said, "as will completely obscure all federal buildings and nonfederal buildings occupied by the federal government during an air raid for any period of time from visibility by reason of internal or external illumination. Such obscuration may be obtained either by blackout construction or by termination of the illumination."

It's Not Roosevelt's Word.

With a grin Mr. Roosevelt hastened to remark that "obscuration" was not his word, nor was "termination of the illumination" his language.

He read on. "This will, of course, require that in building areas in which production must continue during the blackout, construction must be provided that internal illumination may continue.

Terminate Illumination.

"Other areas, whether or not occupied by personnel, may be obscured by terminating the illumination."

The President stopped, turned to his press secretary, Stephen Early, and ordered a rewrite job.

Tell them, he said, that in buildings where they have to keep the work going, to put something across the window. In buildings where they can afford to let the work stop for a while, turn out the lights. Stop there, he ordered.

King Gustav of Sweden Resting After Operation

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 10 (AP).—King Gustav V., 83 years old, who was operated on yesterday for removal of a bladder stone, passed a quiet night, an official medical bulletin said today. His condition was described as satisfactory.

HOW 3 U. S. NAVY FLYERS LIVED 34 DAYS ON A RAFT

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., March 10 (AP).—A gripping story of battles with sharks and of suffering from hunger and thirst while stark naked and half crazed came today from three navy flyers who survived 34 days in stormy South seas on a raft smaller than an ordinary bed.

From the time their land plane was forced down on the Pacific until Gene Aldrich, 24 years old, a radio man of Sikeston, Mo., mouthed thru parched lips the startling words, "Chief, I see a field of corn," the three lived a story that would tax the imagination of a fiction writer.

The cornfield Aldrich thought he saw was a coconut grove.

"Chief" is Harold Dixon, 42, of La Mesa, Cal., aviation chief machinist's mate and pilot of the plane belonging to a ship in an American naval force.

The third flyer is Anthony J. Pastula, 24, of Youngstown, O., aviation ordnance man.

Travel 1,000 Miles on Raft.

They traveled at least 1,000 miles on a rubber life raft to a tiny South sea isle and later were picked up by navy craft. They now are at Pearl Harbor and almost fully recovered.

The navy announced their rescue last month.

Dixon now is partially deaf. When an albatross alighted on the raft, Aldrich fired a pistol too near Dixon's ear. Dixon jumped into the sea to retrieve the bird and its flesh helped keep the men alive.

It was on the night of Jan. 16 that Dixon decided to set his plane down on the sea while enough gas remained to keep the plane under control.

Men Unable to Save Rations.

The plane sank quicker than expected and the men were unable to save the rations, water, or instruments. While floundering in the water they inflated the rubber life raft, its inside dimensions only 28 inches by 80 inches. Into this precarious haven the three crowded for the perilous days ahead.

The raft was not equipped with oars and for some time the trio just drifted. Later Dixon's shoes were rigged so that they could be used as hand oars.

He told of shooting a big leopard shark which came so close he merely held the pistol against the shark's head. He related that still later he struck another shark with his bare fists.

Lose from 20 to 50 Pounds.

The men lost from 20 to 50 pounds each in the long ordeal.

They rigged a sea anchor from a life jacket, using it whenever winds were adverse. They used their underclothing as sponges when it rained. After the cloth was saturated, they wrung it out to fill a small container with the precious water.

The sea was smooth during the first part of the trip. Later, when they finally sighted land, they were in the midst of a hurricane. Time and again they were tossed into the ocean, only to climb back. The last few days they did not have a stitch of clothing and were sunburned so badly it took weeks to heal.

Stabs Fish with Knife.

Their total food hardly would make more than one good meal, but Dixon insisted coffee and cigarets were missed more than the food. On one day Aldrich stabbed a fish with his pocket knife and they chewed the raw flesh. They said it was like chewing rubber.

The albatross was next on the menu. They only ate a part of it. On the seventh day Aldrich stabbed a four foot shark.

"We ripped the shark open with pliers," Dixon said. "We had read about vitamins in shark liver so we ate that first. We also ate two sardines found in the shark's stomach. And the next day we began on the shark itself.

Pick Up a Coconut.

"On the 21st day we picked up a coconut.

"On the 28th day I dived for an albatross that came close to the raft but took a belly-buster and missed.

"Things looked pretty bad the 33d day. We found ourselves periodically in a daze.

"On the morning of the 34th day Henry [Aldrich's nickname] said he saw corn. It didn't take long to decide it was an island.

"We tried to paddle all day and finally staggered ashore at dusk to an unoccupied shack. The next morning, island natives on beach patrol saw us, gave us kernels of coconuts and sent for help. They carried us to the governor's house."

TANKERS, CARGO LINER HIT; 81 PERSONS SAVED

Sub Reported Sunk in Another Attack.

New York, March 10 [Special].—Two United States tankers and one Brazilian steamer torpedoed and sunk, a second Brazilian ship reported six days overdue, and another United States tanker reported damaged but victorious in an encounter with an axis submarine were among today's developments in the submarine siege of the American Atlantic coast.

Put ashore in various ports were 81 survivors of the stricken ships, while surface craft, planes, and blimps searched for five life boats missing from two ships with 78 passengers and crewmen aboard.

Five Ships Involved.

Ships involved were:

1. The American tanker Gulftrade, of 6,766 tons, torpedoed and sunk at 12:40 a. m. today about 3½ miles off Barnegat, N. J., in the closest approach yet made by raiders to the American coast, with 16 of the 35 man crew landed from coast guard boats at Tompkinsville, Staten Island, N. Y.
2. The Brazilian cargo-passenger liner Cayru, of 5,152 tons, attacked and sent to the bottom between 6 and 6:30 p. m. [Chicago time] Sunday night 130 miles off Ambrose lightship at the outset of a voyage to Rio De Janeiro, with 26 survivors picked up by a united nations ship and three life boats containing 6 passengers and 53 crew members missing.
3. The Standard Oil tanker Hanseat, 7,932 tons, torpedoed 20 miles off the eastern end of Cuba and sunk by 100 rounds of shell fire, 39 crewmen escaping in a motor launch to land yesterday at Baracao.
4. The Brazilian ship Cabedelo, 3,557 tons, announced as six days overdue in New York on a run from Rio de Janeiro.
5. An unnamed American tanker reported by the Santiago correspondent of the newspaper Pais in Havana as reaching the United States naval base at Guantanamo under destroyer escort after a submarine attack which killed three and wounded several crewmen and in which the submarine was said to have been sunk.

Tells of Fighting Seas.

Dramatic stories of the attacks on the Cayru and the Gulftrade were told by survivors. There were 4 passengers and 22 seamen in the one boat so far located of the four launched from the Cayru. The passengers, all American born naturalized citizens of Brazil, were Mrs. Willie de Souza; her daughter, June, 15 years old, and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Jaegers. They were taken to Ellis Island.

Jaegers related a tale of a battle for 15½ hours against furious seas, gale winds, hail, and thunder, and lightning. He said he and his wife were watching a checker game in the lounge when the first torpedo struck the starboard bow.

"I am convinced it did not explode," Jaegers said, "because if it had we would never be here today. We had had a lifeboat drill on Feb. 28 so we knew just what to do."

Women Went First.

Jaegers said he and his wife went to their cabin for lifebelts and hurried to the deck, where there was little confusion. They took their stations at lifeboat No. 3, where they met Mrs. Soua and her daughter. The women were put aboard first and Jaegers followed.

Jaegers said four boats were launched without trouble, and the boats pulled away from the ship in the darkness, the water at that time being comparatively calm. Suddenly the submarine surfaced nearby, he said.

"I could see it plainly," Jaegers declared. "Two men seemed to be looking out of the coning tower. They called out in broken English with an unmistakable German accent, asking the name of the ship and its destination. Practically everybody in the boats answered them.

"The submarine then went over by boat number 1, which contained the captain, and asked if everybody was off. After receiving an affirmative answer, they went over by the ship and sent the second torpedo amidships, right by the engine room. This blew the ship apart and it sank rapidly.

"The submarine circled our ship and then disappeared," Jaegers continued. "The sea was calm at first but very shortly the wind blew up to gale force and we had rain, hail, thunder, and lighting. The waves were terrible. They washed over the boat continually and we were all terribly cold."

Jaegers said the 15 year old June de Souza was the bravest person in the boat, never "letting a peep out of her" until the rescue. He said crewmen put up a sail, but took it down because of the strength of the wind.

Lucky to Be Sighted.

"We could hardly believe it when we sighted a rescue ship," Jaegers said. "They told us afterward that they first thought we were a raft and the seas were running so high we were extremely lucky that they ever saw us at all."

At 3d naval district headquarters here tonight it was said no word has been received of the other three lifeboats.

Formerly the American freighter Scanmail of the Moore-McCormick Line, the Cayru was sold to the government owned Lloyd Brasileiro Line in December, 1939. She was built at Hog Island, Pa., in the first World war shipbuilding program and launched in 1919.

Fourth Brazilian Victim.

The Cayru is the fourth Brazilian ship sunk in 21 days, with the possibility this total will rise to five, depending on the fate of the Cabedelo.

A report from Rio de Janeiro said that Brazil is preparing a second protest to the German government over torpedoing of Brazilian ships.

Tolger Olsen, 56, of Port Arthur, Tex., skipper of the Gulftrade, was among the 16 survivors of the fully loaded tanker, which was en route to New York from a southern port. He said that his ship had been torpedoed with its running lights burning. Believing the ship safe from attack after reaching Barnegat, and seeing two ships ahead of him, Olsen said he ordered the lights to avoid a collision.

Only one torpedo was fired at the Gulftrade, a well aimed shot which split the ship in two. Fire broke out as tons of oil splashed over the stricken ship, but a huge wave smothered the blaze and enabled members of the crew to launch lifeboats.

Says All Got Away.

Capt. Olsen said all crew members left the ship safely, altho the navy's account said some seamen went overboard while trying to launch a lifeboat.

Survivors told of seeing the submarine surface within 100 yards of the ship in plain view of land. Capt. Olsen said the vessel was hit 3½ miles east of Barnegat lighthouse and 42 miles from Ambrose lightship. The tanker was a 22 year old vessel owned by the Gulf Oil company.

STATE FAIR MAY BE GIVEN UP, AIR CORPS USE LAND

Gov. Dwight H. Green announced yesterday that the state fair at Springfield, which has been held annually since 1863, probably will be abandoned during the war years and its grounds used by the army air corps as a training place for airplane repair mechanics.

The governor has conferred with the state fair advisory board, which recommended the grant of the grounds to the government, provided there were assurances the property will be turned back to the state after the war. The army officials indicated this would be guaranteed and that they would like to occupy the 366 acre tract at once. They indicated the present buildings can be used to advantage.

JAP PLOT AIMED AT ROOSEVELT'S REGIME CHARGED

May Furnish Keynote in Primaries.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Mar. 10.—On the eve of what are conceded to be the most important primary elections in the nation's history, the Office of Facts and Figures, administration propaganda organization, today announced the discovery of a plot to overthrow the Roosevelt administration.

In an official release by OFF Director, Archibald MacLeish, the unit reported that intelligence officials have discovered that the Japanese embassy in Madrid is the center of a plot aimed at overthrowing the American government. Then in the body of the release the plot is said to be aimed at "weakening or overthrow of the Roosevelt administration."

Called Keynote of Campaign.

Veteran political observers said that the release sounded the keynote of the administration's political campaign—that Democrats will endeavor to argue that a vote for the party is a vote for unity and a vote for a Republican is a vote for the enemy.

Discovery of the secret activities of the Japanese representatives in the capital of totalitarian Spain was recited in a report, the text of which Mr. MacLeish described as "confidential, because of the necessity of protecting the source, but utterly reliable." the official release said.

Gives Only Portion of Text.

"The one portion of the text of the report which Mr. MacLeish made public stated:

"They [Japanese attachés in Madrid] are particularly interested in obtaining items of information which fall under the following heads:

"1. Political and economic problems that might make possible the weakening or overthrow of the Roosevelt government.

"2. Racial questions that might lead to disunity.

"3. Social problems, and problems related to inflation."

WAR OUTPUT CAN BE DOUBLED IF WE TRY—NELSON

Warns of Public Wrath if Production Fails.

Washington, D. C., March 10 (AP).—Donald M. Nelson declared tonight that this country's output of military supplies could be doubled if all existing war production machinery were used 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Unless production is brought to victorious levels, the War Production board chairman warned in an address to the nation, neither management nor labor "could survive the public wrath should that wrath be turned against them; nor could we here on the War Production board."

Nelson said he had become convinced of the depth of the public demand for all-out production from a flood of telegrams and letters received after his broadcast last week demanding a 25 per cent production upturn.

Two Ways to Production Top.

The production chief mentioned two ways of arriving at the necessary production level, "the American way" and "the way of bondage, of force."

"If, therefore, we are to achieve victory for the ideals we free men have always loved," he continued, "then we on the production lines must abandon every other consideration except increasing production and increasing it every day. If we fail in that, we shall burn in the flames of a public wrath so intense that in its heat it might consume the very standards we have set for free men to live by."

"When I say we can increase production substantially by greater use of existing machinery," the WPB chairman said, "I am thinking of the 20 per cent of war plants operating only 5 or 5½ days a week. I am thinking of the many plants closed Sundays. I have in mind the second shifts using only 40 per cent of plant capacity and the third shifts using only 20 per cent.

Machines Partly Idle.

"This, as you can readily understand, means that thousands of machines needed for war production now stand idle part or all of every week-end and from eight to 16 hours every day. And, I might add, idle tools work for Hitler."

Nelson named as two industries having considerable unused facilities the 31 aircraft engine and propeller plants and the 153 plants manufacturing machine tools.

If all the facilities of the aircraft engine and propeller plants were utilized to the same extent as the three with the best records, the total output of the industry could be boosted 25 per cent, Nelson estimated. And if all 153 machine tool plants were operating at the same utilization level as the best three, "we could increase machine tool output 45 per cent immediately."

Nelson said the production speed-up drive which he launched last week was one step in the WPB's effort to boost armament production, and that the next was the integration of the army, navy, and maritime commission procurement setups into a "hard hitting unified supply system."

Reveals Procurement Change.

This was the first official disclosure that such a procurement combination was in the making, altho it had been learned earlier that Douglas C. MacKeachie, WPB purchasing director, was being transferred to the war department where he presumably will exercise considerable authority over military procurement policies.

Emphasizing that "you can't get this maximum production by pressing a button," Nelson asserted that "in some cases there is a reluctance to increase the number of shifts; in others there is a faulty flow of materials; in still others there is what you might describe as a lack of imagination in seeing how production can be increased with the equipment at hand.

"None of us can solve one of these problems individually," he continued. "We have been on the defensive long enough. The attack begins here—here at home—here on the production line."

Axis Pilots from S. America Man Bombers, Says Briton

LONDON, March 10 (AP).—A reliable British source today declared that, according to information reaching London, former flyers of German and Italian air lines in South America now are manning some 150 bombing planes in which they are receiving special training in western France. He said his informants believe these crews are being prepared for an attack on South America and on South Atlantic shipping from West African bases.

SINKING OF U. S. LIGHT CRUISER CLAIMED BY JAPS

TOKIO, March 11 [Wednesday]—[From Japanese broadcasts]—(AP).—Imperial headquarters declared today that a Japanese cruiser squadron operating in the Indian ocean west of Australia had sunk the United States cruiser Marblehead.

[The Marblehead is a light cruiser of the Omaha class and was placed in service in 1923. She has a tonnage of 7,050. Her normal complement is 458 men.]

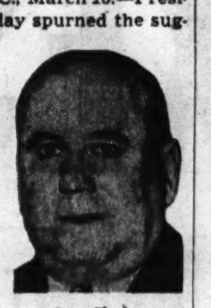
The sinking was said to have occurred March 2.

A Japanese destroyer, the announcement added, sank the Dutch mine sweeper Jan van Mastel between Bali and Java on March 9.

F. D. R. SPURNS UNIT COMMAND FOR U. S. FORCES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 10.—President Roosevelt today spurned the suggestion that the country's military and naval forces be merged into a single unified command to give the nation a more efficient fighting force.



Sen. Clark.

He told his press conference that the departments, which would be involved in such a plan, are now working together very well. The proposal for unification of the departments was advocated in a bill introduced in the senate by Sen. Bennett C. Clark [D., Mo.].

The President said he had not read Clark's bill, but expressed the opinion that it makes very little difference if the armed forces operated under one, two, or three departments, because they are all working together as they are now organized.

Suggested by Hagood.

The bill introduced by Sen. Clark was suggested by Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood, retired. It proposes that the land, air, and sea forces be unified by the establishment of a department of defense.

Clark said he was introducing the Hagood bill merely to give the senate further information on the problem of unification of the military forces.

The bill would abolish the posts of the secretaries of war and navy and the various under and assistant secretaries and replace them with a minister of defense. The navy would be headed by an officer, who would have the title of "admiral of the navy" and the army by an officer who would have the title of "general of the army."

Denies Administration Program.

The President spiked a statement by Senator Albert B. Chandler [D., Ky.] that the administration has a unification program of its own under consideration.

The President asked what the term supreme commander means. He doubted that any one knows exactly what the term means. He described as a move toward simplification his placing of Adm. Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the United States fleet, in the office of chief of naval operations as well.

HOUSE MEMBERS RENEW FIGHT TO END 40 HR. WEEK

Urge Civilians Bend All Efforts to Win War.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rep. Lanham.

Washington, D. C., March 10.—Renewed demands for suspension of the 40 hour week during the wartime emergency were heard in the house today during consideration of the new $357,150,820 war department appropriation bill, which includes $106,018,437 for the Panama canal.

Members declared many persons already have sacrificed the benefits of a shortened work week in the interests of national security—among them, Gen. Douglas MacArthur and his men fighting for their lives on the Bataan peninsula.

Every one — including soldiers, workers, executives, and housewives —must bend all their effort toward beating the axis, if victory is to be assured, they warned.

Treachery at Home.

"Suppose the men in the Philippines sat down at their guns after they had worked 40 hours; that would be foul treachery, for which the nation would denounce them and hold them up to shame," argued Rep. Fritz G. Lanham [D., Tex.]. "It is just as treacherous for any man to fail to do all he can in his field for his country. It is time for this administration to get all the idle forces to work to preserve our heritage."

Rep. William M. Whittington [D., Miss.] recalled that the house failed to approve legislation outlawing the 40 hour week during consideration of a recent bill conferring vast war powers on President Roosevelt. Passage of the legislation, sponsored by Rep. Howard Smith [D., Va.], would have ended the strikes in arms industries which have thrown the war program behind schedule, Whittington insisted.

Cites President's Powers.

In reply, Rep. D. Lane Powers [R., N. J.] protested that the President already has the power to suspend labor statutes whenever deemed necessary to speed the war effort. As far as these laws have resulted in delays in production, he asserted, the blame belongs to Mr. Roosevelt and Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, not to congress.

"I am getting tired of hearing congress blamed for lack of arms," he cried. "The President has all the necessary power to speed production."

Turning to the Democratic side of the chamber, he demanded: "What has Mr. Roosevelt done about suspending the 40 hour week? The answer is, 'Nothing.' What has the secretary of labor done about it? Nothing."

Rep. Robert F. Rich [R., Pa.] sprang to his feet, interposing: "And what has the labor committee of this house done about it? The answer to that also is nothing!"

Sabath Under Fire.

During today's debate, Rep. Leland M. Ford [R., Cal.] took the floor to assail Rep. Adolph J. Sabath [D., Ill.], chairman of the house rules committee, charging that the Illinoisan is responsible for long delay in reporting a resolution calling for an investigation of the Harry Bridges case. Ford introduced the resolution several weeks ago when the administration failed to deport Bridges despite a finding by a special trial examiner that the west coast maritime union czar is a communist.

The war department appropriation bill before the house contains, besides funds for the Panana canal, huge sums for flood control projects and money for Alaskan roads. The measure was described by the appropriations committee as an essential part of the war program.

2,000 HOMELESS AS DANUBE RIVER FLOOD INCREASES

BERNE, Switzerland, March 10 (AP).—Rising flood waters in the Danube threatened many cities in northern Bulgaria and southern Rumania today, after having left 2,000 persons homeless in Vidin, Bulgaria.

A dispatch from Sofia to the Milan newspaper Il Popolo d'Italia said the Rumanian city of Silistra was inundated and the surrounding country flooded over a five mile stretch. Lom, Bulgaria, also was flooded.

At Vidin only the rooftops of the highest houses were said to be above water. Rescue squads were reported hastening from all nearby towns, while a German river boat was said to have removed some inhabitants.

OCD Designates Toledo as Inland Defense Area

Washington, D. C., March 10 (AP).—The Office of Civilian Defense said today that Toledo, O., had been designated one of 33 strategic inland defense areas, but declined to give further information. The designation means that production in the area renders it a strategic city from the defense standpoint and all possible defense provisions will be made for it.

CHARGES REALTY BOARD FAILED TO HELP CURB RENTS

Lindell Blast Brings a Prompt Denial.

Ald. Arthur C. Lindell.

Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th], chairman of the special committee on rents and prices of the Chicago Commission on National Defense, charged yesterday that despite a letter of last Feb. 17 informing the Chicago Real Estate board of "uniform increases up to 15 per cent and more" in rentals, the board took no action to curb its members.

Leonard Downie, executive secretary of the board, promptly denied the charge and said the average rent increase asked for apartments controled by board members was between 6 and 7 per cent.

Investigated Increases.

"We've done everything Lindell asked," Downie said. "We've coöperated to the fullest extent. Up to Oct. 1 we investigated all increases of more than 10 per cent referred to us by Lindell and had some of them lowered. Since then he has not been referring them to us, and it was not until leases were mailed out that he informed us that he considered between 4 and 6 per cent a fair increase."

Downie said he had answered Lindell's letter of Feb. 17 promptly and was preparing an answer in detail to Lindell's charge of noncoöperation.

Lindell said many real estate agents had refused to believe the committee's efforts were in earnest. The alderman asserted that an analysis of complaints received against one agency in particular showed increases ranging from 10.5 per cent to 50 per cent, with the average at slightly less than 20 per cent.

Increases Among Negroes.

Edgar G. Brown, director of the National Negro council, and other Negro leaders yesterday conferred with John C. Weigel, regional director of the Office of Price administration, concerning rent increases in Negro housing areas. Brown said there had been a total of 4,600 rent increase notices in the Negro areas ranging from $2.50 to $22.50 a month. He will leave for Washington, D. C., today to present this evidence to Price Administrator Leon Henderson and ask immediate action on a rent ceiling for Chicago.

Mayor Kelly already has appealed to Henderson to put a lid on Chicago rentals and Ald. Lindell hinted Monday that the council might be asked today to request appointment of a Chicago rent dictator.

Defense Stamp Sales Off 16½ Per Cent in February

Sale of defense stamps by the Chicago postoffice during February dropped 16⅛ per cent from the January figure, Postmaster Ernest J. Kreutgen reported yesterday. He said stamp sales were $1,838,368 last month, compared with $2,202,012 in January. Postoffices in Illinois outside of Chicago, however, reported only a 1 per cent decrease—$1,005,313.95 in February and $1,015,546 in January.

VOID CONTEMPT ACTION AGAINST 4 NEWSPAPERS

Louisiana High Court Clears Publishers.

New Orleans, La., March 10 [Special].—The Louisiana Supreme court today dismissed contempt proceedings against four Louisiana newspapers and officials of the publishing firms in connection with editorial comment and news stories on a pending court case.

The defendants were the Times-Picayune Publishing company, publishers of the Times-Picayune and New Orleans States; the New Orleans Item Company, Inc.; the Hammond Vindicator, and officials of the four papers.

Attorney Brings Action.

They were cited in proceedings brought by K. K. Kennedy, Baton Rouge attorney and counsel in numerous attacks on Gov. Sam H. Jones' reform program. He contended they were in contempt for editorials and stories that appeared while a case attacking the constitutionality of a reorganization amendment was pending before the high court.

"Altho the obvious purposes of the editorials was to force a decision by this court in accordance with the conceptions which the writers were sustaining," the opinion said "there never was any clear and present danger that their purpose could or would be accomplished as clearly appears from the decision itself.

"In these circumstances, and following the rule laid down by the United States Supreme court in the Bridges and the Times-Mirror company cases, these proceedings for contempt must be discharged."

Comment Charges Politics.

The editorial comment for which the papers were cited largely followed the line that the legal attack on the constitutionality of the reorganization act was motivated by political considerations.

The reorganization act, one of 18 constitutional reform amendments Gov. Jones had passed, was ruled invalid in a decision of the District court at Baton Rouge a year ago. Last June 30 the Supreme court denied an appeal, thus annuling the act.

Britain Told It Is Spending at 2½ Times Its 1940 Rate

LONDON, March 10 (AP).—Introducing a supplementary vote of credit for £250,000,000 [about a billion dollars] for war needs, Sir Kingsley Wood, chancellor of the exchequer, told the house of commons today that Britain's expenditures were 2½ times greater than two years ago.

SENATORS FIND LUCAS UNFAIR IN LANGER TRIAL

'Prosecution Complex' Ascribed to Him.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Sen. Prentiss Brown.

Washington, D. C., March 10.—Sen. Prentiss M. Brown [D., Mich.] charged in the senate today that Sen. Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.] has been discourteous to his fellow senator and has shown "a prosecution complex rather than a judicial attitude" in presenting evidence to support a case of moral turpitude against Sen. William Langer [R., N. D.].

This accusation was made shortly before Sen. Lucas concluded a two day speech in support of a resolution reported by the committee on privileges and elections to remove Langer from the senate.

Doubt Sufficient Evidence.

Both Sen. Brown and Sen. Wallace H. White [R., Me.] questioned the sufficiency of evidence cited by Sen. Lucas to support one of the committee's most serious charges against Langer. In this case Langer is accused, in effect, of accepting a bribe of $25,000 from Thomas Lee Sullivan, a Chicago attorney, in return for reducing taxes of the Great Northern railroad in North Dakota in 1938, when Langer was governor of the state and Sullivan was special counsel for the railroad.

The minority report of the privileges and elections committee points out that this transaction took place in May, 1937, and that the North Dakota taxes of the railroad were increased in August of the same year. It asserts that while the taxes were reduced 3½ per cent in 1938, this reduction was due to economic conditions and was no greater than reductions granted to the same railroad in other northwestern states and to other railroads in North Dakota.

Sen. Lucas contended that the land stock was worthless and that Sullivan never even bothered to obtain possession of the certificates. He attributed great significance to the circumstance that Sullivan's final payment on the stock, in the amount of $12,475, was received by Langer 15 days before the North Dakota taxes of the railroad were reduced in 1938.

Questionable, Says Lucas.

Lucas also imputed significance to the fact that Langer, instead of depositing Sullivan's check for $12,475 in his bank, indorsed it and sent it to an insurance company in Milwaukee in payment of loans and interest of $8,046.13. The insurance company sent Langer a check for the balance.

Sen. White wanted to know whether the $25,000 paid to Langer by Sullivan was charged to the railroad and whether the railroad reimbursed Sullivan in any respect. Sen. Lucas did not know. The record shows, he said, that Sullivan was paid $20,000 a year, a total of $40,000, for representing the railroad in 1937 and 1938.

Sen. White commented that if there is no evidence of repayment by the railroad "it almost leaves a presumption that Sullivan was acting in his own behalf, and was speculating possibly in this Mexican land."

Judge M'Goorty's Daughter Saves Sister from Fumes

Miss Marge McGoorty, 32 years old, 929 East 45th street, daughter of Judge John P. McGoorty of the Superior court, was saved yesterday by her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Clark, who found her unconscious from carbon monoxide fumes a short time after she had driven her car into her garage. Judge McGoorty said his daughter had suffered a heart attack before she could shut off the motor.

ALDERMEN BALK AT DEAL TO SELL VILLAGES WATER

Approve Building of a New Main, However.

Aldermen on the council finance committee protested yesterday when they were asked to approve the first step of a contract under which the city daily would sell 5,500,000 gallons of water to Melrose Park and Maywood. Under the proposed agreement, Chicago would charge the villages 7.3 cents for each 1,000 gallons and the villages would resell it to their consumers for 32 cents for each 1,000 gallons, or a markup of approximately $1,400 a day.

Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, asked the aldermen to authorize him to spend $425,000 to construct 3½ miles of 30 and 38 inch water main from Mason and North avenues to Harlem and Wabansia avenues, where the suburbs will connect to the city line. Despite their protests, the aldermen granted the authorization.

Needs of Buick Plant.

Hewitt told the aldermen the villages had requested the city sell them water because of the drain which the Buick airplane engine plant in Melrose Park had imposed upon their own systems.

"The wells which formerly supplied the villages are going dry," Hewitt said, "and the Buick plant now needs 2,000,000 gallons of water a day. The plant engineers originally planned to use wells, but they found there was not sufficient water for that purpose."

This explanation aroused Ald. John J. Grealis [44th.] "Here is a concern," he said, "that goes outside the city limits to evade taxes and build a huge defense plant and now we must spend $425,000 to supply water."

"Where are city planners that such things occur," shouted Ald. James J. McDermott [14th]. "Certainly a plant like that would have been of value in our blight districts."

Required by State Law.

Hewitt reminded the aldermen that under state law the city is required to supply water at the city limits to any suburb desiring to buy, and at the price which the city charges its principal users. This price is 7.3 cents for each 1,000 gallons. Hewitt told the aldermen that many other suburbs now are supplied by the city and that they all resell the water for more than they pay for it.

After authorizing construction of the main, the aldermen appointed a subcommittee to work with Hewitt in completing the contract for the suburbs. Hewitt said the aldermen might help him force the villages to resell the water at a lower price.

Louis Ancel, corporation counsel of Maywood, who met with Hewitt and the aldermen, said the resale price of 32 cents is required under the terms of the village water bonds.

City to Place Obstruction Lights on Lake Front

The city council finance committee yesterday authorized installation of obstruction lights to replace navigation lights along the lake front. The action was taken after the navy department said the powerful navigation lights could be used as landmarks in a bombing attack. Cost of the new lights was estimated at $3,674.

PRESIDENT CALLS FOR MORE TESTS OF NEW TYPE CARGO VESSEL

Washington, D. C., March 10 (AP).—President Roosevelt indirectly called for additional experimentation with the Sea Otter type of cargo ship today, with a possibility that some of its revolutionary construction details might be abandoned.

The Sea Otter was intended to be built quickly and cheaply, with power furnished by gasoline engines, geared to a vertical shaft driving a propeller below the middle of the vessel.

It had been hoped the vessel could be turned out on a mass production basis, but Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox recently said the program virtually had been abandoned. He explained that construction costs were higher than anticipated, its draft was deeper than originally planned, and it was difficult to handle.

Mr. Roosevelt called attention to the increased draft and added that the tonnage had to be increased as well, thus getting away from the original idea of a small, quickly, and cheaply built ship.

★ PORK TO AVERAGE HIGHER UNDER U.S. PRICE FIXING EDICT

'Cheaper' Cuts Now on Par with Finest Portions.

Retail pork prices will average higher this spring than at any time since 1926, under wholesale price ceilings fixed yesterday by the Office of Price Administration, meat dealers said yesterday.

The OPA action followed a recent spiraling of prices in Chicago and other wholesale meat centers under the impetus of lend-lease purchases for Britain and other allies. More than 90 per cent of all pork cuts and pork products will be effected by the price order.

The regulation becomes effective March 23, and the maximum prices allowed on dressed hogs and wholesale pork cuts are those prevailing during the five day period, March 3 to 7, inclusive. Price Administrator Leon Henderson said that while farmers and retailers are not covered directly by the price ceiling, they should feel its effects quickly.

Yesterday's order is to be in effect for 60 days, by which time a permanent order is expected.

Chops Up 11 or 12 Cents.

Pork chops that cost the consumer 29 cents a pound at the neighborhood meat market last year will cost 39 or 40 cents a pound at retail under the new order, meat dealers calculate. The department of labor reports that pork chops have led the rise in retail food costs in the last few weeks.

The exact price range within which pork can be sold at retail was not specified in the OPA order, but Henderson said he is following retail prices closely.

Under the order, the approximate limits to which Chicago wholesale prices may rise are shown in the following table. The new ceilings, with a comparison of prices prevailing at the corresponding time last year and in 1940, follows:

	Approximate ceiling.	Year ago.	March 1940.
	[In cts. per lb.]
Loins	27½	16½	13
Shoulders	26	13	9½
Butts	30	15	11
Spareribs	18½	12	8
Tenderloins	36	31	29
Regular hams	25¾	18¼	13
Boiling hams	23¾	16⅝	11⅝
Skinned hams	28	19¼	13¾
Picnic hams	23⅛	11½	8¾
Salt pork	19¾	15	.9¾
Sweet pickled—
Regular hams	26	18¾	14
Boiling hams	24½	17½	12⅝
Skinned hams	28¼	19½	14½
Picnic hams	24	12	.8¾

Retailers say the sharpest price advances have occurred among what formerly were known as the "cheaper" pork cuts. Because many of these products are used in making the canned meat shipped under lend-lease, prices of these cuts have risen to a par with what formerly were the more expensive cuts.

Some Prices Almost Double.

Boston butts currently have been selling at retail at 35 cents a pound, compared with 19 cents a year ago. Smoked butts are up to 45 cents. They were selling at around 29 cents in March last year.

Here are the prices at which one large food store is selling pork purchased at the new wholesale ceilings, compared with prices it was charging for the same products a year ago:

	Current price.	Year ago.
	[Cents per lb.]
Whole smoked ham	33	23
Ham shank	31	21
Ham butt	35	27
Ham, center slices	55	45
Bacon, sliced	33	25
Bacon, slab	29	21
Pork loins—
End chops	29	19
Roasts	27	17
Center chops	39	29
Boston butts	35	19
Smoked butts	45	29
Spareribs	23	15

The retail prices quoted above will vary with the individual store, according to meat industry spokesmen. The grades of meat required by the city's butcher shops varies according to the purchasing power of the consumer in various sections of the city, the predominating food habits of the store's customers, the store's overhead, etc.

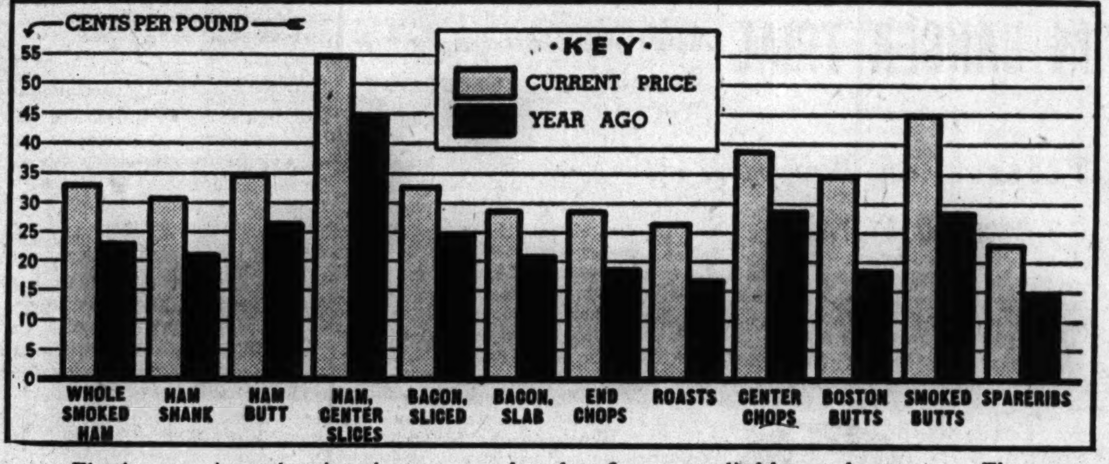
Steady Rise for a Year.

Pork prices have been rising steadily for the last year as lend-lease buyers took more and more pork and lard off the market to ship to Britain. February lend-lease purchases were less than normal, because federal buyers sought to hold down prices, yet their purchases accounted for more than 12 per cent of the total pork production. Chicago packers say federal buyers have been paying 77 per cent more for pork than they paid in March, 1941.

Recent lend-lease purchases have included progressively larger amounts of canned pork meat products. Canned pork and sausage are not covered by the OPA price order.

Increase of Pork Prices in One Store in the Last Year

(Story in adjoining column.)



The increase in pork prices in one year, based on figures supplied by one large store. The present retail prices shown are based on the new wholesale ceiling prices, and are compared with the retail prices charged for the same products a year ago. The prices will vary with individual stores, according to meat industry spokesmen, inasmuch as they are affected by grades sold, store overhead, and the food habits of the customers.

HOLD WINNETKAN TO JURY; CHARGE THREAT TO F.D.R.

Curt H. Apel, 45 years old, 962 Linden avenue, Winnetka, waived examination when arraigned yesterday before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker and was held to the grand jury on a charge of threatening the life of President Roosevelt. His bond, set at $1,500, was supplied by a professional bondsman. Apel was seized Monday by secret service agents after he had altered cartoons so as to make them derisive of the government and then pasted them up on billboards at North Shore railroad stations. Attorney Paul Plunkett said Apel admitted the charges but asserted he had posted the cartoons only as a "prank." Apel was born in Germany and came to the United States in 1905.

CHIEF OF CANADIAN FORCES IN ENGLAND TALKS OF OFFENSIVE

Washington, D. C., March 10 (AP).—Lieut. Gen. A. G. McNaughton, commander of Canada's army in Great Britain, said today there was a good prospect that Germany would attempt an invasion of England this spring.

"That is one of the most dangerous things that can happen to us and we have got to be on the alert to meet it," he told a press conference.

At the same time, the Canadian leader, who has been conferring here with President Roosevelt and high American and British military officers, declared that, "None of us think we can win the war by sitting on our heels."

Disclosing that the discussions had dwelt principally on offensive action, Gen. McNaughton said that the two tasks confronting the Canadian expeditionary force were to help defend the British Isles and to keep its eyes open for "offensive" action.

Asked when an offensive seemed likely, the general replied it was not for him to say, but that no effort "will be let slip."

REVEALS POLES PRINT OVER 100 ILLICIT PAPERS

Washington, D. C., March 10 [Special].—Altho Poland is totally occupied by the Germans, the Poles still are printing more than 100 underground newspapers.

Count Edward Raczynski, acting Polish foreign minister, brought to this country scores of letter size dailies which are printed in the forests of the Warthegau and in farms and cellars around Warsaw, Cracow, and Lodz. Most of the papers are printed weekly, but many come out daily. Count Raczynski told of at least one which prints two editions daily, with photographs. Among the weeklies is a comic paper, Lipa, which carries under its masthead the legend: "A merry journal published in Poland in the days of horror."

The purpose of the underground press is to combat German propaganda and keep the Polish people in touch with their exiled government in London.

$1.50 Tube Maximum.

The maximum price for used passenger car tubes is $1.50 for all sizes, and for truck tubes the maximum varies from $2 to $14 depending on size.

Henderson's order also forbids any increase in charges for service or repairs over those in effect March 7, 1942. Establishments selling used tires and tubes are also required to post conspicuously a statement showing the maximum permissible prices for tires and tubes of the various types and sizes and the conditions of sale prescribed by the used tire price regulation. The seller must furnish the buyer with a written statement on the exact condition of the tire or tube, telling whether the tire has been regrooved, retreaded or recapped, repaired or vulcanized.

NO ONE INDICTED FOR LYNCHING IN MISSOURI TOWN

Benton, Mo., March 10 (AP).—A special grand jury of 12 merchants, professional men, and farmers convened to investigate the lynching of Cleo Wright, Negro cotton mill worker, by a mob at Sikeston, Mo., Jan. 25, reported today it found insufficient evidence to return a true bill. Circuit Judge J. C. McDowell accepted the report without comment.

Wright was accused of the attempted rape of a white woman, Mrs. Dillard Sturgeon, wife of an army sergeant. She was stabbed several times, but recovered as did Patrolman Hess Perrigan of Sikeston who was knifed when Wright resisted arrest.

The Negro, shot three times in his scuffle with the officer, was taken from a detention cell at Sikeston city hall by a mob of several hundred persons who dragged him behind an automobile to the Negro district, where a torch was applied to his gasoline soaked body in front of a church as Sunday morning services were in progress.

LAUNDRY UNION MEETINGS FARCE, SAYS WITNESS

Alfonso Nelson, 513 East 44th street, colored, a laundry worker and a member of a group in local 46, Laundry Workers' International union, is suing officials of the local for an accounting, told of the conduct of union meetings at a hearing yesterday.

The hearing is being conducted by Attorney Stephen Love, special master in chancery. Nelson said at meetings he attended since 1936 a contract with the employers was discussed only once and then was rejected by the members.

Attorneys for the complaining group said they will prove that the same contract was signed by union officials and the employers, disregarding the rejection by members. The group charged that William J. Donovan, secretary-treasurer, has collected huge sums from the union and asks for the election of new officers.

DEALERS FAVOR PRICE CEILINGS ON USED TIRES

Expect Bootlegging to Be Held to Minimum.

Chicago tire dealers last night said the government's imposition of a maximum price on used tires and tubes is good for legitimate dealers and a protection for purchasers who, they added, have been subjected to outrageous gouging.

Automobile owners, they said, lately have paid from $16 to $25 for tires which in many cases were worse buys than those which now will be obtainable at $8.10 and less. Those interviewed predicted some bootlegging of tires, but doubted that it will be general because of the dangers involved.

Benefit to Public.

"From the standpoint of the public, establishment of a price ceiling is the best thing that has happened," said George Eberhardt, a dealer at 4455 Madison street. "It will protect the people against the gougers they have been complaining about—men who have bought tires for from $2 to $4 and resold them after a little work for from $16 to $25."

Arthur Bear, an independent dealer at 4400 Madison street, said the price ceiling is unquestionably a good thing for the purchaser.

"I would say it will largely stop the gouging of the public," Bear said. "It will hurt a good many of the dealers some, cutting their profits, but they can take it and still have a fair profit. We have been selling the class of tires the government now fixes at $8.10 for $11 and $12, but in many cases the tires we sold were somewhat better than those specified by the price administration."

Opposed to Restricted Sales.

E. F. Bradford, secretary of the Allied Tire and Battery company, 610 West 35th street, said the move will be good if no attempt is made to restrict either the buyers or sellers of tires.

"It will stop the cheating of the public," he said, "and while there undoubtedly will be some bootlegging, it won't be much."

Dealers in general said the prices fixed were fair. They added they liked those on truck tires even better than the passenger tire prices.

CROMWELL SUES RED EDITOR ON LIBEL CHARGES

New York, March 10 [Special].—James H. R. Cromwell, former United States minister to Canada, today filed suit in federal court for $1,000,000 damages charging that Bruce Minton had libelously called him an appeaser, an associate of fifth columnists, a Munichman, and a slanderer of President Roosevelt in an article published in the New Masses, a communist magazine, of which Minton is editor.

Cromwell alleged he had been referred to in the magazine as "violently pro-ally" before Russia was attacked by Germany. The opposite charges were published in the Feb. 24 issue. Minton and the Weekly Masses company, publishers of New Masses, were named as defendants.

Stating that he had been a lieutenant in the navy during the World war and later was a captain of marines, Cromwell asserted that the Minton story had maliciously and falsely called him a member of Washington's "Cliveden set" of appeasers.

VANDENBERG MOVES TO BROADEN THE VETO POWER OF PRESIDENT

Washington, D. C., March 10 (AP).—Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] today told the senate that he will ask that the President be given power to veto separate items in appropriation bills, after reading a letter from President Roosevelt supporting this system.

President Roosevelt wrote Vandenberg that while some believed a constitutional amendment is needed to give the chief executive authority to veto a part of an appropriation, he [Roosevelt] believes only a simple amendment to an appropriation measure is needed. In any event, the chief executive said such an amendment would clear the issue.

'RED ACTIVITIES' OF FSA ASSAILED BY HOUSE GROUP

'Russian Farm Setup' Told by Rep. Halleck.

Washington, D. C., March 10 [Special].—A bristling denunciation of "communistic activities" of the Farm Security administration was made today by half a dozen members of the house rules committee.

A thoro investigation of the agency was demanded and the rules committee indicated it would decide on it Thursday after hearing officials of the bureau now under fire for paying poll taxes in southern states with government funds. Operating funds of FSA, contained in the 700 million dollar agriculture department appropriation bill for the coming year, will be at stake tomorrow or Thursday when the measure comes to a vote.

"Russian Farm" Set Up.

Out in Indiana, said Rep. Charles A. Halleck, a rules committeeman, a settlement of "twelve houses around a barn" had been set up by FSA. The neighbors, he remarked, called it "the Russian Farm."

"They are operating along the Russian line," said Rep. Harold D. Cooley [D., N. C.] "and without legal authority."

"Who is responsible for this?" asked Rep. Adolph J. Sabath, committee chairman.

"Tugwell [Rexford Guy Tugwell, head of the resettlement administration which preceded the FSA, and now governor of Puerto Rico], Baldwin [C. B. Baldwin, FSA administrator], Mitchell [G. S. Mitchell, assistant administrator], and all the rest," said Cooley.

Liquidation Demanded.

"Is not Tugwell opposed to the institution of private property?" asked Rep. E. E. Cox of Georgia, ranking majority member of the committee.

"I understand so, and we want a law to bring about a liquidation of these communistic projects they have established all over the country," said Cooley.

Bolivar Pagan, Puerto Rican commissioner, asked the committee to give what aid it might looking to the recall of Tugwell.

"Plain, unadulterated communism," said Rep. Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.], ranking minority committeeman, referring to the FSA program.

"The FSA," charged Rep. Clifford R. Hope of Kansas, "has simply ignored the law in what it has done."

"I learned recently of an instance," added Rep. August H. Andresen of Minnesota, "where the FSA refused to permit a family near my home to pay up its indebtedness on a farm it acquired."

Rep. Cliff Clevenger of Ohio voiced suspicion that the FSA was "plotting" a revolution to overthrow our form of government.

FATHER OBEYS CHILDREN; TELLS OF SLAYING WIFE

Rockford, Ill., March 10 [Special].—Horace Turner, 51, tonight confessed that he shot and killed his estranged wife, Margaret, 32, Sunday night. Issuance of a murder warrant tomorrow was immediately authorized by State's Attorney Max Weston.

In custody since the shooting, Turner broke down after five of his seven children, ranging in age from 8 to 16, voted unanimously in the affirmative when he asked them one after another whether he ought to confess. He then dictated a brief confession and signed it in the presence of the state's attorney.

Before asking his children to decide for him whether he ought to confess or attempt to maintain the story of innocence he had told authorities, Turner told them, "I killed your foster mother because she didn't deserve to live." Authorities found the shotgun used in the slaying hidden under a fence post in a field outside the city. Turner fired thru a window into the living room of a home in which his wife was a roomer.

BYRD TELLS OCD: BOWLING IS NOT UP YOUR ALLEY

New 'Defense Project' Criticized.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 10.—In a letter to James M. Landis, director of the Office of Civilian Defense, Sen. Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] asserted today that bowling is no more a function of the OCD than were the dancing activities sponsored by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, former OCD assistant director.

This was Sen. Byrd's reply to a letter from Landis defending the appointment of Jack Willem of Chicago as "United States bowling coordinator," heading an OCD project to organize 25,000,000 bowlers to "bowl for national defense."

Not Put on Pay Roll.

Landis informed Sen. Byrd that Willem was appointed Feb. 17 by Jack Kelly, head of the OCD physical fitness division. Willem will serve on a voluntary basis and will not receive a nickel from the federal government, Landis said.

"Mr. Willem is spending his own money and his own time and has tried to increase bowling facilities for industrial workers," Landis added.

Costly Posters Seen.

Sen. Byrd, who is chairman of the joint congressional committee on nonessential federal expenditures, replied in part:

"Since the receipt of your letter, I have seen illustrated posters, printed in colors, that appear to have been done at rather substantial cost, entitled, 'Keep them rolling. Hit the head pin with Uncle Sam.' etc., with a notation that they were printed at the United States government printing office, and they must have been paid for out of government funds.

"The National Duckpin Bowling congress is, I am informed, affiliated with this movement, and certainly considerable cost ultimately will result in organizing 25,000,000 bowlers to bowl for national defense, with great profit to commercial bowling alleys.

"However, I think that you entirely miss the point which I endeavored to make in my former letter, and that is, that dancing, bowling, track running, and other physical activities, while all right in their place, should not be functions of the Office of Civilian Defense."

Nearly 1,000 Italian Troops Slain in Balkans in 3 Mos.

BERNE, Switzerland, March 10 (AP).—Nearly 1,000 Italian troops were killed and an equal number wounded in the Italian-held sections of the Balkans during the last three months. A Rome communique today placed those killed in February at 224 and the wounded at 267. Most of the casualties were incurred in fighting Serbian patriots. December and January losses by Italian troops in the Balkans were placed at 753 dead and 679 wounded.

Wanda Field's letters to Lieut. David Donald Kliewer have come back marked "Missing in action," but Wanda doesn't cry—she's too proud of him. He's the flyer credited by the navy Monday with sinking a Japanese submarine in the defense of Wake Island. And if he is a Japanese prisoner she hopes he will escape, to return some day to Wheaton and take her on the airplane ride he promised. Wanda is 19 years old. She met Lieut. Kliewer, 24, when he used to come into her mother's soda fountain at Wheaton for a malted milk. He was a student at Wheaton college then, dreaming of the day when he would be an aviator. Romance? That's for Lieut. Kliewer to say when he gets back. But Wanda will tell you this—he called often and he wrote letters after he joined the marines.

TEAR GAS ROUTS PICKETS IN NEGRO HOUSING RUCKUS

Detroit, Mich., March 10 (AP).—Tear gas bombs were used by police tonight to disperse a crowd of several hundred persons who formed a picket line near the $1,000,000 Sojourner Truth housing project, which the federal government has designated for Negro occupancy. The pickets, mostly women and children, had disregarded orders to disperse. Thirty policemen were on duty at the time.

A federal grand jury today began hearing evidence relating to charges that 'Negroes had been prevented from occupying the project. Rioting occurred when Negroes attempted to move their household goods into the homes on Feb. 28. United States Attorney John C. Lehr said that, if indictments are forthcoming, they will be brought under the civil rights section of the criminal code.

piano tuning project, Taber said it was Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York. There were groans at mention of the name.

"The answer seems to be," remarked Rep. Francis Case [R., N. D.], "that he has just transferred his foolishness from the OCD to the WPA and taken it back home to New York City."

Biddle Assailed.

Attorney General Biddle was taken to task by Rep. Eugene E. Cox, [D., Ga.], for recently urging advancement of the New Deal social reforms despite the war.

"His remarks were an insult to the nation," said Cox. "While we are taking our boys from our homes and off the farms for our armed forces, you would think there would be at least a temporary cessation of this campaign of the new-orderites to completely reform us, to reach out for further New Deal reforms while our boys bleed and die. My God, what will the country stand for?"

Rep. Dave E. Satterfield Jr., [D., Va.], announced he would introduce a resolution to prevent any government money being used for the erection of a $280,000 office of government reports on Pennsylvania avenue which has become popularly known as "Mellett's madhouse" in honor of Lowell Mellett, director of the OGR.

Why It's a "Madhouse."

The project was rejected by congress but Mellett got $600,000 in emergency funds to build and staff the office because the President liked the idea. It will be known as a "madhouse," according to observers, because government clerks will try to tell business men where to go in Washington for orders and both government employés and the seekers of information will end up insane.

"It is not fair to go to the country to sell defense bonds unless we curtail a nonessential spending program which will lead to a repudiation of those bonds," declared Rep. Daniel A. Reed [R., N. Y.].

"Every effort to cut out the NYA, the CCC and all those activities started during the depression meets with the strongest opposition from the White House, interjected Knutson. "Unless we get down to cold facts, we stand to lose this war!"

"The question I get everywhere I go is whether the government will make good the defense bonds," said Rep. John M. Robsion [R., Ky.]. "Government squandering is undermining the confidence of the people in the credit of the nation. I know that every dollar will be paid back but we must cut down these useless expenditures."

CCC "Waste" Brought Up.

Rep. William Ditter [R., Pa.] referred to published reports that CCC camp equipment in Pennsylvania was being needlessly destroyed. Motor trucks, tires, blankets, shoes, and clothing are being left to rust or rot or are being burned, he said.

CCC headquarters have denied the charge about the trucks and tires and said that the blankets and clothing were burned because they were vermin infested.

While the house was hearing complaints about the CCC, Lieut. Col. E. E. McLendon, army officer in charge of the camps in the 3d corps area was ordering an investigation into their abandonment and reports of widespread waste and burning of clothing and vital defense materials. His action followed a wave of protests from residents in the vicinity of camp S-51 at Pine Grove Furnace, Cumberland county, Pennsylvania over wanton destruction of materials when the camp was broken up.

RACE TO CONTROL MADAGASCAR ON, LONDON REPORTS

Claims Vichy Sends Naval Units to Island.

LONDON, March 10 (AP).—A quiet, strategic race was reported to be either under way or imminent tonight between the axis powers and the united nations for control of the big French Island of Madagascar.

AFRICA ARABIA
Indian Ocean
MADAGASCAR

Island which allies and axis covet.

In the hands of the Japanese, who are reported to have had a pressure mission there for the last six weeks, the island would give the axis a vital naval base on the western end of the Indian ocean littoral. On top of that it would multiply the complications of getting allied armies and material to both the middle east and the western Pacific.

Adding to a growing list of reported maneuvers aimed at the island flanking the east coast of Africa, the Turkish radio said that six light naval units of the Vichy French fleet had been dispatched from Dakar to Madagascar.

Seek to Hold Ocean's End.

This reported Vichy gesture came in the midst of discussion in unofficial London quarters on the possibility that allied troops might soon move on Madagascar with the intent of beating the axis to the jump in order to hold the western Indian ocean from the enemy. The Japanese have sealed the ocean's eastern end with the conquest of Malaya and the Netherlands East Indies.

The presence of a Japanese mission on the island was considered particularly significant in view of Vichy's yielding attitude regarding French Indo-China which set the springboard for the whole Pacific holocaust.

On this same line of reasoning, it was recalled that Dakar in French West Africa was at least under suspicion of being an axis submarine base, and that supplies have been reported moved thru French Tunisia to Field Marshal Erwin Rommel in Libya. It also was recalled that only yesterday Tass, the soviet news agency, charged in a dispatch from its Cairo correspondent that Vichy had handed over to the Germans 40 warships still building at the time of the June, 1940, armistice. The Tass charge was denied in Vichy.

See Peril to Shipping.

Axis possession of Madagascar would menace all shipping to allied forces which plies the long and now fairly open route via Capetown to the middle east, India, Burma, and Australia and New Zealand. This route became essential after the closing of the Mediterranean to convoys.

One evidence of stirrings in the eastern Indian ocean was seen in the new dispatch of troops from Portugal to Mozambique, the large Portuguese territory on the African mainland across channel from Madagascar.

ISLAND 980 MILES LONG.

Madagascar is the fourth largest island in the world and France's largest insular possession. It came under French rule in 1896.

Its extreme length of 980 miles, if superimposed on the United States, would extend from Chicago to Dallas, Tex. Its area of 228,500 square miles is exceeded by only three other islands, Greenland, New Guinea, and Borneo.

Madagascar lies about 250 miles off the east African coast, separated from the Portuguese east African colony of Mozambique by the Mozambique channel. Its principal harbor, Diego Suarez, is one of the finest natural ports in the world.

Tananarive, its capital, is connected by rail with the east coast port of Tamatave, 230 miles away.

The population is mostly native, with only approximately 40,000 foreigners out of 4,000,000.

U. S. TECHNICIANS REACH BRITAIN IN BIG WAR CONVOY

LONDON, March 10 (AP).—A convoy carrying United States technicians for the bases in North Ireland, reënforcements for the Canadian army in Britain and Canadian trained troops of Norwegian, Belgian, and Polish armed forces has arrived at a British port.

Incidents to enliven the crossing were a brush with U-boats and an emergency operation for appendicitis. Depth charges dropped from escorting destroyers apparently disposed of the submarines. A Canadian airman was the victim of an appendicitis attack and the operation was performed by a Toronto surgeon.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

David L. Scaro, a deputy circuit court clerk, was cited for gallantry in action more than 23 years ago, but it was not until yesterday that he received a silver star medal from the war department. Scaro, a member of Company D, 132d infantry, 33d division, and four other soldiers crossed the Meuse river by night on a makeshift raft and established a bridgehead so that the rest of the division could cross in the morning. Scaro enlisted in April, 1917, fought in 14 major battles, was wounded twice and gassed. He is now 43 years old and lives at 553 North Parkside avenue.

I SAVED FRANCE FROM CIVIL WAR, BLUM TESTIFIES

RIOM, France, March 10 (AP).—The advent of the Popular Front government of 1936 in France saved the country from civil war, former Premier Leon Blum, Socialist leader, testified today at the "war guilt" trial here.

Blum, in answer to charges that his administration slowed down France's war preparations, said his government had come into office in a situation which was "not prerevolutionary but practically revolutionary."

He emphasized that the great sitdown strike movement had reached its peak before he took office. One of his solutions for strikes, he said, was the 40 hour week, which his government adopted to halt the refusals to work and to evacuate occupied factories. In fact, Blum said, the big employers' associations asked him to speed its inauguration so the factories could get back to work.

RAF POUNDS NAZI POSTS IN FRANCE FOR THIRD NIGHT

LONDON, March 11 [Wednesday]. (AP).—Heavy explosions echoing across the English channel last night told that the RAF still was battering German positions for the third straight night after two powerful blows at the giant Krupp munition works at Essen.

The Paris radio went off the air during the 9 p. m. news broadcast, and that development could mean that the RAF was again raiding German factories in the industrial belt of occupied France. German long range guns at Cap Gris Nez shook the Kent coast, and these shots were followed by the heavier blasts which indicated the RAF was striking back with bombs.

The air ministry said the second raid on the Krupp works in Germany Monday night wrought such havoc that production there would be slowed for some time.

RUSSIANS BLOW UP ICE ON LAKE; DROWN GERMANS

Sixteenth Army Fights to Escape Trap.

[Copyright: 1942: By the New York Times.]

BERNE, Switzerland, March 11 [Wednesday].—Reports from Moscow this morning indicated that German forces comprising the remainder of the 16th army, surrounded at Staraya Russa, have been fiercely resisting the Russian onslaughts from positions prepared during the last 48 hours. Soviet forces began what their spokesman described as "the battle to end the 16th."

Their position is admitted by Berlin this morning to be critical as attempts to supply them from the air were suspended owing to weather conditions. The most interesting part of this declaration is the German admission that the 16th army, which the propaganda machine first described as well equipped and well prepared to stand a long siege, had become dependent on supplies from the outside.

Trapped on the Ice.

The next most active center of fighting on the Russian-German front appeared to have been along the northern coast of the Sea of Azov, where after more than a week's preparation Russian marines pushed across the ice, clad in white clothes, and took a Rumanian-German stronghold to the west of Mariupol by surprise.

The action, as described by the Moscow radio this morning, lasted but four hours, during which tremendous casualties were inflicted on the enemy.

In attempting to pursue the Russians back across the ice, they fell on what were described as "boxed-in mine fields." The death toll was appalling, according to the Russian spokesman, as the Germans fell thru the ice broken under their feet by charges of dynamite.

At Vyazma, Russian forces attacked from two directions, from the southeast in the direction of Juchnov and from the north from Komjak, only 18 kilometers from Vyazma, where the Germans' 236th and 231st infantry divisions were ousted from their first line of fortifications.

Vyazma Near Capture.

Tho confused, the situation on that front appears to be rapidly turning in the Russians' favor. Advanced columns of mechanized forces strongly supported by Cossack cavalry pushing westward from Dubna are reported to have reached a point where Vyazma is now under artillery fire. The fall of Vyazma may be expected in the near future.

On the Leningrad front fierce Russian attacks during the last six days have driven the Germans back behind new positions at Oranienbaum, 20 miles west of the city along the coast roads, according to German admissions. This northern operation, however, is treated by Russian spokesmen this morning as "secondary," main attention being paid to the progress of other forces along a line stretching from Krasnogvardesk to Wyra, which have thrown the Germans behind their third line of works around besieged Leningrad and then methodically outflanked those positions by smashing southwestward from Lisino.

Battle West of Leningrad.

BERLIN, March 10 [from German broadcasts].—German troops repulsed a Russian attack 20 miles west of Leningrad near Oranienbaum, opposite the great Kronstadt naval base, it was announced today. The Germans said they "wrought havoc" on soviet transport columns on the ice.

[The scene of fighting was the farthest west of Leningrad reported by either side since the Russian counteroffensive started.]

German detachments were said to have broken thru Russian defense-in-depth field positions on the central sector "in spite of severe opposition."

In the northern Arctic, Nazi submarines were credited with sinking a Russian merchant ship near Bear Island. Three British torpedo planes were shot down in the same action, the communique added.

New Hungarian Cabinet Formed by Nicholas Kallay

LONDON, March 10 (AP).—Budapest dispatches to Vichy said today that Nicholas Kallay, former minister of agriculture and a life member of the upper chamber, had formed a new Hungarian government to succeed that of resigned Premier Count Laszlo de Bardossy.

Forecasts German Invasion of Sweden Within 6 Months

LONDON, March 10 (AP).—George Gibson, former chairman of the Trades Union Congress, told the Anglo-Swedish society today that he believes Adolf Hitler will invade Sweden within six months because he wants her navy and merchant shipping.

2 ITALIAN WARSHIPS, FREIGHTER SET AFIRE BY BRITISH BOMBERS

CAIRO, Egypt, March 10 (AP).—British torpedo bombers set fire to an Italian cruiser, a merchant vessel and a destroyer in the central Mediterranean yesterday, an official announcement said today. The attack was directed against a convoy "escorted by units of the Italian fleet." Attacks on the islands of Rhodes and Leros and on Piraeus, the seaport for Athens, also were reported.

British and axis artillery exchanged fire on the Libyan front yesterday in support of patrol activity, the British command annunced.

[The Italians identified one of the islands attacked as Samos, rather than Leros, and of the raid on Piraeus, which they called Athens, said two buildings were destroyed and two civilians killed. Italian and German planes continued air attacks on Malta and Tobruk, where it was said a merchant ship of medium tonnage was damaged by bombs.]

U. S. VOLUNTEERS IN BURMA DOWN 43 JAP PLANES

NEW DELHI, India, March 10 (AP).—The American volunteer group flyers in Burma destroyed 43 Japanese planes last week, dispatches said today.

Among the leading scorers of the group were Squadron Leaders Newkirk and Robert Neale of Seattle, Wash., and Flight Leader Robert Little.

Neale said that during the operations in Burma he never had taken to the air with more than 11 American planes, yet his pilots were so far superior to the Japanese that in one engagement they shot down 19 of the enemy. In another battle, he said, three of his Tomahawk planes shot down five of the Japanese.

3 There was that flurry last August when America's beloved comedian, Ed Wynn (abetted by the Post), presented "Cool-Off Inventions" for hot weather—a merchandising idea designed to pep up summer business in a dozen or more departments. The Hecht Co. turned this into a real opportunity. They built a real promotion around the Post ad, ran 2,400 lines of their own advertising, featured Post display pieces in store windows—and store traffic broke records.

AUSTRALIA HURLS PLANES AT JAPS IN NEW GUINEA

Foe Lands More Troops on Island.

BULLETIN.

CANBERRA, Australia, March 11 [Wednesday]—(AP)—Australian flyers in one of their heaviest attacks of the war on Japanese shipping off the invaded New Guinea port of Salamaua, scored direct hits on a warship and left four other ships in flames, the air ministray said today. Two of the ships were observed to be in a sinking condition and a third was beached, the communique said. The warship which was hit was believed to be either a cruiser or a large destroyer.

CANBERRA, Australia, March 11 [Wednesday]—(AP).—Heavy blows against Japanese troop concentrations in New Guinea, direct hits on transports offshore, and the firing of a big flying boat were announced by the royal Australian air force today in swift response to orders to attack the foe with every resource.

The RAAF onslaught, led by veterans newly returned from other fighting fronts, followed a third Japanese landing yesterday on northeast New Guinea only 45 minutes by fast plane from the Australian mainland.

[The British Broadcasting company said today in a German language broadcast that "several convoys with American reënforcements have arrived in Australia," CBS reported in New York last night.]

The most recent invasion was at Finschhafen, which has a small airport and a harbor suitable for ships of moderate draft. The size of the Japanese force was not disclosed. Other landings have been made at Salamaua and Lae in the same area of the island.

Attack Port Moresby Again.

These inroads and a 10th air raid on Port Moresby, principal city of New Guinea, erased any lingering official doubts of an invasion attempt against this commonwealth.

The RAAF counterblows, for all their success, were regarded as likely to be primarily of a delaying nature. Australian authorities hold the belief that the Japanese would strike at the mainland as soon as they could consolidate New Guinea positions.

While heads of the Australian fighting forces discussed with cabinet members in detail the most likely points of invasion and methods to meet the threat, Lieut. Gen. Sir Iven MacKay, commander of the home forces, warned the public not to sit back and wait for others to defend this country.

"Sanctuary for Allies."

A large scale invasion by the Japanese "would be difficult but not beyond their capacity," he said at Adelaide.

Prime Minister John Curtin, commenting on the arrival in this country of officials from the Dutch East Indies, described Australia not only as a base from which to attack the enemy but "a sanctuary for all our allies."

In the state of Victoria, liquor restrictions were tightened.

CAPTAIN WRITES FROM BATAAN: SEND US PLANES

Omaha, Neb., March 10 [Special].—The mail today brought a plea from an Omaha captain with Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces for "the tools, weapons, and the planes we need." The letter was written at Corregidor and dated Jan. 30, but the envelope bore a United States navy postmark dated March 5. It was from Donald O Pigg, captain in the army engineers corps, to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Pigg of Omaha. It said:

"Dear folks: Long time no mail either way. I don't know how I will ever get this off, but I'll be optimistic and write while I have a chance. I know you have been pretty worried about this mess out here, but I am as fine as can be. . . .

"Tell every one hello for me, and see to it that we get the tools, weapons, and planes we need. There is a war on here. I know—first hand."

There was no information here as to how the United States navy is getting mail out of the Philippines. The envelope was stamped "Via Air Mail" and bore a censor's mark.

CEBU SHELLED BY JAP CRUISER; DAMAGE SLIGHT

Washington, D. C., March 10 (AP).—A Japanese light cruiser shelled the port of Cebu on the island of the same name in the central Philippines, the war department reported today, but only slight damage was inflicted on the city.

The brief communique said:

"There was no ground or air activity in Bataan.

"A light Japanese cruiser appeared off the port of Cebu and fired several shells into the city. Only slight damage was inflicted."

Christen 'Wake Island' Pullman Car

BELIEVE HITLER PLOTS FOR SLICE OF INDIES RICHES

Buying of Stocks in Holland Noted.

LONDON, March 10 (AP).—Heavy buying of Netherlands Indies' stocks in German occupied Amsterdam was interpreted today by Aneta, Netherlands news agency, to indicate that German and Dutch Nazis are seeking to keep the Japanese from acquiring complete economic domination of the East Indies. The Japanese now control the Indies.

The Germans have gone heavily into the market to buy out the stock of companies in territories now occupied by Japanese troops, the news agency said. The result in Amsterdam has been "unusual gains" in Indies stocks.

Simultaneously Aneta reported that the German controled Netherlands radio broadcast a statement by Anton Mussert, Dutch Nazi leader, that he was using all his influence in the "highest [German] quarters" to restore connections "between the East Indies and the motherland."

Hint Nazis Double-Crossed.

"It is known that when Germany invaded Holland in May, 1940, the Nazis thought that Holland's far eastern territory would fall into their laps," Aneta said.

"Dispatches from Bandoeng [Java] last week reported the belief prevalent there that the Japanese had double-crossed the Germans in invading the East Indies . . . that Berlin had originally counted on a Japanese attack on soviet Siberia rather than a drive into the Southwest Pacific.

"Now that the Japanese have established their hold in the Indies, the Nazis are apparently trying to make the best of the situation by seeking to effect economic penetration by acquiring control of Netherlands Indies stocks."

Dutch to Continue Fight.

The Netherlands government in exile announced plans for setting up "new machinery" to continue the fight against the Japanese in "certain parts of the world." The new war effort will remain under the supervision of Dr. Pieter S. Gerbrandy, premier and colonial minister of the exiled administration. The measures which may be put into effect, it was said, remain military secrets.

[Another dispatch from London said that Medan, the capital of Sumatra, is still in Dutch hands.]

Japs Celebrate Tomorrow.

TOKIO, March 10 [from Japanese broadcasts]—(AP).—Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo will address special sessions of the two houses of parliament summoned for Thursday to celebrate the conquest of the Dutch East Indies, the government announced today.

Fascist Press Sees Allied Offensive Against Italy

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 10 (AP).—Italian newspapers are discussing the possibility of a United States-British offensive against Italy, the Rome correspondent of the Stockholm Tidningen reported today. The allied plan, according to the Fascist press, is to gain control of the Mediterranean and pave the way for a direct assault on Germany. The correspondent said Italy is taking precautions against such a move.

Dedicated to Marines

Mrs. R. M. Montague of Evanston, wife of Col. Montague, ranking marine officer in the central west, christened the new streamlined room-observation car, "Wake Island," in a ceremony at noon yesterday in the Union station.

She broke a bottle filled with Pacific ocean water, sent to Chicago by members of the marine corps in San Diego, over the rear coupler of the car, which was built by the Pullman shops in Chicago.

Speakers at the ceremony included: Sen. Wayland Brooks, Mayor Kelly, Brig. Gen. Robert L. Denig of marine corps headquarters, Washington, D. C.; David A. Crawford, president of the Pullman company; James M. Symes of the Pennsylvania railroad, the line on which the new car will be used, and Col. Montague.

A plaque in the car reads, "This car is dedicated to the Wake Island detachment of the United States marines."

U. S. GENERAL PUT ON CHINA'S STAFF; OFFENSIVE SEEN

CHUNGKING, China, March 10 (AP).—Appointment of Lieut. Gen. Joseph E. Stilwell, former United States military attaché at Peking, as chief of staff in the China theater under Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek was announced today. Gen. Stilwell has been here since March 4 on what was announced as a special mission for President Roosevelt. The belief has been expressed that he and Chiang possibly would map an offensive in which American planes would go into action from Chinese bases within striking range of Japan.

Coincident with Gen. Stilwell's appointment it was announced that China will send a military mission to Washington, D. C. Heading the mission will be Gen. Hsiung Shin-hui, member of the national military council and until recently governor of Kiangsi province.

[Gen. Stilwell is highly regarded in China. He went into Shensi province in 1936 to assure the safety of Americans during a Chinese rebellion in which Chiang was taken prisoner by the "young marshal," Chang Hsueh-liang. Stilwell then was a colonel and military attaché at Peking. He was born in Palatka, Fla., on March 19, 1883. After graduating from West Point his stations included the Philippines; Camp Lee, Va.; in France in the first World war; Fort Benning, Ga.; Fort Leavenworth, Kas.; China; San Diego, Cal.; Fort Sam Houston, Tex., and Fort Ord, Cal. He also formerly was commander of the 9th army corps, the Presidio, Cal.]

BRITISH RETREAT IN BURMA; SEEK TO JOIN CHINESE

Escape Jap Trap; Plan to Defend India.

LONDON, March 10 (AP).—The British forces, abandoning the southern tip of Burma, have escaped a Japanese trap and were retreating tonight into central Burma toward a rendezvous with their Chinese allies in the Shan states for the defense of India.

Operations indicated that Britain was staking everything on the belief that the battered army of Burma could, with Chinese aid, make a prolonged resistance.

Signaling the total loss of extreme southern Burma, American engineers and drillers were carrying out great demolitions at Bassein, the important port 90 miles west of Rangoon.

Lieut. Gen. Harold R. L. G. Alexander's forces were declared officially to have "successfully" withdrawn northward toward central Burma, extricating themselves from a grave position.

Two Armies United.

This was made possible in heavy separate actions, a subsidiary British force isolated around Pegu, 40 miles north of Rangoon, smashing its way thru the Japanese toward a junction with the main British bodies, which in turn broke thru the Japanese astride the Rangoon-Prome road in two violent and bloody tank and infantry assaults.

Rangoon had been made untenable, not only by the temporary isolation of the Pegu force but by enemy landings on the north shore of the Bakir river and on the west bank of the Rangoon river—landings opposed by a British sloop which incidentally captured one enemy craft to find that it contained a single Japanese officer and 55 traitorous Burmese.

Docks Are Blown Up.

"Great warehouses, docks, quays, jetties—everything of any possible value to the Japanese—were ruthlessly blown up or set on fire," dispatches said.

The new British-Chinese front from the Chittagong area east of Calcutta to the upper Thailand border is intended to form a constant threat to the right flank of the enemy movement toward India.

Bomb Moulmein Airdrome.

COMMONS WILL HEAR CHURCHILL ON INDIA TODAY

Settlement Demanded by Members.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 10.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill tomorrow will make the much awaited statement on India, Sir Stafford Cripps, leader of the house of commons, informed the house today.

From Indian sources here the Tribune correspondent learns that concessions which are now being offered would, two months ago, have gone a long way toward appeasing Indian leaders and laying the foundation for amicable settlement, but now Indian congress circles are taking advantage of the military situation in Burma and are said to be holding out for complete independence.

Settlement Demanded.

The Labor party and even a section of the Conservative party have been demanding a settlement in India to assure that the bulk of the Indian population will be won over to the British side so that they, unlike the Malayans, will not remain passive, disinterested spectators if the war reaches their frontier.

Already a group of members of parliament have announced that they are pressing for the Indian settlement even if it means conferring independence on the Indian people.

Cabinet Fails to Agree.

None is predicting now how far Churchill will go tomorrow in meeting this demand. It is reported that the delay in making the new British offer is due to differences of opinion in the cabinet itself.

[New Delhi dispatches said Mohammed Ali Jinnah, president of the All-India Moslem league, had cabled Churchill that Moslem India would "revolt" if his statement were detrimental to Moslem interests, particularly the plan to divide India into autonomous Moslem and Hindu states.]

NAZI WOUNDED CROWD DANES FROM HOSPITALS

[Copyright: 1942: By the New York Times.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 10.—The number of Danish workers who have gone to Germany to work in munitions factories has now risen to 50,000, according to information from Copenhagen today.

For some time hospitals have been receiving daily consignments of wounded German soldiers from the eastern front. The Kristenberg hospital in Copenhagen alone is caring for 400 such cases. The Danish sick find it difficult to obtain hospital care.

The Germans are increasing their demands on the Danish food industry and huge quantities of bacon, butter, and meat are being shipped daily to Germany on credit. The Danish bill against Germany now amounts to some 2,000,000,000 marks.

Danish newspapers are being brought more and more under Nazi control. They must make up their front pages daily in accordance with instructions released from the German legation.

JAP SPOKESMAN SEES GUERRILLA WAR FOR YEARS

TOKIO, March 10 [from Japanese broadcasts].—(AP)—A war ministry spokesman said today that Japan must beat the United States and Great Britain in the war of production "to win the final victory."

Maj. Gen. Kenryo Sato told a Tokio audience that the Japanese people could expect the allied powers "for years to come to carry on guerrilla warfare and concentrate on producing more warships and planes to wage a decisive war against Japan."

Japan, he added, has anticipated efforts by the allies to obtain bases in Russian Siberia to launch an offensive and "Japan is fully prepared for any development in the north." He contended that Russia had her hands full with Germany in the west and the Kremlin "would not like to be made the democracies' cat's paw."

WARNS U.S. NEEDS 18 MILLION TONS OF SHIPS IN WAR

Far Short of Sea Control Experts Agree.

New York, March 10 [Special].—The United States must send an army of 2 million men against Japan and another of 3 million against Europe, a feat that will require 18 million tons of ships, Commander Robert C. Lee, former naval officer and executive vice president of the Moore-McCormack Lines, declared today. He spoke at a luncheon meeting of the Newport Managers' club at the Hotel Pennsylvania.

"We don't control the seas," Lee said. "We haven't anything like adequate transportation facilities and we won't have for some time.

"We hear a lot from Donald M. Nelson about the needs for production. But the 180,000 planes that they certainly are going to produce on time won't be worth a damn if we can't get them to the fight and maintain them there.

"The Foe's Belly—Japan."

"The belly of America's foe is the Island of Japan," the speaker continued. "The Japanese are 5,000 miles away. There we must send an army of 2 million men. We must be prepared to maintain it with replacements that keep that number unimpaired.

"Since we have only tonnage enough now to hold our defenses, this tremendous invasion force must be otherwise provided for. This will take 12 million tons of ships, all that we can build this year and quite a way into next year."

To maintain an AEF of 3 million men in Europe 6 million tons of ships will be needed, he said, and added that that much tonnage would be the balance of next year's program.

"The much despised and kicked around American merchant marine has suddenly become the saving angel of mankind," Lee declared.

CRYING NEED FOR SHIPS

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 10.—The United States lacks sufficient merchant ships to transport and maintain a large expeditionary force to carry the war to Hitler, capital military and naval experts agreed today in commenting on the New York speech of Commander Robert C. Lee, vice president of the Moore-McCormack Line. Commander Lee said we haven't anything like adequate transportation facilities and won't have for some time.

The crying need of the nation is ships and more ships to build a bridge to reach the enemy, the experts said as agitation for taking the offensive against the axis grew among the people of the united nations.

Greater Need Seen.

Even more ships will be necessary to transport and maintain forces abroad than are indicated by the figures given in Commander Lee's speech, some experts believe. They say that altho this country transported 2 million men abroad in the World war the problem of doing it again is far more complicated than it was in 1917.

In the last war this country could depend on British ships and other allies, to a lesser degree, to carry troops. In this war, experts said, any substantial American expeditionary force will have to be carried by the American merchant marine.

In 1917 the allies had control of the seas and the problem of air control at ports was of no importance. Even so, it took 19 months to transport the 2 million men, and allied ports were taxed to capacity so that special ports had to be built in France.

Today axis subs roam the oceans, planes are ready to move against landing parties, and there are no friendly ports waiting on the continent. The expeditionary force would have to blast its way against sea, air, and land forces to any soil it could secure.

Many Factors Involved.

The availability of the American merchant fleet for transport and maintenance service depends on a wide variety of factors. Chief among these are the distance the force would go, its size, and the maintenance of the supply of raw materials, which must be imported, to make arms at home.

Experts estimate it requires 17 tons of shipping to transport a soldier today as 3.4 tons to maintain him 3,000 miles from home. This means that if the United States is to send an expeditionary force of 4 million men to Europe it would require a fleet of 13 million 600,000 tons to supply them in the field.

Commander Lee said that 6 million tons of shipping will be needed to supply 3 million men in Europe, a figure apparently based on an estimated two tons per man for maintenance of soldiers 3,000 miles away. Commander Lee also stated 12 million tons would be necessary to support 2 million men fighting in Japan.

The United States ocean going merchant marine aggregated 1,398 vessels of 8,134,890 gross tons on June 30, 1939. There were 319 ships of 2,094,212 tons operating in foreign trade.

1943 Goal 10 Million Tons.

Up to the minute statistics are not available, because they are information which would prove of value to the enemy. President Roosevelt, in planning to take the offensive against the axis in 1943, set a shipbuilding goal of 8 million tons for 1942 and 10 million for 1943. Ship building was approximately 1 million tons in 1941.

Experts recognize that at present the American merchant marine is not large enough to maintain an army of 4 million men abroad, to say nothing of transporting them.

In the World war it was estimated that 7½ tons of shipping were necessary for the transportation of one soldier. Mechanized warfare has brought the required tonnage to 17. This means that more ships than were necessary in 1917 are required to shuttle across water to maintain a given number of men.

500,000 Sent in 13 Months.

At the outset of the World war the United States had 94,000 tons of shipping available for the transportation of the AEF. By the end of the war this had been increased 3¼ million tons. It took 13 months to transport the first 500,000 Yanks, and 1½ million were carried in the last 6 months, when transportation reached the proportion of 10,000 men a day. These ships plied back and forth across the Atlantic with machine precision.

The United States employed a peak of 338,000 tons of shipping at one time to carry men across the British channel alone. These ships carried men who were brought from England to the front. Other men were carried direct to France.

Of every 100 men carried in the World war, 49 were transported in British ships, 45 in American ships, 3 in Italian ships, 2 in French ships, and 1 in Russian ships. Experts said that today the job would have to be done by American ships alone, because the British need every ship they have to maintain supplies.

Division of Fleets.

The far flung fronts of the present conflict complicate the shipping problem further. If the United States is to maintain expeditionary forces in a dozen areas, as the President indicated, the merchant fleet will be weakened, as were the naval forces in dividing the fleet between the Atlantic and the Pacific, experts said.

An average merchant vessel requires three months to reach and return from distant points. Ships engaged in carrying supplies to distant outposts may only make four trips a year, Mr. Roosevelt said recently.

Experts said that if American strategists should turn from Europe to the Philippines as a theater of operations a fleet of almost 1,000 vessels of 5,000 tons each would be necessary to carry an expeditionary force of 250,000 men to relieve Gen. Douglas MacArthur. At a minimum of 17 tons a man, approximately 4,250,000 tons of ships would be needed.

Added distance would complicate further the sending of an expeditionary force to the Philippines. The force would have to take more food and fuel than one bound for Europe. Approximately 850,000 tons of shipping would be needed to maintain such a force in the Philippines, experts said.

Museum Gets Field Gun Model

Put on Exhibition

A full size wooden model of an 8 inch field gun was placed on exhibition yesterday in the Museum of Science and Industry in Jackson park. An 8 inch field gun is the longest range field artillery piece in the United States.

The wooden model, property of the ordnance department, was made by a Milwaukee company as a pattern for actual guns. The tube or barrel of the model is approximately 34 feet long and mounted on a 22 foot carriage, standing about 10 feet high.

Col. Donald Armstrong, deputy district chief of the Chicago ordnance district, and other officers formally placed the wooden gun in custody of Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, president of the museum. It is to be kept in the museum for the duration of war. It will be the central attraction of the museum's national defense exhibit which will be opened to the public in a few weeks.

ANTI-SEMITISM CHARGE ROUSES HOUSE OF LORDS

Wedgwood Assails Palestine Policy.

LONDON, March 10 (AP). — Lord Cranborne, secretary of state for colonies, defended his department against charges of anti-Semitism in the house of lords today, when a spirited debate flared up over the refusal of Palestine officials to admit Jewish refugees from Bulgaria and Rumania.

Lord Wedgwood based an attack on the colonial office's Palestine policy on the recent Struma incident. The Struma, a small steamer with 750 Jewish refugees aboard was blown to pieces in the Black Sea last month after apparently colliding with a stray mine. The refugees did not have entry papers for Palestine.

Lord Wedgwood said the Struma was so overcrowded that "anything more approaching the black hole of Calcutta cannot be imagined."

"The whole trouble in Palestine is that the administration does not like Jews," he declared. "We have had 22 years of this policy of continuous bias against the Jews."

Lord Cranborne replied that "to suggest the administration is animated by anti-Semitic bias and, what is particularly shocking, to assert they tolerated deliberately Arab riots and even condoned the escape of the grand mufti of Jerusalem, comes very near to incitement to violence."

Palestine policy, he said, is "a genuine attempt to find an impartial solution. The whole facts of the sinking of the Struma are not yet known and possibly never will be."

JAPS' ATROCITIES AT HONGKONG ARE BARED BY BRITISH

Reveal Story of Rape and Murder of Women.

LONDON, March 10 (AP).—The British government indicted Japan today for barbarities at Hongkong paralleling those which shocked the world during the 1937 sack of Nanking, and accused the occupying forces of such outrages as the bayoneting of 50 helplessly bound officers and soldiers and the indiscriminating rape and murder of Asiatic and European women.

Anthony Eden, the foreign secretary, told the house of commons the charges were based on statements of reliable eyewitnesses who escaped from Hongkong after the island crown colony and its garrison of British and empire troops capitulated last Christmas day.

Emperor Shares Guilt.

Now, Eden assures the nation, the "widest publicity in all languages will be given to these atrocities." In reply to a question, he agreed emphatically that responsibility for the outrages lies at the door of not only the troops themselves but also "the emperor, the government, and the whole Japanese people."

"I am sorry," he said, "that I have had to make such a statement. . . . Two things will be clear from it, to the house, to the country, and to the world. The Japanese claim that their forces are animated by a lofty code of chivalry—'bushido'—is a nauseating hypocrisy. That is the first. The second is that the enemy must be defeated. . . ."

In brief Eden's indictment included these counts:

Fifty British military prisoners, officers and men, "were bound hand and foot and then bayoneted to death."

One Entire District a Brothel.

"It is known that women, both Asiatic and European, were raped and murdered and that one entire Chinese district was declared a brothel regardless of the status of the inhabitants."

All the garrison survivors [by Japanese count 5,072 British; 1,689 Canadians; 3,829 Indians, and 375 others] were herded into a camp of wrecked huts without doors, windows, light, or sanitation, and by the end of January there were 150 cases of dysentery, but no drugs or medical facilities, and the dead had to be buried in a corner of the camp.

"The Japanese guards are utterly callous and the repeated requests of Gen. Maltby, the general officers commanding, for an interview with the Japanese commander have been curtly refused. This presumably means that the Japanese high command have connived at the conduct of their forces."

Civilian European residents, some of them seriously ill, have been interned and fed on a little rice, water, and food scraps.

In the house of lords the colonial secretary, Lord Cranborne, agreed to look into a suggestion that Russia be asked to exert its good offices at Tokio for the relief of Hongkong's helpless people. Russia and Japan still are at peace.

MADE A PRISONER IN HOTEL, HE SAYS; SUES FOR $260,000

William E. Andrews Jr.

William E. Andrews Jr., 33 years old, son of a socially prominent Atlanta, Ga., family, filed suit in federal District court yesterday to collect $260,000 from Hotel Sherman, Inc., and four of its employés. His suit, drawn by Attorney Charles R. Aiken, demanded $65,000 on each of four counts charging malicious prosecution, false arrest, and abuse of process.

Andrews charged he had been imprisoned first in his room and later in the county jail because he could not pay a hotel bill amounting to $141. The bill accumulated, he asserted, during a period of illness while he was staying in the hotel last month. Officers of the hotel refused to allow him an opportunity to obtain the money from his friends or relatives, he charged, and they still hold personal baggage valued at $3,000 for the $41 still remaining unpaid.

Andrews formerly owned the Mayfair House hotel in Carmel-by-the-Sea, Cal.

7½ BILLION TAX PROGRAM FACES THREAT OF UPSET

N. Y. Commerce Body Urges Retail Sales Levy.

Washington, D. C., March 10 (AP).—House ways and means committee opposition to Treasury Secretary Morgenthau's new tax program became so widespread today that members began to predict that his goal of 7 billion 610 million dollars in new revenue would not be achieved.

They said no one could tell whether the committee would accept his principal recommendations for raising more than 6 billion dollars by increased individual and corporation taxes, but they said clear-cut opposition had developed to less important suggestions.

Joint Return Plan Opposed.

It was learned that President Roosevelt has been advised that overwhelming opposition already had developed to Morgenthau's renewed request to compel married persons to file joint income tax returns and that to end the practice of permitting oil well operators to deduct upto 27½ per cent of their income annually as a depletion allowance.

Morgenthau told the committee those two changes would yield 300 million dollars in new revenue.

Treasury experts have said a 5 per cent manufacturers' sales tax covering everything would raise approximately 3½ billion dollars, but if such things as food, clothing, medicine, fuel, and state and federal purchases were exempted the yield would drop to 153 millions.

W. J. Schieffelin Jr, a member of the chamber's taxation committee, told the ways and means committee the problem of raising the rest of the 7 billion 610 million dollars should be deferred until next fall.

Offers Three Point Plan.

Schieffelin made these recommendations:

1. Raise 4 billion dollars thru a "war retail sales tax" with rates ranging from 2 per cent to 10 per cent.

2. Raise 1 billion dollars by moderate increases in corporation and individual income taxes.

3. Raise another 2 billion dollars next fall after experience with the sales tax and higher corporate and individual rates.

He said that in addition congress should make even greater savings in nondefense expenditures than the 1 billion 300 million dollars recommended by a joint senate house economy committee.

INCOME TAX NEAR 72 MILLION HERE; DOUBLE '41 MARK

Chicagoland income taxpayers have filed 401,100 taxable returns and paid $71,899,892 since the first of the year, Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue, reported yesterday. The figure is approximately double that for the same period last year when 182,300 returns were filed and $35,833,062 was paid.

Harrison said returns and checks were pouring in at 50,000 a day, and that collections would far exceed those of any previous year. Last year's total collection in this district amounted to $338,000,000—far in excess of the postwar high of $284,000,000 in 1919.

This year, with lower exemptions adding approximately 600,000 new taxpayers to last year's million, the total collection may be more than half a billion dollars. Harrison, however, declined to make any estimate until after the collection deadline 5:30 p. m. Monday.

REHEARING WON BY M'GARRY ON BAR SUSPENSION

Eugene L. McGarry, former Municipal court judge, who was suspended from the practice of law for two years by the Illinois Supreme court last January, won a rehearing yesterday. The suspension was ordered because of bail bond scandals in his court when he was a judge.

A petition filed with the high court accused him of having accepted worthless bail bonds and with having conspired with professional bondsmen. The court held that his conduct was such as to bring the administration of justice into disrepute.

For the last year McGarry has been employed in County Recorder Edward J. Kaindl's office as a title examiner. The Supreme court's action in granting the rehearing will permit McGarry to hold his position in the recorder's office, at least until a final disposition of the case is made.

NAVAL RESERVE TRAINING IN THE UNIVERSITIES.

Twenty-seven universities in the United States thru their Naval Reserve Officers' Training corps units offer students the opportunity of becoming ensigns in the naval reserve. The voluntary training course, which begins while the student is a freshman and continues thru graduation, is patterned after the curriculum of the naval academy at Annapolis.

One of the first such units to be established was organized at Northwestern university in 1926. Today this unit has 295 future naval officers in training under the direction of Commander S. D. A. Cobb, U. S. N. [retired], professor of naval science and tactics. Upon receiving their commissions they will enter active service immediately if the nation still is at war.

Cruises Each Summer.

The midshipmen's training includes seamanship, navigation, ordnance, gunnery, communications, naval history, piloting, strategy, and tactics, engineering, and electricity. Each summer they go on cruises, thereby applying theoretical classroom knowledge in a practical manner.

During peacetime these cruises were made aboard a battleship, but during the last few summers the training cruises have been made aboard gunboats on the Great Lakes.

Upon being awarded their commissions, the ensigns may apply for training as naval aviation cadets. If accepted they must resign their commissions and become apprentice seamen. Upon finishing their flight training course, they receive commissions as ensigns of the date of their original commissions. This insures that the students do not lose precedence in promotion.

[Tomorrow: Commissions for Engineers.]

QUESTION:

W. J. writes: "I am married and have a young child. My wife told me she would be willing to sign a dependency waiver so that I might get in the marine corps. However, I went to the marine recruiting office and told them I was single. I am supposed to report back March 16 ready to go, and I would like to know whether I should tell them I am married?"

ANSWER: You made a bad mistake. As soon as possible have your wife sign the necessary waiver and present it to the marine recruiting officer. Tell him why you concealed your marriage earlier. He then will decide whether you are still acceptable. If you neglect to inform him and your fraudulent enlistment is discovered, you probably would be discharged.

H. O. J. writes: "I am an enemy alien, but applied for my first citizenship papers a year ago and just recently received them. Will I be drafted into the army?"

ANSWER: No. All aliens of enemy nations whether or not they have applied for citizenship papers are deferred from military service, and classified as 4-C.

V. J. F. writes: "I want to join the army or navy, but have been told by friends that I would be turned down on account of false teeth. Is this true?"

ANSWER: False teeth would not bar you from enlistment in the army providing that, in the opinion of the examining army physicians, you are able to eat army rations. Except for the construction corps of the navy, which accepts men whose natural teeth are satisfactorily replaced by dentures, your false teeth would bar you from enlisting in the navy.

E. C. writes: "I am 19 years old. Which branch of the nation's armed forces can I join that won't demand a consent signature from my parents?"

ANSWER: Every branch of service requires that men less than 21 years old have the written consent of their parents.

ASKS U. S. ACTION TO END PERILOUS WATER SITUATION

Attorney General George F. Barrett, in letters yesterday to the war department and the War Production board, asserted that, unless Chicago's need for better water supply and sewage disposal is recognized, the city and the war material work of the whole area will be under constant threat of an epidemic of disease.

He declared the state had done everything possible to relieve the situation, but had been denied authority to increase diversion from Lake Michigan, now limited to 1,500,000 cubic feet a second. The only alternative, he added, would be for the federal government to give the city priorities on $12,900,000 of materials for a southwest sewage disposal plant.

Barrett said the city is dumping 350 tons of solid sewage daily into the Illinois waterway and at the same time industries of the Calumet area are dumping vast quantities of waste into the lower lake and imperiling the Chicago water supply.

FARM PROGRAM'S FAILURE CALLED ITS ONLY VIRTUE

Wisconsin Farmer Gives F. D. R. His Views.

BY THORNTON SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Burlington, Wis., March 10.—Glenn W. Birkett, a dirt farmer who raises beef cattle and hogs on Rowan Birch farms near here, wrote President Roosevelt, Vice President Henry A. Wallace, and Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard today that he had heard many of their speeches and that he disagreed with them all in nearly every conclusion.

"Your speeches," he wrote, "invited frankness in replies."

The failure of the administration's farm program, Birkett wrote, was almost its only virtue. Because it failed, he continued, farmers can still supply themselves and the nation's allies with unlimited food and fibre.

Sees Peril to War Effort.

"I do not agree that the AAA has benefited farmers," Birkett wrote. "I do not agree that the 'ever normal granary' idea was born nine years ago last night. 'The ever normal granary' is a euphonism invented several years later to cover restriction and destruction of farm products.

"I believe that as a result of the AAA, PWA, CCC, NYA, and other brainstorms of the ABCD-arians, we are doing the poorest job in all our history of fighting the war.

"Further, I believe that if the AAA had been completely successful in its original intentions—parity of prices thru mutual restrictions of farm and city production—that the war effort would be even worse. In spite of the billions spent to socialize farmers, to teach them to match urban production scarcity with farm production scarcity, the AAA has in part failed.

Paraphrases President.

"The President said in effect to our allies everywhere, 'For nine years I have been trying to teach my farmers the glory of socialism and the high standards resulting from nonproduction. In spite of billions of dollars I have failed. Because I failed, my farmers can supply themselves and our allies right now with unlimited amounts of food and fibre.

"'I have been almost completely successful in teaching my urban workers the more abundant life obtained by limiting their production; because of my success with urban workers, our merchant marine, our fighting men and our allies must wait for mechanized equipment.'

"I agree that inflation is probable and that we should all try to prevent it. But if payments to farmers cause inflation, why not stop such payments? For nine years I have declined to accept any AAA subsidy whether it was called 'relief' or 'earning.' The average amount I have declined annually is about $200.

Still Refuses Payments.

"I may have this year for 'compliance'—for simply farming as I had intended to do anyway—$138.33. I will do my part toward preventing inflation by again leaving this deferred payment with the United States.

"I suggest that the United States save the billions now being pushed on to farmers, WPA'ers and the men and women in the NYA and the CCC. I further suggest that inasmuch as farmers do not get double time for hours in excess of 40 hours per week, that in all defense industries, that is, in all industries where wages are out of taxes, that there be no double time pay. That also would check inflation."

THE TRIBUNE TRAVELERS' GUIDE

VACATION TRAVEL CALLED VITAL TO U.S. WAR EFFORT

Speaker Says Workers Need to Relax.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.

"If recreational travel is eliminated from our national life because of the war the disasters to health, social outlook, and production will cause this country to be sick at heart for lack of vision. Any basic interference with such travel must be only temporary. Those in both high and low places who don't now see the fundamental need for recreation will see it a year from now."

These assertions were made by Don Thomas, managing director of the All-Year Club of Southern California and president of the National Association of Travel Officials, at a luncheon at the Palmer House yesterday.

Sound Bodies Important.

Thomas quoted the surgeon general of the United States public health service as saying:

"Sound bodies are important to the defense of the nation. That is as true of our industrial workers as of our boys behind the guns. The man at the machine needs tuning up periodically, the same as the machine he operates. Constant hours at work without letup cause fatigue, which lessens his efficiency and reduces productivity. A country at war must see to it that its people—all of its people—get good food, healthful recreation, diversion, and relaxation. These are needed to promote national health and morale."

The Californian predicted the railroads of America will be able to handle the recreational travel business in addition to the business of taking care of the troop movements.

Rail Facilities Adequate.

He recalled the recent statement of Hugh W. Siddall of Chicago, chairman of the Transcontinental Passenger association: "Unless something unforeseen arises, and the load is much greater than anticipated, the railroads should be able to absorb all of the travel to and from California."

Thomas said that as far as his part of the country is concerned, the tourist is not inconvenienced by the wartime program. There have been occasional scares, but these are soon forgotten.

Between Nov. 1 and Feb. 1, he said, more than 200,000 visitors were registered at the All-Year club's Los Angeles bureau, and nearly all of them were bent on recreation.

These visitors, he added, found that a few side roads leading to military establishments had been blocked off and that one Hollywood night club had closed its doors, but otherwise the facilities for travel and entertainment were the same as they had been before Pearl Harbor.

BROOKS PRAISES NURSES SERVING IN U. S. FORCES

15 Million Women Needed in War Work, He Says.

United States Sen. Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] last night paid tribute to the courage and devotion of American nurses, and estimated that 15 million women will be needed in various phases of war work.

Speaking before the Better Americans club at 185 North Wabash avenue, Sen. Brooks said the women, with American men, are ready to sacrifice for victory, but that they needed to be given the facts.

"We are not cowards," he said, "we do not need a blackout of news. We are willing to sacrifice but we would like to know that we are getting a dollar's worth of material for every dollar given to run the war."

Urges Constant Vigil.

He urged that the women of America, with the men, maintain constant vigil to be sure that the democratic form of government is not sacrificed while the war is being won.

"Little has been said about the heroism of our American women who have volunteered and are serving as nurses at the outposts with our armed forces," Brooks said. "It is a tremendous inspiration to our American boys, when wounded in action, to find as they are carried from the front lines, the steady hand of an American girl. . . . I can personally testify to the courage of the American nurses and the inspiration they give to a wounded man.

"The need for nurses will be incalculable as we move on into this vast military and naval enterprise across the far-flung distances to meet our enemies. The federal government already has subsidized 110 schools in an effort to increase the number of student nurses. Efforts are being made to find ways and means to bring back into active duty ten to fifteen thousand nurses who are now doing other things, many of them over 40 years of age, who can fill civilian hospital needs, releasing the younger nurses for more strenuous service.

15 Million Women Needed.

"In the last war more than 2,250,000 women were engaged in war work of various kinds. The labor department recently estimated 15 million women will be needed in various phases of war work, some in the factories, in Red Cross, as telephone operators, dietitians, nurses and in other agencies and activities.

"This is an all-out war, and America can look forward with confidence and pride to the part that will be played by the womanhood of America."

He warned of the vast program to which the United States is committed, a program which calls for domination of the Atlantic, Pacific, and Mediterranean and the skies over them before troops can be landed and the work of conquering begun. Sen. Brooks said that 9 to 10 million American soldiers will be needed in this war as compared with 2 million in the last.

JURY CONVICTS NAPRAPATH WHO LACKED LICENSE

Otto J. Mueller, 6931 South Loomis street, an unlicensed naprapath, was found guilty of violating the state medical practice act in a sealed jury verdict returned yesterday before Acting County Judge Albert E. Isley. Sophie Langer, investigator for the state department of registration and education, testified that Mueller gave her oil treatments and told her she suffered from faint heart, rapid pulse, toxic poisoning, and a liver disorder. Roman R. Stachnik, assistant state's attorney, said Mueller has no license, either as a naprapath or physician. A motion for a new trial will be heard tomorrow.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

THE QUESTION.

Did you ever speak out of turn and later wished you had kept still?

WHERE ASKED.

Chicago Trust and Title building, 69 West Washington street.

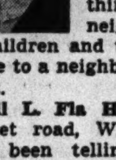
THE ANSWERS.

Sanford I. Rabin, clerk, 3658 West Polk street—When I returned from my vacation my valuable fountain pen, desk pads, and calendars were gone from my desk. I accused one man of taking them and then had to go back and apologize when a friend told me he had been taking care of them for me.

Paula Knight, receptionist, 1533 Fargo avenue—Our parlor was full of friends and the conversation drifted to churches and religion. I made a remark that I thought one church did not have much basic principle. Suddenly I realized my best friend who was a member of that church was in the room. If I had stopped there it wouldn't have been so bad, but I made a more embarrassing issue of it by trying to cover it up.

Rosalyn Spetner, secretary, 4878 North Magnolia avenue—When I applied for my first job I told my employer that I was 18. I was only 16. After he hired me, I accidentally gave away my real age. He laughed, but I always felt as if I had spoken out of turn both times.

William M. Gibbons, law clerk, 4583 Oakenwald avenue—My mother gave me a watch. I made a remark I did not like to wear a cheap watch as it wouldn't be reliable. It didn't make her feel very happy then, but I'm the one who was uncomfortable about it afterwards as it was an excellent timepiece.



Emil R. Fuja, real estate agent, 4257 Cermak road—The other day I was pointing out the attractions of a new home to a middle-aged couple. I told them it was a lively family neighborhood with schools nearby. That was the wrong thing to say. Their neighborhood was full of children and they had decided to retire to a neighborhood of peace and quiet.

Bill L. Fla Havhan, student, 542 Sunset road, Winnetka—All winter I've been telling the boys at school that I wasn't going to have one of those "crew" haircuts. CHICAGO WOMAN IS CAPTIVE; MATE WITH MACARTHUR

Letter Tells of Flight in Philippines.

For months relatives of Charles W. Heyda Jr. and his wife, the former Catherine Hedman of Winnetka, have been wondering what fate had befallen them when the Japanese invaded the Philippines. Yesterday they learned. The Heydas are both alive, but separated and Mrs. Heyda is a prisoner of the enemy in Manila.

In a letter to his mother, Mrs. Charles Heyda of Manitowoc, Wis., Heyda related that he is now serving with Gen. McArthur in the United States engineering corps on Corregidor Island. The missive, written Feb. 3, the second anniversary of his marriage, told a thrilling story of the bitter fight for Philippine mastery.

Jap Party Appeared.

Heyda, a mining engineer, said that about mid-December a Jap party appeared near Baguio, a mountain town in Luzon near which he and his wife were living. Mrs. Heyda and other American women were sent at once by bus to Manila. The men traveled on foot, reaching the island capital in five days.

There the Heydas stayed a few days with friends. Then, he said, he was called into service.

"Kay stayed in Manila, as we figured it was the safest place for her," Heyda wrote.

Told Women Well Treated.

He added that he had learned indirectly the American women were well treated and were being held in Santo Tomas university, "a pleasant place."

"A hell of a way to spend the anniversary," Heyda said in summary.

Mrs. Heyda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Hedman of 115 Fuller lane, Winnetka, to whom Heyda's mother forwarded the letter.

MAN BARS TEAS OF WOMEN'S UNIT AND FIGHT IS ON

Los Angeles, Cal., March 10 [Special].—The collision of strict male discipline and a feminine tea party attitude in the Women's Ambulance and Defense Corps of America today split the membership wide open.

The fighting issue developed from weeks of brewing trouble climaxed by last night's action of the board of directors in demoting Commander Dorothy Hewes Bell of the Los Angeles unit to the rank of private.

"There's been too much time spent at tea parties and in driving movie stars around," explained Col. John W. Colbert, national commander. "We're going to get down to business now."

But Mrs. Bell indicated that the fight has just begun. Inveighing against "boss rule" and "totalitarianism," she announced that her entire staff, from adjutant down, would quit the organization and start a new unit "in which there will be no place for men."

Draft Serial Numbers Promised in Few Days

Men who registered for the draft Feb. 16 can learn their serial numbers at the offices of their local draft boards within the next few days. Col. Louis A. Boening, assistant state director of selective service, said yesterday. Order numbers will be determined at a national lottery in Washington March 17.

Angelo Casairyeo with his sisters, Theresa, 17; Stella, 19, and Mabel, 16 (left to right).

Angelo Casairyeo, 1130 South Hermitage avenue, was placed in draft classification 1-A yesterday as the result of a letter he wrote to Chicago local board 34. At that time he was appointed leader of his induction group—tho the date of his induction is not yet known.

Casairyeo, formerly in the 3-A draft classification, wrote to the board, informing its members that his family is now able to live without the aid of the wages he earns as an employé of the Andes Candy company.

Since his father, Samuel, a former street cleaner for the city of Chicago, retired three years ago at a $10 a month pension, Angelo has been the chief support of a family of seven. Following their mother's death in 1932, three of Angelo's sisters were placed in an orphanage. The girls recently were removed from the orphanage, and three of them are now contributing to the support of the family.

ILLINOIS RELIEF ROLL TOPS 101,000 DESPITE JOB GAIN

Springfield, Ill., March 10 (AP).—Despite the addition of nearly 600,000 workers to Illinois pay rolls last year, nearly 46,000 employable persons remained on direct relief, Illinois public aid commission records showed today.

The commission pointed to a steady reduction in its rolls, resulting largely from absorption of recipients in war industry, but indicated relief would continue to be an imoprtant factor in the state's economy.

The number of relief recipients classified as employables showed a reduction of 48 per cent—from 88,118 to 45,898—during the year.

The total number on relief rolls, however, was estimated at 101,942 this month, and the total obligation for relief and administration was set at $3,363,633 in state and local funds.

PULASKI CLAIMS FRAUD; SEEKS TO BAN PRIMARY FOE

G. O. P. Regulars' Bench Entry Cites Petition.

Stanley R. Pulaski, candidate of the regular Republican organization for nomination for judge of the Probate court, yesterday charged an opponent, John R. Philp, with conspiring to present a fraudulent nominating petition and asked the Circuit court to keep Philp's name off the April 14 primary ballot.

Attorney John F. Tyrrell, counsel for the Republican county central committee, said that he would go before Judge John Prystalski on Friday, and ask that the Philp mandamus be set for hearing next Monday.

Reported in Hot Springs.

Philp is the Probate judge candidate of the so-called national Republican party of Cook county, which numbers among its adherents some of the rank and file of the old Deneen organization. The candidate left the city Monday for a 10 day stay in Hot Springs, his law office said.

John T. Dempsey, G. O. P. county chairman, said the suit charges that of the 52 circulators alleged to have gathered 5,796 names for Philp's petition, 36 have made affidavits that they did not circulate them at all. The other 16 circulators cannot be found, Dempsey declared.

Points to Kelly's Name.

Pulaski's suit declares that "the abandon and boldness of those who prepared said nominating petition is apparent" by the inclusion of the name of Mayor Edward J. Kelly as one of the alleged signers of the Philp petition. The signature is a forgery, it is charged.

It was also charged that five of the 239 sheets were circulated by Miss Herma Clark, author of the "When Chicago Was Young" column which appears in The Sunday Tribune. Miss Clark's signature is also a forgery, the petition alleges.

First Place on Ballot.

Unless Philp's name is stricken he will have first place on the ballot, ahead of Pulaski.

Stanley C. Erickson, 236 West 61st street, withdrew from the Republican race for nomination for bailiff of the Municipal court yesterday. He was the only Municipal court candidate to withdraw on the last day for declaring such intentions. No county candidates withdrew.

Certification of candidates is expected to be completed Saturday.

THE ONE BRIGHT LIGHT IN THE PACIFIC.

The dispatches from MacArthur's beleaguered army remain the only bright spot in the Pacific gloom, as they have been since Dec. 7. The attack that found Pearl Harbor asleep found the Philippine forces on the alert, and within a few days the gallant Colin Kelly demonstrated that American bombers, like those of the Japanese, can be deadly to battleships. When Hongkong surrendered MacArthur's forces were still doughtily disputing beach heads. While the Japanese were marching 400 miles down the Malay peninsula MacArthur was concentrating his army in the Bataan peninsula.

When Singapore fell he was conducting counteroffensives that smashed the Japanese designs to force his lines. With the loss of Java comes the news that he is still conducting his skilful defense, making every Japanese move a hazardous one and holding off enemy forces probably four or five times as great as his little army. The war department believes that the Japanese commander in the Philippines has committed harakiri because of the implied disgrace in his failure to take advantage of his superior strength.

It is obvious not only that Gen. MacArthur's name would be a potent force to rally the shaken white forces in the Pacific area but also that his is probably the only name that could accomplish that near miracle at this time. Even the British, it might be expected, are willing by now to place the direction of their forces in his hands, in the hope that he may salvage something from the wreckage.

Means can be found, if they do not already exist, for taking Gen. MacArthur off the Bataan peninsula to a post of greater responsibility. It is a post for which he could leave his own beleaguered forces with the best conscience in the world, and the transfer, if made, would undoubtedly have the entire approval and understanding of his men. They would still be under competent, hard hitting command and they would know that their leader had left them to undertake duties just as desperate and possibly more hazardous than they themselves are facing in their mountain fortress.

AN OPPRESSIVE POWER.

The United States Supreme court has outlawed the practice whereby heads of federal administrative agencies delegated the power of subpena to their local subordinates. The court found that under this delegation of authority the power is capable of oppressive use, as indeed was admitted tacitly by the department of justice when it stated that the federal Wage-Hour administration alone was issuing 6,000 subpenas a year.

The power of subpena was originally vested in judges, grand juries, and public prosecutors, but other individuals and bodies, such as congressional committees, acquired it. But indiscriminate, arbitrary exercise of the power came only after there was a tremendous multiplication of administrative agencies and the authority was granted to them all.

When local officers of these agencies are entitled to subpena the books and records of any company for fishing expeditions the citizen can be subjected to such annoyance and expense that his capacity to carry on his business is severely hampered. By limiting the power to the man at the head of an agency the abuse is necessarily curtailed, if only because of the physical limitation upon the administrator. The Supreme court has taken a coercive power out of the hands of local officers who often tend to be arbitrary and dictatorial and who, while they possessed it, often showed neither judgment nor restraint in exercising it.

ORE IN RIVER BARGES.

Just two months before Pearl Harbor the great bascule bridge of the Canadian Pacific railroad across the Soo canal collapsed into the American locks. A hundred or more ships bound down the lakes with ore for South Chicago, Gary, Cleveland, Buffalo, Youngstown, and Pittsburgh were blocked. Fortunately the channel was cleared within a few days, but the incident does serve as a reminder that the war effort is dependent to a very dangerous degree upon the free movement of the big ore carriers from Lake Superior. The route must be guarded zealously against sabotage and enemy bombers and, more than that, plans should be made now to assure an adequate supply of ore even if the locks are knocked out.

After an enormous outlay of money, labor, and material the nation has a network of inland waterways extending from Minneapolis to New Orleans, with branches to Chicago and Pittsburgh, all operating with a minimum depth of nine feet. Ore can be brought from the Cayuna range in Minnesota to a point near St. Paul and loaded in barges for movement down the river to Pittsburgh and Chicago at reasonable costs. Coal is available for a back haul. The distance from, say, Brainerd in the Cayuna range to St. Paul or Minneapolis is 137 miles, exactly the same as the distance from Brainerd to Duluth. The rail haul from Brainerd to Duluth is all uphill, except for the last 15 miles, and from Brainerd to St. Paul or Minneapolis it is downhill.

When Commissioner Eastman became director of the Office of Defense Transportation he said he was not going to fool around with theoretical projects which would require astronomical expenditures and years of time to construct but would take the fullest advantage of the existing facilities for transportation. Among them the upper Mississippi system must be counted.

The movement of ore over this route should be encouraged. If a start is made we shall have facilities for handling ore in large quantities already installed if something happens to the locks at the Soo. At the same time we shall have done a good deal to relieve the shortage of lake shipping which is expected this year and every year as long as the war lasts. As it is, many ships of the Great Lakes fleet, which are small enough to reach the sea thru the St. Lawrence locks have been requisitioned by our government and the Canadian government for hazardous ocean and coastwise traffic. The remaining ships will be taxed to the utmost to carry the huge quantities of ore, coal, and other war commodities moving on the lakes.

If the Mississippi route is utilized to the fullest extent the shortage of bottoms on the Great Lakes will be tremendously relieved. Moreover, importations of manganese can be delivered thru the port of New Orleans by barges on the Mississippi, Ohio, and Illinois to all the giant mills of the steel industry without the necessity of hazardous voyages north along the submarine infested Atlantic coast. Sulphur from Texas and Louisiana to Canadian and northern destinations could be handled in the same way. The Great Lakes shipping which has been requisitioned for coastwise traffic might then be returned to the Great Lakes to perform its normal and necessary functions.

REFORMS IN NAVY COMMAND.

The nation will breathe a sigh of relief at the news that Adm. Stark has been removed from his position as chief of naval operations. Regardless of reasons assigned for the action, it must properly be regarded as a further step to end the deplorable weaknesses in command that were responsible for Pearl Harbor.

Adm. Stark was the professional sailor who placed his stamp of approval upon the preposterous strategy that put half our battle fleet in Pearl Harbor, like pigeons perching on a limb. Whether he devised the plan himself or merely failed to resist the ideas of amateur strategists, a large share of the responsibility was his. With his removal there is hope that the strategy of our navy will be put on a professional basis, in the hands of men educated and qualified for that exacting duty.

Adm. Stark's post is abolished and the powers formerly divided between him and Adm. King, commander in chief of the United States fleet, are now vested solely in Adm. King. The latter's appointment in December as commander in chief of the fleet was received with general public satisfaction, largely because of the emphasis placed at that time on Adm. King's training and previous command assignments in naval aviation.

The navy has been behind the rest of the world in recognizing the obvious truth that the airplane has displaced the battleship as the major offensive weapon at sea, and the admirals have been behind the rest of the navy. The fact can be explained but not excused. A man who has devoted his lifetime to turbines, armor, and gunnery is reluctant to confess that developments in another field with which he is not familiar have rendered his hard won learning not only useless but fatal.

To win back its position as the major offensive arm in the Pacific, our navy in all its ranks must learn the importance of the air arm. It is probable that the lesson will be learned most quickly by young men who have less to unlearn, but their consciousness of the changes that air power has wrought in naval strategy and tactics will be wasted unless the same consciousness exists in the posts of highest command. It is impossible in such a situation to divorce principles and personalities, and it is because of Adm. King's personality and training that the nation has reason to hope that the navy will follow the proper principles.

Adm. Stark's new assignment is plainly a demotion. As commander of the United States naval forces operating in European waters he becomes an admiral without much of a fleet. It is said in Washington that the present Atlantic fleet is not to be weakened to strengthen his largely hypothetical command.

It is to be hoped that his position remains an unimportant one, and this hope is expressed without reference to his personal faults or virtues. Our fleet is already divided between the Atlantic and the Pacific and this, with the losses at Pearl Harbor, has destroyed its offensive power in the western ocean. Further dispersals and subdivisions must be avoided as a plague. The dispersion of the army in a multiplicity of expeditionary forces and garrisons is bad enough strategy. The similar dispersal of fleets, permitting them to be struck and destroyed in detail, is suicidal.

STUCK AGAIN.

Time magazine has lost another suit brought by a victim of its peculiar concepts of what constitutes news and of how news should be handled. A woman who suffered from malnutrition was undergoing treatment in a hospital. Against her wishes, her picture was taken and published together with a recital of her symptoms. The trial court awarded her $1,500 actual damages and an equal amount of punitive damages. The Missouri Supreme court sustained the actual damages and in doing so upheld the right of a person to obtain medical treatment without being subjected to a lot of unwanted publicity.

Time could save itself a lot of money, trouble, and ignominy if it would observe the ordinary rules of decent behavior. Mr. Curtis Dall won his substantial verdict because the magazine had no regard for his feelings or the feelings of his friends and relatives. A publication which has a fondness for overdramatizing and thereby distorting the news, which fattens on the sensational, and indulges frequently in half-truths can hardly expect to stay out of the courts.

Editorial of the Day

JUST GRIST FOR THE MILL.

[Baltimore Evening Sun.]

It is almost 10 years since the 18th amendment was repealed. Millions of people have grown up since then, have come of age entirely unaware of the strange excesses [committed in the name of morality] of the prohibition era. Specifically, they don't know much about that singular fanaticism which animates the Prohibitionists—the readiness to sacrifice truth, honor, and even human life in an effort to eliminate the use of alcoholic beverages.

But many of the younger people will be astonished to see how, with an utter disregard of truth, the Prohibitionists even go to the length of libeling our armed forces for the sake of making a point. Read the excerpt from a WCTU leaflet:

> Honolulu was on its good behavior at Christmas, as compared with its alleged looseness during the Japanese blitzkrieg on Dec. 7. . . . Immense quantities, comparatively, of American whisky, rum, etc., were sent to Hawaii and largely consumed by the relatively small number of our countrymen there. . . . This partially indicates the alcoholization prevailing in the American army [and navy when ashore] as well as among civilians. . . .

Rumors to this effect swept the country shortly after Pearl Harbor. The special commission appointed to investigate the Pearl Harbor tragedy made a point of ascertaining the truth or falsity of this rumor. Its report settled the question beyond any doubt. The rumor was entirely without foundation.

But does that stop the WCTU from perpetuating it? Not by a long shot. A libel on our armed forces is just grist for the mill.

THE NEW LANGUAGE.

The finest example of burocratic English, New Deal style, that we have encountered to date is the following utterance of a textiles production regulator:

It is our desire to more or less freeze the existing silhouette.

Note the trebly split infinitive, the smug borrowing of "freeze" from the banking vocabulary, the mixed metaphor, and the fashion stylist's lisp which "silhouette" brings into the sentence. It is more or less a frozen masterpiece.

A team of Washington news commentators were jabbering prophecies over the radio. They seemed to know everything and also to be gifted with clairvoyance. Then one of them hurled a sneer at the usual target, thus: "Adolf Schicklgruber, alias Hitler." He pronounced "alias" as "ay-LIE-as," without trying to be funny.

* * *

The word "gadget" has been firmly imbedded in American slang since the first World war, and was of navy origin. But few of its civilian users know that if you wish to distinguish between two gadgets you should call the other a "gilhickey." See "A Glossary of Sea Terms," by Gershom Bradford, published in 1927.

* * *

"Scorched earth" is a new figure of speech for an ancient military policy. It is a contribution from the literary front, which is making this war the most bookish in history. . . . "An umbrella of airplanes" is also a novelty; it was probably started by some correspondent trying to be picturesque. . . . "Task forces" are figuring in American naval communiques, no doubt for the purpose of keeping the Nipponese guessing.

THE MOON AND MARGERY.

(To a young lady astronomer.)

Sweet lass, hoo weel ye ken yer moon!
But, och, it seems horrific
That ye should be toward her bricht orb
So coldly scientific.

Ye ken her weight, diameter,
An' hoo wi' perfect ease
Upon her satellitic path
She drags the raging seas.

But, lassie dear, the half o' it
I fear ye dinna ken—
The age-long havoc she has wrought
Wi' hearts o' maids an' men.

The loom o' time I'd fain reverse,
Essay a backward flight,
Show ye the moon when I was young,
An' be yer satellite.

An Old Bookshop Baby.

The Tribune announced on March 4 that on the preceding day George Maurice Morris of Washington, "a native Chicagoan," had been nominated to be president of the American Bar association. Does this bring back memories!

It was an ancestral Chicago column which gave the first news to the world about this young man. Eugene Field, in "Sharps and Flats," announced on May 9, 1889, the arrival of George Morris as follows:

"Frank Morris' old-book shop was invaded by all the bibliomaniacs yesterday and there was a general bustle all over the place. It seems that Mrs. Morris presented her husband with a splendidly bound first edition of young Americana last Saturday morning and this event it was that excited our local maniacs. The other second-hand bookshops all over town seemed to feel that Morris had taken an undue advantage of them and forthwith they swung out large placards announcing a reduction of 40 per cent on all wares bought today. But this did not keep the bibliomaniacs from congregating—nay, swarming—at Morris', and the topic of conversation was the title that ought to be given to the prize."

Frank Morris' bookshop fifty-odd years ago was at Madison and State [the present site of the Boston Store]. It was the haunt of Field, James Whitcomb Riley, George Ade, the McCutcheon boys [John and George], Opie Read, and countless figures in Chicago's literary world. Young George grew up in this atmosphere, attended the Chicago schools, studied law at the University of Chicago, and was admitted to the Illinois bar.

EACH TO HIS TASK.

We have to do whatever seems
The thing that's right for us to do.
We cannot dream another's dreams,
Nor plumb the depths he's gazed into;
We cannot weigh the cross he bears,
Nor sin his sins, nor pray his prayers.

We have to do the best we can
Tho others grumble or reject;
We cannot cite another man
As alibi for our neglect. . . .
However much our neighbors shirk,
We must go on with our own work.

And if we'd concentrate on our own labor,
We'd not have so much time to watch our neighbor!

Old Igorotte Customs.

The Igorotte Village of the St. Louis Fair of 1904 [Feb. 24] went on the amusement park circuit later. Stewart Owen, Tribune news editor, saw it in Louisville in 1905. Shanty Al, Line contributor, remembers it at Riverview Park 30 odd years ago. Daily exhibitions of spear-throwing were on the Igorotte program. Dog-eating was alleged to be an Igorotte custom, and the promoters of the show tried to confirm this rumor by having a large collection of well-fed curs on view.

The Igorotte Village [March 6 and earlier] was not at the Chicago Columbian exposition of 1893. I ought to know, for I "covered" it as a reporter. It was at the Louisiana Purchase exposition in St. Louis in 1904. Again I ought to know, for the same reason.

Arthur W. O'Neill.

Some time ago my grandpap tried to use his horse and buggy as a down payment on an automobile and the dealer turned him down cold. The other day the scene was enacted, in reverse.

LESSENING THE DANGER OF WHOOPING COUGH.

WHOOPING cough continues to be one of the most dreaded maladies of early childhood. After the youngster has reached the age of 10, however, sufficient resistance has been acquired to rob the ailment of its terror. It is not so much the disease as what it does. It is so prostrating, so depleting that—with younger children—complications may prove disastrous.

The disorder is highly contagious. Its ease of spread equals that of measles. Almost any one who is not immune may exhibit symptoms subsequent to exposure. The troublemaker is a bacillus, which may appear after a possible unknown virus has paved the way. At any rate, the Bordet organism is always present. Fortunately, a high percentage of protection can be obtained by the use of vaccines.

The first stage resembles an ordinary cold. For a time, there may be no suspicion whatsoever that the child is in the throes of a firmly established infection. There is a mild bronchial irritation, sometimes accompanied by nasal inflammation. But the distress persists instead of disappearing.

Later [about the 10th day], the typical paroxysm—a series of rapid, convulsive coughs—may leave the tot breathless. The explosions are so frequent that there is little opportunity to obtain air. This explains the crowing sound which is heard when it becomes possible to inhale.

During the seizure, the features become deeply congested, the eyes bloodshot, and the veins in the neck and forehead stand out prominently. One such attack is enough to make the diagnosis. Sometimes a thick plug of mucus is expelled, whereupon the patient will become easier. But we can well understand the profound exhaustion which follows, when we consider that 40 or more of these spells may occur in 24 hours.

The digestive tract is likely to be disturbed and vomiting may be associated with every bout. In consequence, nutrition will suffer. The rule is that food should be offered shortly after coughing has ceased, in order to maintain strength. If diarrhea develops, extra fluids may be administered artificially. Because so much acid is lost from the stomach, this substance may need to be replaced. In addition, there may be slight hemorrhages from the nose and actual bleeding into the tissue of the eyes.

With a paroxysm in full bloom, the youngster must become the center of attention. Good nursing demands fresh air, quiet, and adequate food. We cannot abolish the "whooping spells" completely, but sedative drugs will be helpful in reducing their severity. In certain cases, powerful narcotics may be required. The air of the room should be moist and a steam cooker [croup kettle] is always in order. A firm, broad binder will add to comfort and prevent fatigue of the abdominal muscles.

The greatest danger arises when infants are afflicted. This explains why the use of preventive vaccines is recommended before the babe has passed his first birthday. Numerous reports have shown that immunity results in 80 to 90 per cent of all subjects. That this safeguard is more than worth while has been demonstrated over and over again.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

INDIA AND IMPERIAL POLICY.

Chicago, March 8.—Speculating upon the possible provisions of England's offer of "a measure of self-government for India," Raymond Gram Swing said it would probably be the old Churchill plan, for separation into political divisions or provinces, based upon the religious and cultural differences of the people. Let us hope not, for the sake of India and the world.

The philosophy of the Churchill plan is not new. It was well expressed by Lord Eustace Percy in 1924 in an address upon "Imperial Preference." Speaking to a group of American tourists at Toynbee hall, London, he closed [I quote from memory] with the words:

"So the empire takes these backward people, gives them a civilization and culture, leads and trains them to prepare them for self-government within the empire."

In a discussion after the address, the following hypothetical question was asked:

"In the case of a country which has a culture, civilization, and government of its own, what would be the policy of your empire if it should take possession of such a country?"

The answer was: "We never quarrel with history. To illustrate, it may not have been right for us to take the Boer republics; but, having taken them, we keep them until they are ready for self-government within the empire. We never quarrel with history."

This interpretation of imperial policy can be applied not only to South Africa, but to Ireland, other possessions and protectorates, and now to India. The empire holds on. There is always left some partition to operate against unity.

If India is to be saved, she will form a voluntary union with China based upon economic and military necessity. No artificial partition will block it. Hindu and Moslem will talk to each other and to China of iron, cotton, and rice, of planes, tanks, armies, and ships.

America desperately needs a united India and China. Let us hope the American mission to India will help to bring it about. In the face of the terrible threat of Japanese conquest, India will unite, will realize her power, and use it. The man to show her how is Chiang Kai-shek.

When it is all over, England may say to India: "We offer you freedom." India may reply: "Keep it. We are free!"

COSTLY LESSON.

Chicago, March 8.—Mrs. Roosevelt at her press conference yesterday said she was very glad the Utopian resettlement at Arthurdale, W. Va., had been tried because, among other things, it had taught her that industry will not come to a community artificially built. It has cost the taxpayers $2,471,000 to teach Eleanor and the New Dealers this lesson. Practically all taxpayers knew this before the experiment was made. That is why so many of us are discouraged. When one thinks of the billions spent by many screwballs in this administration to teach them something that any ordinary person has known from childhood, one wonders at the complacency of the American public.

DANIEL ANDERSON.

THEORY.

Chicago, March 8.—P. G. Glenkey asks why carrots are marketed with the tops on tho the homemaker invariably requests the clerk in the store to remove them.

The basic reason may be traced to "sales appeal." Homemakers select carrots with the tops on in preference to the others perhaps with the feeling that all fresh carrots must have a green top. This is not true. Fresh topped carrots are now on the market from California and Texas and for still less money thrifty food shoppers may get old crop carrots with the tops off now on the market from local growing districts. Furthermore, nutritionists claim there is more food value, particularly vitamins and minerals in the mature carrots. So the carrot top question all boils down to the fact that homemakers demand carrots with the tops on. That's why they're generally marketed that way. Altho fresh, washed carrots with the tops off were recently offered on the market in sealed cellophane bags, consumers passed them by for carrots with the tops on. Carrots with the tops off does not mean they are not fresh. They are packed and shipped in ice the same as other perishable vegetables.

LANCE HOOK,
Federal Food Reporter, Agricultural Marketing Service.

PRACTICE.

Chicago, March 7.—The reason carrots are shipped with tops on is to keep them fresh. The ends dry up immediately the tops are removed.

I never have the tops removed when I buy as I'm a widow and am working so I often buy for several days. If the tops are removed and carrots are not used almost at once they lose flavor and become dry.

JAPANESE ALIENS ON FARMS.

Salem, Ill., March 7.—We understand there is a shortage of farm labor and that our government seeks a place for the Japs of the Pacific coast and vital areas. Why not assign the Japs, especially the American born, to farm work, replacing the farm boys in the service? These to be paid reasonably for their work, the farmer to whom they are assigned made accountable for those assigned to him, forbidding the Jap to leave the farm without written permission. If not this plan, some similar, properly supervised method of using the labor they can furnish should be developed.

R. E. WILLIAMS.

RISKS IN RENTING.

Chicago, March 7.—We're just a young couple trying to get along. Here is an example:

Landlord: "Do you have any children or animals?"

We: "No."

Landlord [to my husband]: "You're of draft age, aren't you? Well, I'm afraid we couldn't consider renting to you folks because it would be too great a risk."

If our boys didn't go out there and fight, some people would be "risking" more than just a month's rent.

LEFT HIGH AND DRY.

Chicago, March 7.—I have sold cars for 20 years and made a good living at it. Now the OPM has left us salesmen high and dry, for in their ruling respecting 1942 car sales the cars owned by salesmen as demonstrators are frozen also. Our cars are financed as a rule and it puts us in the position of not being able to sell or pay for them either.

MILO TRENK.

LETTER FROM A FREND.

Chicago, March 8.—I am mailing THE TRIBUNE a brochure, "Functional Frequencies of the Vowel Letters with Vowel Sounds," which perhaps may prove of some interest, especially in connection with the efforts of THE TRIBUNE in promulgating a few new and more phonetic spellings. Permit me to state that I admire the progressiveness of your publication in this willingness to further the cause of orthographic reconstruction, and I believe that those simplifications already introduced have added an intriguing interest in your great paper. It is my hope you will not stand still nor retreat in this matter, but will see fit to use even additional reforms from time to time. May I suggest that your next step include the adoption of the word "frend" for the present fiendlike "friend," and that "t" be substituted for the final trigraph-ped, as e. g. stopt for stopped? In this day of all-out war effort it is even more urgent that Americans consider the merits of spelling simplification and regularization in its saving of useless effort.

F. S. WINGFIELD.

ON AAA FOLLY.

Kearney, Neb., March 5.—People out here in the sticks will feel more like saving for victory if they knew the government was doing some of that in the conduct of its business. Your editorial on the AAA in THE TRIBUNE today is good. I have two farms on which I have paid no taxes since the AAA went in. Answer—the government pays me three times over my tax bill for not raising pigs [I never owned one in my life], not raising corn, limiting the wheat acreage, and practicing conservation—which I would do anyhow. I am only taking the government check because like a lot of other people we feel we help pay for it.

RECOGNITION FOR BLOOD DONORS.

Chicago, March 7.—I would like to suggest that the Red Cross or other agency accepting blood donations for blood banks give to the person donating the blood some kind of a little emblem that could be worn on the coat lapel or otherwise, to show that such donation had been made. It seems a little unfair that those who donate as little as a dime can get an emblem to put in the window, while those of us who donate actual blood have nothing but a thank you.

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

JOINT TENANCY.

Chicago, March 5.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have a joint tenancy in a property with a woman.

1. Could her husband or her daughter claim her share of the estate in case of her death?

2. Does joint tenancy include household furniture?

3. Could I sell my interest in it without her consent?

C. R.

1. No.

2. Joint tenancy of the real estate as evidenced by wording in the deed would not control the household furniture if that is what you mean to ask.

3. Yes. We assume that she is not your wife.

SPLIT OF BON AIR CLUB PROPERTIES IS SOUGHT IN SUIT

Big Bill Johnson's Brother Asks Division at Once.

Suit for a division of the Bon Air Country club, most spectacular and costly property of William R. Skidmore and William R. [Big Bill] Johnson, was filed in the Circuit Court of Lake county in Waukegan yesterday by John E. Johnson. Skidmore and Big Bill Johnson long have been considered overlords in the gambling racket in the metropolitan area. John E. Johnson, Big Bill's brother, is a former assistant attorney general.

The club, with an 18 hole golf course attached, is partly in Lake county and partly in Cook county. The main structure stands on Milwaukee avenue at the south edge of Lake county. Its existence has been one of checkered periods of affluence and shutdowns. The roulette wheels, crap tables, chuckaluck, and other games have been at a standstill now for more than a year.

Appointment of Receiver.

John Johnson's suit asks for a partition of the property equally among those who may be entitled to shares in it. It also seeks the appointment of a receiver to operate and administer it until such a division is made.

Named with Skidmore and Johnson in the suit are Skidmore's wife, Ethel; Joseph Sperling, Walden Kemp, Walter Hendrickson and his wife, Helen; William Goldstein, long an attorney for Skidmore; the Bon Air Catering corporation, nominal owner of the property, and "any unknown owners." The suit says the club consists of 11 parcels of real estate in addition to the buildings, and that the whole is under lease to the catering company until Dec. 31, 1943.

The suit says John Johnson obtained a one-eighth interest in the property by quit claim deed from William Johnson last Saturday. It says this change in ownership was recorded on Monday and asks that the partition of the property be proceeded with at once.

Tenants on Property.

The petition says that Kemp and Hendrickson and his wife merely are tenants on the property and have no other interest. It says that Skidmore "does own and may claim an interest" in the club.

Skidmore at present presumably is preparing to go to the penitentiary for evasion of income taxes. His efforts to escape a 30 months' sentence have proved futile and he was given his last 30 days' stay on Feb. 18.

William Johnson likewise was convicted and sentenced to prison as an income tax dodger. He won a reversal in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. The United States Supreme court, however, ordered the case reopened and Johnson may or may not be tried again.

U. OF I. DELAYS ACTION ON 4 QUARTER SYSTEM; MEYER TO HEAD BOARD

Dr. Karl A. Meyer.

Action on adoption of the four quarter system at the University of Illinois as a contribution to the war effort was postponed by the school's trustees yesterday pending a report on the experimental summer quarter starting June 8.

The trustees, convening for their annual session at 715 South Wood street, voted to continue the present two semester system thru the 1942-'43 school term. They set June 1 as this year's commencement day and Sept. 16 as the opening day of the fall term.

Dr. Karl A. Meyer, medical director of Cook County hospital, was elected president of the trustees, succeeding James M. Cleary, who did not seek to retain the post. Harrison E. Cunningham, of Urbana, was reelected secretary and Lloyd Morey, also of Urbana, was renamed controller.

Meanwhile, Dr. E. R. Serles, dean of the college of pharmacy, announced that henceforth freshman enrollment in the college would be limited to 100 students a semester.

Steinbeck Tells Moving Tale of War Conquest

"The Moon Is Down," by John Steinbeck. [Viking, $2.] Published last Friday. Dual choice of the Book of the Month club for April.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

John Steinbeck, who gave us a new word, "okie," and stirred a new social awareness in the American reading public with his "Grapes of Wrath," in his new novel, "The Moon Is Down," hopes to stir Americans again to a realization of great truths in man's relationships with his fellow men.

If his object is to give confidence to his reader that the soul of man can never be conquered and to assure him that while there is hope there is always life, he has succeeded magnificently. If his object is to give us all courage to do active battle against the wrong, he has, it seems to me, been too mild, too general, too passive. As a paean to the eternal life of the spirit of freedom, "The Moon Is Down" is epic. As a clarion cry to courage, it is the muted echo, rather than the direct blast, which lifts one into action.

Mr. Steinbeck never names the country where, "By ten-forty it was all over. The town was occupied, the defenders defeated, and the war finished." However, it obviously is Norway, and the locale is a little seaside town whose coal mines made it valuable to the enemy. The enemy likewise is nameless, tho no one will have the faintest difficulty in identification.

To some of his readers that namelessness and the vague geography of the book will give it more universal application. I think Mr. Steinbeck sacrifices a deeper stab into his reader's heart by making his dagger fit any scabbard. But there will be many who disagree with me. Just as there will be many who think that by the sheer vagueness he makes a better overall picture of the actions which he records.

Every action is set down as an accomplished fact, from the occupation, thru treachery of the conquerors, to the subtle conquest of their conquerors by the indomitable conquered. Nothing happens before one's eyes, neither the blasting of rails nor the killing of the lonely officer by the woman he had gone to in loneliness. It is all as subtle, as undercover, as intangible as the "conquest of the flypaper by the flies."

Only the talk is vivid and particular and vital. And perhaps that is because "The Moon Is Down" also is a play, and was conceived by the author as such rather than as a novel.

But, play or novel, it is a tremendously moving work.

Nostalgic Tale Looks Back on Era of Victoria

"House in the Dust," by Doris Leslie. [Macmillan, $2.50.] Published yesterday.
"To Hold Against Famine," by Kathleen Coyle. [Dutton, $2.50.]

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

As a little old lady stands beside the ruins of a bombed house in one of London's quiet streets she recalls the events that took place under its roof during the reign of Victoria, for it had been her childhood home. She had grown up there and from there had finally run away to marry the man of her choice. As she surveys the piles of smoldering rubbish, the years pass before her eyes and the story of her life is unfolded.

Doris Leslie writes with a fine knowledge of the period, of the conventions and manners of the 19th century. She makes of her heroine a warm hearted, courageous, and loyal character the reader will not soon forget.

In the delicately sensitive prose that makes her writing distinguished, Kathleen Coyle tells in "To Hold Against Famine" the tragic story of a mother and daughter in Paris during the first days of the German occupation. Mme. Masson, a gynecologist, and Marianne are waiting in anguished suspense for news of Martin, the brother, who stepped out to get a paper and never returned.

Two of their friends stand by them, a middle aged artist and young Suzanne, and as the tenseness increases the reader realizes that Marianne is, herself, concealing a private tragedy. The single mood of despair that is found in the opening incidents is sustained until the very end. These people are gentle, cultured, left alone as their world dies before their eyes. Because of their very nature they are unable to cope with the Nazis.

Miss Coyle's novel is one of the most poignant to come out of the war thus far.

Two River Stories Taken from Pages of Nation's History

"The Kentucky," by Thomas D. Clark. [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.50.]
"Lonnie's Landing," by Charlie May Simon. [Dutton, $2.]

The first of these two excellent river books is another of the Rivers of America series, thru which the publishers are telling the story of the nation in terms of the rivers along which the first settlers made their homes. There is much material that is new and the story is told with freshness and vigor against a background of moonshining, feuds, and stirring pioneering. It is illustrated strikingly.

"Lonnie's Landing" is intended primarily for children, but its charming style and timeless wisdom recommend it to adults as well. It is a story of the settlement in 1838 of the western Tennessee country by homeseekers who floated down the Mississippi on flatboats after buying tracts from a fraudulent land syndicate.

Tho victimized, Lonnie's folk stay to found a community and the little boy learns to know and love the river, the wild things that live along its banks, and he becomes fast friends with an Indian boy his own age. There are many passages in this child's book to which you will want to return for rereading, no matter what your age. C. L.

Army Officer Urges U. S. to Offensive War

"Defense Will Not Win the War," by Lieut. Col. W. F. Kernan, United States army. [Little-Brown, $1.50.]

The most stimulating of all the many books about how this war may or can be won is Col. Kernan's stirring little book, "Defense Will Not Win the War." It is the first book which I have seen which explains grand strategy in ideas for people like you and me.

In a literary style which is pungent, amusing, and as full of fire as an incendiary bomb, he turns a flashlight on history and shows how every civilization that has merely defended itself has gone down to the aggressive conquerors, how the theory of grand strategy works [and you'll really understand what the axis is after in a military way when you get thru these 193 vivid pages], how the famous Mahan theory of sea power has shackled both British and American military action. And finally, to look forward as well as backward, he proposes as one effective act of aggression that the United States send an army to Italy and conquer it. He argues that Italy is the most vulnerable axis member, without which Germany would be greatly handicapped in Africa and in her relations with her other partners and "fellow travelers."

"The war is entering a phase," Col. Kernan says, "where absolute offensive action, as opposed to limited offensive action, is bound to be decisive against the axis. . . . To think offensively, with the resources at our disposal, is to win the war."

I prophesy that "Defense Will Not Win the War" will be the most talked of book of its kind this year.

Col. Kernan is on active service with the United States army.

A number of excellent books on civilian defense have come off the presses lately, each of which has something characteristically its own.

The most thoro of them is, I think, "Civilian Defense of the United States," by Col. R. Ernest Dupuy, G. S. C., and Lieut. Hodding Carter, F. A. [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.50]. It covers the subject and protects the reader from mistakes the way an official gas suit and mask would cover and protect him in a gas attack. No seams are left unstitched, no subjects untouched, from the way that detector systems work to government controls which will make us "have to put on the shelf and label 'For Future Use' a bottle filled with a more palatable mixture of what we have considered our inalienable pleasures and privileges." To win, say the authors, they have to be foregone, adding: "They're worth foregoing to win."

"Your Career in Defense," by Shelby Cullom Davis [Harpers, $2], is destined to help you find the right job in America's vast defense program. It describes the work in shipyards, aircraft factories, metal works, machine shops, ordnance arsenals, explosive plants, and in the government itself, and talks directly to men and women of different ages, educations, and inclinations. It's distinctly a "how to get a job" book.

"Women for Defense," by Margaret Culkin Banning [Duell, Sloan & Pearce, $2.50], reviews work women did in the last war and in the period after that, tells what women are now doing and can do "in the immediate situation," both in industry and in civilian defense, and closes with a review of the work women are doing abroad in both the occupied and unoccupied countries. It is, of course, written directly to and for women.

"This Is Your War," by Marquis W. Childs [Little-Brown, $1.50], to be published tomorrow, is a small manual which tells what you and I are going to face to win the war and what we're going to have to do without as well as do. There are sensible suggestions about how we can make both the doing and the doing without easier for ourselves and more effective for our country. The book is simple enough for any one to read and understand, and interesting and comprehensive enough to be worth anybody's reading.

"Little Oscar's First Raid," by Lydia Mead, with drawings by Oscar Fabres [Dodd-Mead, $1], is a book ostensibly for children, but it is the most graphic, as well as the most amusing, teaching for any age of what to do in an air raid.

At sight you know when Oscar is doing wrong, because then he is printed in red. When he is doing right he burgeons in green. The pictures are VERY funny as well as very instructive, and they teach you in little more than five minutes the fundamentals of what almost 100 pages tell you in "The Air Raid Safety Manual," by Capt. Burr Leyson [Dutton, $1]. The adult book is much more detailed, of course. It is the result of the experience in London and contains an amplification of do's and don'ts.

"America Goes to War," published by the American Theater Wing War Service, sponsored by prominent men and women of the stage, screen, and radio, combines the official documents and historical data about our entry into the war with a diary-record-autograph book for personal use. Profits from the sale of the book will all go to the war work of the American Theater Wing, which includes canteens for service men, Red Cross aid, first aid stations near theaters, defense bond selling, and workrooms for war service. Tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. in the book section of Marshall Field & Co., Walter Hampden and Bobby Clark will autograph copies of the book. On Saturday at 1:30 p. m. the Quiz Kids will have an autographing party there.

Trio of Robust Stories Laid in Colorful West

"Timber," by Roderick L. Haig-Brown. [Morrow, $2.75.]
"Stampede," by Stewart Edward White. [Doubleday-Doran, $2.]
"Death Valley and Scotty," by Clarence P. Milligan. [Ward Ritchie press, $2.50.]

BY WILL DAVIDSON.

From the high timber of the northwest, thru the great fertile valleys of California, down to the wonders and the wastes of Death Valley range these stories.

"Timber" is a rare book. This fertile, vital story of the lumber camps displays the same writing genius, the same warm understanding of man and nature that made "Return to the River" such a memorable book. Essentially, it is the story of men—their lives and their striving to fit new conditions into the treasured pattern of ideals to which they cling. But it also is the story of trees, and earth; and the author speaks the language of one who knows them well.

Stewart Edward White has written a corking western in "Stampede." Set on a rancho of mid-1800 California, it pits a young legal student and a wise, proud pioneer against the evils of a fast changing civilization. Read for itself, it is a grand historical yarn. As the fourth of the author's Andy Burnett series, it is a welcome segment of an extremely entertaining literary mural.

Since the gold hungry and starvation wracked emigrant first turned for a last look at the valley of his ordeal and cried, "Farewell, Death Valley," that silent, haunting gash in the southern California landscape has been a legendary hades to the uninitiated. Yet it is beautiful, fabulously rich, sometimes fertile. Clarence P. Milligan, in "Death Valley and Scotty," unfolds an interesting picture of the land, and of the man who of all those who learned the valley's secrets has been the most closely linked to its many legends.

FIGHT.

Ives read the note Buckley handed him, which said: "Con—Find this girl a job at the hotel and see that she stays in town. Jess."

"What girl?" Ives said.

"Mrs. Macy. Used to be Martha Benton. Tip Macy's wife. He died in a blizzard this winter. I got her a job, and now all I got to do is keep her in town." Con seemed outraged now, and angry. "Me, keep her in town! What am I—Jess Gove's man, or my own? I never kept any man or woman from doin' what they pleased, and I never will!"

Old Ives nodded, and Con was silent. His breathing was heavy, as if he were both excited and angry, which he was. Suddenly, he turned his head, looking at the door.

Ives looked with him, saw nothing and glanced back at Con. And then he understood. The barroom was dead quiet, and that, to any saloon owner, meant trouble.

Con came to his feet with an agility surprising for a man of his bulk and yanked open the door and waddled out, Ives behind him.

The first thing they saw was a stranger, a big man in worn and dusty clothes, standing at the upper end of the room. He rested his weight on the elbow that was on the bar, forearm out straight, big fist loosely clenched. The other hand was on his hip, and he was watching Pete Framm, Ed Seegrist, and the other Chevron hand. The men from Pitchfork and Circle 33, having seen that this concerned only the three Chevron men who were sticking, had backed away from the bar.

Pete Framm had moved out almost into the middle of the room, caution in his face. Ed Seegrist stayed at the bar, the other Chevron hand behind him.

Con saw immediately what was shaping up, noting especially the careful set of Ed Seegrist's face, and he said swiftly, "Hold it!"

"You keep out of this," the stranger said. He didn't look at Con; he didn't seem angry, only positive.

Ed Seegrist said meagerly, "Put a gun on him, Con. Jess wants him."

Con was a man who invariably did his level best to break up a fight, but when he understood Ed Seegrist's words, he settled back on his heels and put his shoulder against the door. "Let Jess take him, then," he said stubbornly.

Ed Seegrist's surprised glance shifted to Con for a bare second, and the stranger smiled faintly. Slowly, he came erect, and Ed Seegrist moved away from the bar, his attention narrowing on the stranger, studying him.

The stranger said, "Pete Framm, you stay out. It's Seegrist I want."

He took a slow step forward, watchful, and stopped.

Ed said angrily, "Come on, Pete! Get over by the stove, Ray!"

The third Chevron puncher moved slowly away from Seegrist, looked at Pete Framm, and then hauled up beside him. Ed Seegrist was wholly isolated now, and for the first time he sensed it.

"Pete!" he said harshly, a note of desperation in his voice.

Pete Framm was held motionless by indecision, and his doubt kept Ray immobile beside him.

The stranger said gently, "Seegrist, if I don't have to shoot you first, I aim to run you out of the country." And he added with a dry, biting humor, "After I finish this—if you can run."

Old Ives watched the stranger move forward, slow step by slow step, and he kept waiting for Seegrist to pull a gun. But Ed Seegrist was not a lone fighter, and Ives knew the stranger had guessed it, and he fleetingly admired the way the other two Chevron hands had been neutralized. And then Ed Seegrist backed up a step, and Ives knew he had lost.

Ed kept backing down the bar, the stranger kept coming on, and Ed's face was wild with anger. "Pete!" he kept saying. "Pete, what you waitin' for?"

And then he was brought up against one of the chairs around the poker table, and that decided him. He grabbed the heavy chair, whirled it around and far over his head, and then lunged for the stranger.

With a kind of pleased surprise, old Ives watched it explode. Quick as thought, the stranger lunged, too, and he had been swift enough to get inside the arc of the down-swinging chair. Ed's arm came down across the stranger's shoulders, and the chair was wrenched from his hands.

Grasping Ed around the body, the stranger half turned him, shoved him from him, and then swung twice, hard, at Ed's face. The first blow landed, turning Ed's head half around, and knocked him sprawling into Ray's knees. Both of them went down, and now Ray scrambled away, coming to his feet, making no effort to join the fight. Ed came to his knees now, and the stranger held off until he was standing, and then he came in, and Ed met him the only way he could, slugging savagely. The crowd moved up, excited, silent.

For a time the two men stood toe to toe, neither giving way, and then Ed was jarred back. The stranger moved up, stubborn, implacable, reminding old Ives of a tough young gray wolf. He kept pumping smashing, sledging blows into Ed's face, and each time they landed Ed would give ground, turning his head with the blow, trying to ride it, failing. And then all Ed's fight gave way; he covered his face with his elbows. But the stranger didn't quit, only shifted to Ed's midriff now.

The second blow jacknifed Ed, and he fell back against the stove. It rocked with Ed's impact, and then, because his slack weight was still against it, went over. The long length of pipe rumbled, slid, and then crashed to the floor and buckled, a great cloud of soot mushrooming up from the floor and raining down from the ceiling.

Ed Seegrist lay on his back in the falling soot, too weary to move from under the length of pipe that lay across his middle.

Old Ives saw something then, something that came close to shocking him. The stranger came over, yanked Ed to his feet, turned him, grabbed him by the collar of his shirt and the seat of his pants and pitched him thru the swing doors. They slammed back on their hinges when Ed hit, and they heard his moaning grunt as he hit the plank walk outside.

The stranger put a supporting hand against the door jamb, and, his chest heaving with his deep breathing, turned and laid his wild gaze on the rest of them, and on Pete Framm finally. In his gray-green eyes was one of the plainest invitations to fight that old Ives had ever witnessed, and he saw Pete Framm read it right, too.

"That ought to square it," Pete said.

The stranger lounged erect, shaking his head deliberately. "Not yet, Pete. You tell Arnie Chance I'll make Chevron sorry it ever saw me. Tell him I collected my horse tonight, too."

"Be careful," Pete said.

"Tell him."

Old Ives' pulse quickened then as he saw the stranger glance over at Con, nod in a way that could be both thanks and apology, and step out into the night.

Nobody moved for some seconds, and then a Circle 33 hand said softly, "I could get awful sick of him. Who the hell is he?"

Young Pete Framm looked blankly at the overturned stove, then at the door, and then his glance shifted speculatively to Con. There was a crossgrained amusement in his reckless eyes then, and he walked swiftly toward the door. Old Ives was right behind him, and when the doors opened the front lamp from the saloon laid its square pattern on the boardwalk. Seegrist lay there where the stranger had thrown him.

Pete hauled up and looked at the tie rail, and then he swore angrily. But when he turned to Ives, he was laughing.

"That damn Indian took my horse."

But old Ives was gone into the night on a very personal errand.

Pete knelt by Ed Seegrist and turned him over and looked at his face. Soot was mixed with blood until Seegrist looked like some swollen-faced, blackened corpse.

1. Because, through confidential State Department dispatches, Embassy diaries and private letters to President Roosevelt, it provides the one possible explanation for the magnificent performance of the Red Army.

Young Pianist Plays Well but So Stridently

BY CECIL SMITH.

Last night's Kimball hall recital by Marvin Gross proved beyond debate that the young Chicago pianist possesses altogether exceptional gifts. Now that this fundamental point is securely clinched, his best move would be to retire to a hermitage for a time, to ponder deeply four vital musical considerations: [1] How fatiguing, and finally how irritating, hundreds of fiercely percussive accents can make an evening of piano playing; [2] what ineffable pleasure results from a melodic line played with lyric continuity and sensitive, eloquent inflection; [3] how seriously excessive speed can blur the clarity and destroy the structural outline of any piece of music; [4] what final and otherwise unattainable meaning a musical work reveals when its problems of structural integration are solved as completely as its problems of surface technique.

Mr. Gross has apparently hitched his wagon to a star, and that star is Vladimir Horowitz. Like Mr. Horowitz, he seeks to be dynamic and exciting at all costs, and in lesser measure he succeeds. But unlike Mr. Horowitz he cannot play a really expressive melody, even tho it is quite possible that he often wants to. Both the big Bach Fantasia and Fugue in G minor [in the Liszt transcription] and Beethoven's "Appassionata" sonata tended toward rhythmic waywardness and a sort of uncontroled stridency, as every accent was given double value and every lyric possibility left unrealized. Even the Chopin group later in the program was not particularly fluent, and the bravura passages were the best.

The Brahms-Paganini variations, played with immense dexterity and considerable flair, left no doubt as to the complete adequacy of his purely mechanical equipment. And it is precisely because of the brilliance of this equipment that he needs to think about musical content in a more penetrating manner. It is all right for a piano recital to knock the customers into the aisles, but most customers would also enjoy a little tranquility and solace along with their nervous excitation.

Realities.

A lady from Downers Grove, Mrs. L. D. McGirr, is convinced that the Japanese, despite popular conviction to the contrary, have both imagination and humor. The trouble, she says, is that we just don't understand it.

Mrs. McGirr spent two years trying to cope with these manifestations back during World War I when she taught English and Latin in Hilo, Hawaii. In teaching English to the Japanese there, she tried to stimulate the variety of imagination common to other nationalities and, she reports glumly, failed. They scorned the boisterous antics of Shakespearean characters. Don Quixote was lifeless, Charlemagne a myth, Richard the Lion Hearted a dud. Finally in desperation she told them to read what they pleased. They did. They read detective stories and Zane Grey's westerns, and one reported on "Bunny Bright Eyes."

One wrote a thriller of his own. It began:

"Our hero was standing on the deck of the ship carrying him ever farther from the home he loved and from the sweetheart. He was thinking he would never see her again and smoking a 25c cigar."

To Mrs. McGirr this typifies the practical nature of Japanese imagination, a brief flight of fancy with a terrific thud to realities. "Every time I tried to give their imagination the gun, it was like that," she wrote in the Hinckley [Ill.] Review under the pseudonym, Amanda Kincaid. "A sideslip, and they were back on the earth."

And as for humor, hundreds of Japanese, she reports, bought cans of shrimp sold in a local [Hilo] grocery, imported from Japan and labeled, an obvious plagiarism from a can of American peaches, "Picked in our own orchard—packed fresh."

And the Block Captain, Too?

Firemen from Engine Co. No. 98 were fortunate Sunday night in having a call on Oak street just in time to get the after-theater crowd from the Esquire.

How to Write.

Carleton Smith, now touring army camps to lecture for the morale division of the war department, relays the advice William Allen White gave him Sunday in Emporia, Kas., on how to write. We quote from the sage of Kansas:

"Get a girl and dictate. Never take a man. I can't dictate to a man. It'd be like kissing him. When I've got a girl, I'm not conscious of her being there, but a man—he puts me off."

It's a Feminine World.

[Sidelights from the style show of the Fashion Group of Chicago.]

Return of the curved hemline, stem silhouette, and peg top skirt. . . . Elsa Maxwell, straight, black hair, short and flying as freely as her comments; black skirt and pale blue satin blouse, eating French rolls with gusto and, we are certain, a little finger extended at a right angle. "I came just to see Elsa Maxwell," commented an acidulous elder, "and I see plenty." . . . Colleen Moore Hargrave, minus her famous bangs for many years, recalling as the mannequins marched, "Once in Los Angeles I had to appear at a large fashion show, and as I made my little speech I looked down and saw I had on one black shoe and one brown." . . . Estelle Winwood, in navy and white, her auburn hair falling down her back in long curls, clapping uproariously. . . . The nonsense syllables [or the acoustics] in the announcer's description of a print dress, "Ink spots on yellow are to be a sure fire conversation piece." . . . The girl in proper attire for a Red Cross first aid course victim—rose jacket, navy slacks, white sling for right arm, roll of bandage for broken jaw, which is not, we are told, the latest approved jaw bandage. The l. a. one is detachable. . . . The fore and aft of the horse in the "return-to-the-carriage-trade sequence were the only two males in the show; boys from Northwestern university's school of speech.

Overheard.

[By 6 o'clock Bus Taker.]

Girl to clerk in florist shop: "Don't bother to put a bow on my gardenia. I only want it for the smell. I'm going to a movie, and if it turns out as the last one I went to, I'll need the gardenia as a counter-irritant."

He Can Do It.

Any one familiar with the joyous tribulations of Terry and the Pirates can take comfort now in the outcome of the war. Milt Caniff, whose pen-and-ink creations can surmount all difficulties, has executed the drawings of the handsome, strong-jawed air raid wardens and firemen in the new OCD handbook.

World's Finest Orchids Promised at Flower Show

The world's finest collection of hybrid orchids will be seen at the National Flower and Garden show opening Sunday in the International amphitheater. The exhibit, on display in the north wing of the amphitheater, will be installed by Andrew Benson, famed orchidist of Des Plaines.

More than 1,000 rare blooms will make up the display, which will cover more than 1,000 square feet. The blooms will be housed in a natural jungle setting. Almost every type of orchid, from the large cattleyas to the delicate sprays of cymbidiums, will be on view.

Colors will range from a beautiful lavender to the rare white, and there will be fine specimens of the "slipper" orchid.

There will be an exhibit detailing the processes thru which the orchid is cultivated and forced into bloom. A span of eight years is needed from the time of hybridizing until the first bloom. Every cycle or step on the way will be demonstrated.

Another interesting exhibit will be six dwarf apple trees developed by the Geneva experimental station in New York. The trees do not exceed five or six feet in height and produce beautiful blooms and from two to three bushels of apples. They are perfectly suited for the home garden.

Ohio State university will display gardenias grown without soil. They will furnish an exhibit detailing the so-called gravel culture of plants.

Dignity Marks Meeker Golden Wedding Party

BY JUDITH CASS.

SELDOM do members of Chicago social circles have the chance to attend such a party as the reception given yesterday afternoon to celebrate Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker's golden wedding anniversary. It was especially delightful, for in war days there are few parties of such dignity and elegance, and so completely lacking in the hectic, tense atmosphere that pervades most gatherings. It was as tho every guest had shed his anxieties as he entered the door of the Casino and lived for the short time he was there in the atmosphere created by the turtle doves perched above the gold draped doorway.

The bride and bridegroom, who were married in Paris, France, but who were born and have lived always in Chicago, received with all their children: Mrs. Horace Gray of San Francisco, Mrs. Francis V. Lloyd of Pasadena, Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer of Chicago, and Arthur Meeker Jr., also of Chicago.

Mrs. Meeker Is Charming in Gown of Gold Lame.

Mrs. Meeker was charming in a gown of gold lamé, short beige gloves, and a small brown straw hat trimmed with little brown and yellow flowers. Her corsage, worn on her left shoulder, was of green and brown orchids.

Mrs. Gray, the eldest daughter, wore a dress of dark green crêpe with gold embroidery, a lighter green hat, beige gloves, and a green orchid fastened to her left wrist. Mrs. Lloyd was in gold crêpe with gloves of the same color, and a small feathered hat in the same shades. Her flowers, gardenias, were worn on her left shoulder. Mrs. Cramer, the "baby," of the family, wore a white gown with a gold eagle embroidered on the pocket. Her gloves were Alice blue and so was her hat, which was trimmed with pink roses. A wristlet of pink roses was on her left hand.

Club Decorated with Gold Tissue and Yellow Flowers.

The club was artistically decorated with gold tissue and flowers in all shades of yellow, ranging from the palest of orchids to deep gold calla lilies. The tea table, covered with gold tissue, was ornamented with gold and crystal comports holding tall bouquets of blue iris and yellow roses.

Mrs. David S. Cook, Mr. Meeker's sister, and Miss Helen Gilbert, presided at the coffee and tea urns. Champagne was served from a bar that had been erected at one end of the Fountain room, where the tea table was placed. A table on which there was a large, standing frame, dominated the main room thru which the guests passed after greeting the Meeker family before going to the Fountain room. In the frame was the newspaper clipping, the formal announcement, and the cablegram that told of the marriage of Grace Murray and the then young Mr. Meeker.

Many of Their Old Friends Are Present.

Among the hundreds of guests who gathered to wish many happy returns of the day to this well known and popular Chicago couple who have taken a leading part in the social, industrial, and civic life of the city for half a century were at least two other couples who have celebrated their golden weddings, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Hinde and Mr. and Mrs. Carter H. Harrison.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Loesch, Russell Tyson, Mrs. Robert B. Gregory, Mrs. Edson Keith, Mrs. John Alden Spoor, Mrs. Elisha E. Chandler, Miss Georgene Faulkner, Mrs. William E. Clow Sr., Mrs. Phelps B. Hoyt, the Barrett Wendells, the Joseph M. Cud-

Women in War Work

By India Moffett

[The Women in War Work department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and will answer questions of women wishing to take part in these activities.]

(Picture on back page.)

"How Will They Look?" "Are You in Print?" "Have You Volunteered?" "Are You Sticking to Your Knitting?" "Are You Pretty, Too?" and "Women in Action" were the subtitles of the Fashion Group's show given yesterday in the ballroom of the Drake before an audience of smart women that filled the big room.

We are writing about the show in this column, for we think that clothes will be, even in wartime, of interest to women and we agree with the committee that planned the show and named it "Clothes Will Be Worn." Even the most ardent and conscientious war worker must be clothed, and unless she is unlike most of her sisters, she will care what she is wearing.

"Let's plan carefully; let's spend proportionately to what we spent last year, insofar as taxes will allow; let's buy only quality, and let's not be grim about any of it" were the fashion etiquette points stressed by Lois Barnes, regional director of the Fashion Group of Chicago and commentator at the show, which was the fifth annual spring affair the Group has given. Mrs. Barnes admonished her audience not to be like the woman who says she is going to buy one little black dress that must do for the duration, nor like the woman who says she is going to buy everything she possibly can, for there is no telling when she will be able to buy anything else.

"Do not anticipate priorities," advised Mrs. Barnes, speaking for the Fashion Group, a noncommercial organization of women professionally engaged in the field of fashion in all its aspects. "Remember that the clothes and accessories in the stores and shops were bought to be sold, and as long as the stores have stock, women should purchase what they need."

Keep your waistline slim and your chin up, was another bit of timely advice given by Mrs. Barnes. And look your prettiest for THAT soldier, or sailor, or marine on leave, was another bit, a superfluous bit, if you ask us, for what girl or woman doesn't try to look her prettiest for THAT one? Be she mother, sweetheart, or wife, every woman wants her man in uniform to see her looking her best.

Among the 66 outfits displayed on the runway was a suggestion for a block captain who might wear a navy gabardine suit, comfortable looking but well tailored, a white blouse, a simple navy felt hat, low-heeled shoes, and lisle hose. The bicyclist who dislikes slacks can wear black and white checked culottes and a red jacket, such as a pretty mannequin wore yesterday. Whoever supplied the grocery cart and the wheelbarrow that were brought onto the runway by mannequins showing what the housewife might wear to market on a spring morning, will do a thriving business soon, if every woman who exclaimed, "O, I want that, where do you suppose it came from?" really purchases one in order to carry home her marketing.

Outfits—not uniforms, however—for wear when taking Red Cross classes not requiring cover-all aprons, for gardening, for working at the service center, for cooking, for having an evening "out," or for an evening at home en famille were among the smart and sensible clothes displayed by the prettiest and most graceful mannequins in Chicago.

The outfit for wear at home was a divine negligee in pale green chiffon lace, ideal for "the worrying sort, who wrings her hands and holds her head," the commentator said. Ideal for the hard working war worker, too, we think, for she is entitled to a few frilly furbelows when she relaxes at home.

Buttons instead of zippers, curving hemlines, ballet length semiformal dresses, Eton and bolero jackets, pseudo suits which are really two piece dresses that can be worn with or without blouses; printed blouses, lisle hose, black sweaters or blouses with light colored suits, and upswept hair were some of the highlights of the show.

Mrs. Barnes started her commentary by reading a letter that had been received during the dress rehearsal on Monday. Here it is in part: "Do you girls realize that we—the models—are what make your show click? Yet, with all the publicity there is never a word about us! One would think that the clothes walked down the runway all by themselves. . . . How about some credit for us? In Chicago the only publicity models get is the wrong kind—when some '26' girl gets in a jam and says, as she crosses her knees, 'I'm a model.'" As a result, Mrs. Barnes gave due credit to "the indispensable glamor girls of the fashion world," and so do we. Yesterday's mannequins were the best we've ever seen.

Also deserving great credit are the Fashion Group members who were responsible for the show, among them Mrs. Burt A. Massee, general chairman of the show committee; Mrs. Marshall G. Sampsell, Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, Miss Margarete Burlin, Rea Seeger, fashion editor of THE TRIBUNE; Katherine Doyle Ratto, Mrs. Harold Pynchon, and Mrs. Marjorie Letts.

The audience, which included dozens who seldom take time off from war work to do anything so frivolous as to watch a fashion show, was a veritable show of 1942 spring fashions itself, for every woman was wearing her snappiest hat and frock. One of the most stunning women there was Mrs. Bruce Borland, who wore a gray-green wool jersey frock, draped at the front, and a forward tilted hat of felt that matched in color her frock, and a black veil. Another beautifully dressed woman was Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, who wore a black gown with touches of red at the throat and a tiny black cap with three pink roses nodding over her forehead.

Mrs. Peter Moon wore an unusual hat, a black skull cap to which was attached at one side a black felt, fringed bib effect drapery, contrasting dramatically with her pale beige wool coat. Mrs. James R. Kemper's hat was distinctive, too. It was a tiny black beanie, worn in back of her red pompadour, and with a huge black bow standing out across the back of her head. A diamond clip was worn at the side front.

Proceeds of the show will be used to furnish a recreation room at Navy pier.

Good Morning!

(Some months ago "Look Who's Laughing" was reviewed under the supposition that it would open almost immediately at the Palace. . . . Bookings were changed. . . . Now the picture appears, and by request I reprint part of the original review.)

"The new adventure of Edgar Bergen and his wooden wight, Mr. Charles McCarthy, is pleasant and often dumfounding entertainment. It's the latter, for, so natural are the things Charles does with apparently NO aid from Bergen, who much of the time isn't even in the same scene with him, that you pinch yourself to be sure that you're really seeing and hearing what you ARE hearing and seeing. . . .

"Charles and Edgar are about to go vacationing as the picture opens. . . . Right on the eve of the marriage of Edgar's secretary [who—sh-sh—really loves Bergen] to Edgar's business manager. . . . Forced down by plane near the town of Wistful Vista, they are gathered hospitably into the home of the Fibber McGees. Mr. McGee is in difficulty. . . . It takes the combined efforts of Edgar, Charlie, and the aforementioned secretary [Lucille Ball] to straighten things out for folks who have been most kind to the three. . . .

"Look Who's Laughing" has plenty to contribute to the jollity of nations [I wonder if there ever really will be such a thing again] in the matters of dialog and pert situation. . . . It has what might be termed a double header romance. . . . Excellent acting on the part of everybody in the cast. . . . I recommend the film to you as a seasonal tonic."

"Call Out the Marines," double featuring on the Palace program, reunites those lusty screen marines of "What Price Glory" and "The Cockeyed World"—Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe. . . .

The long separated leathernecks meet by chance, as civilians, at a race track. . . . At a waterfront café whither they trail an attractive Vi [who is a hostess there] they find many service men. . . . Unknown to them at the moment a SPY also is present. . . . The boys, feeling uncomfortable and out of place in their civvies, reënlist in the corps. . . . They discover that their old commander, Capt. Blake, runs the café. . . . He tells them he's been dishonorably discharged from the marines. . . . Has he? . . . What's the relation between him and the slippery Vi? . . . What's cooking with that handsome young sea soldier, Billy Harrison?

All of these questions will be answered for you in the raucous "Call the Marines."

Thru the Looking Glass

If you're fashionably fickle about nail polish shades, switching the color when you change costume colors, you'll find a new little "color chest" much to your liking. Instead of loading down your dressing table with large bottles of your favorites you can now, for a small fee, have five shades at hand. It's an economical way to enjoy variety.

The chest is a tidy little affair, reminiscent in size and finish of a nice evening bag. Its outer covering is satin in wine, bright red, navy, brown or black, with a splatter of small gold like stars on the snap flap. The inner lining is a gold cloth—brand new to us—that looks and feels for all the world like supple gilt kid.

It contains five minute bottles of polish and one of an excellent base. In the polishes you may have your choice of five keyed to the darker tones or five keyed to nice, ladylike pink tints. You can't lose, in either case, since all the shades are excellent of their kind and have been created with fashion rightness in mind. The polishes in this fingertip wardrobe are famous; they flow smoothly, have a high sheen and last very well.

Sally Appeals for Clothing in a Needy Case

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Perhaps one of our south side readers can fill the following request:

"Dear Miss Brown: I am coming to you with my problem, and I do hope you can help me.

"My husband is badly in need of clothing, and we cannot afford to buy it for him. He is not working, and is nearly 64 years of age. Several years ago he lost the sight of one eye when he was injured in an accident caused by a hit and run driver. He is well enough to go out for a little fresh air, but his clothing is not presentable."

"I have been very ill for the past four months, and altho we are not on relief, it is a great struggle for us to meet our obligations and fill our needs. I will be most grateful if you can locate some one who has clothing to pass on. MRS. B."

This man needs a suit size 38 or 40. His waist size is 34. An overcoat or topcoat, size 40, also would be appreciated. The address is on the south side of the city.

We have other requests for men's clothing in all sizes, and will welcome offers of clean, wearable apparel from readers in any part of the city.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1942: By Ely Culbertson.]

The correct use of a take-out double is something of an art unto itself. Most decidedly, it is not a simple matter of counting one's honor tricks. Today's hand illustrates the logical handling by both partners of this type of double.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 heart	Double	Pass	1 spade
Pass	2 diamonds	Pass	2 spades
Pass	3 spades	Pass	4 spades
Pass	Pass	Pass

North was eminently correct to double the opening heart bid rather than make a diamond overcall. From North's point of view, the "future" of the hand, if any, was in spades, not diamonds, and his duty, therefore, was to coax a spade response from South. Note the logical development from that point. South, of course, was not strong enough to respond with a jump bid in spades, and North could not afford the direct spade raise that would virtually guarantee four good trumps. Instead, North properly adopted a "marking time" bid, showing his diamond suit, and South then was able to rebid a suit which, under normal circumstances, could not be rebid unless it had already been raised. North's take-out double of one heart had invited a spade response [the other major suit], and that invitation had not been withdrawn merely by North's failure to raise spades.

South realized that North might be worried about a very weak spade suit in the South hand, something such as J x x x. South's actual holding was so much better than this that he properly determined to make that fact clear. The spade rebid, therefore, was entirely justified. Also, it paved the way to an excellent contract. After hearing the rebid, North could afford to raise spades, and South, with two queens on the side which might be very valuable [they turned out to be vitally important] went to game, which was fulfilled without difficulty.

The notable point in this bidding sequence is North's timing of his spade raise. The player who doubles for a take-out should not raise the forced response at his first opportunity unless he holds excellent trump support. By bidding another suit and later raising the forced response, information is clearly conveyed that the responder needs some length or strength in the suit in order to proceed safely.

Young Wives Need Not Be Embarrassed Concerning This Intimate Problem

Because of natural shyness or lack of confidence in the knowledge of friends the uninformed young wife often hesitates to seek the advice of others. Instead, she risks health and happiness by use of over-strong solutions of acids for feminine hygiene which can actually burn, scar and harm delicate tissue.

Today such risks are needless. Science has given womankind Zonite. So powerful, it kills instantly all germs and bacteria with which it comes in contact. Deodorizes—by actually destroying odors. Protects personal daintiness. Yet! Zonite is non-caustic, non-poisonous, safe for delicate tissues. Over 20,000,000 bottles bought. Get Zonite at your druggist today.

Store Features Stunning Group of Spring Suits

BY REA SEEGER.

A well known store, which for years has featured the smoothest tailored suits ever unpacked, is now offering a superb collection for spring. Included is just the right item for you if you are very particular about your suits, demand something extra sleek and streamlined, watch tailored details like a hawk, and appreciate smart fabrics and distinctive accents, such as pockets, set-in belts, tricky shoulders, and band trim.

In this collection you'll find suits of every color, suits made of the finest woolens, checked weave sharkskins, smooth sharkskins, men's wear flannels, gabardines, all nationally famous fabrics with an established reputation for quality. There are street suits in tailored twosomes that fit with superlative smoothness, made of distinguished English and Scotch plaid patterns. There are black and white and navy and white fine checked woolen suits that have been brought back into fashion after a few seasons' neglect and there are solid colored suits with "picked" seams and details around the pockets.

You will find suits with four pockets or with two, suits with a casual turnover collar and a five button front closing; you'll find some new models with the jacket boasting a set-in and stitched belt to accent the clever back fullness, and, newer still, the suits with fine clusters of narrow tucks at the sides above the beltline to make the jackets fit with even more snap.

Two piece suits are better and smarter than ever before . . . no spring wardrobe will be complete without at least one. You'll wear them now under fur coats or jackets, later with a top coat and still later with fur scarfs.

Black and navy top the list of popular favorites, beige and gray next, and the high colors such as red, gold, and bright green third. After that the mixtures, plaids, and checks.

Chicago Area Artists' Show to Open Today

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The 46th annual exhibition by artists of Chicago and vicinity opens this afternoon at the Art institute with a formal reception to the exhibiting artists and the members of the institute, and opens tomorrow to the general public.

The exhibit is hung in the east wing galleries, according to custom, and will remain on view until April 26. The show is rather small, with 174 paintings and 26 pieces of sculpture, but the amount of bad painting distributed among the galleries is amazing, as is the versatility of the artists painting the poor pictures. To counteract the many surprises handed out in the effort to be different, there are a score or so of attractive, sane, sound, and pleasing canvases.

◆

The most expensive picture is that by Zsissly, "Deer Isle, Maine," which is listed at $3,750. Aside from its price the picture is competently painted and the detailed beach in the left foreground is beautifully handled. "Transplanting" by Harriet Krawiec, "Still Life" by Winifred Pleimling, "South May Street" by Marshall D. Smith, "Tradition Rests Heavily on Angela" by Hubert Ropp, and "Parting Day" by William S. Schwartz are among the pictures which leaven the show.

The Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan medal and $500 has been given to a sculpture in bronze, "Kneeling Women," by Abbott Lawrence Pattison. Salicia Bahnc, who has been living in Paris for a number of years, was awarded the Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Armstrong prize of $300 for "Composition," an arrangement of stout female forms suggestive of Rubens. The William H. Bartels prize of $300 went to Oscar Van Young for "Los Angeles Monday"; the Mr. and Mrs. Jule F. Brower prize of $300 was given to "Roses and Fish," by Copeland C. Burg. The delightful portrait of a young girl, "Sharon Jane, Twelve," by Eugene A. Montgomery, won the Municipal Art league prize of $100.

Laura Van Pappelendam, veteran instructor in the Art institute school, was awarded the Clyde M. Carr prize of $100 for "At the End of the Porch," an attractive painting. The Joseph N. Eisendrath prize of $100 went to "Harlequin Horsemen," by Raymond Breinin. Felix Ruvolo won the William and Bertha Clusmann prize of $100 with his "Girl with Dog"; Hedvig Kuhne was given the new Art Directors Club of Chicago prize of $100 for her terra cotta sculptured head of a girl, "Gloria." Maurice Ritman was awarded the Renaissance prize of $100 for his attractive "Still Life."

The prizes were awarded by the jury of the exhibition, Ernest Fiene, Peppino Mangravite, and Alfeo Faggi, with the exception of the Municipal Art league prize which was given by the Municipal Art league jury composed of Harry Engle, Jeffery Grant, and Mrs. Frances Barothy.

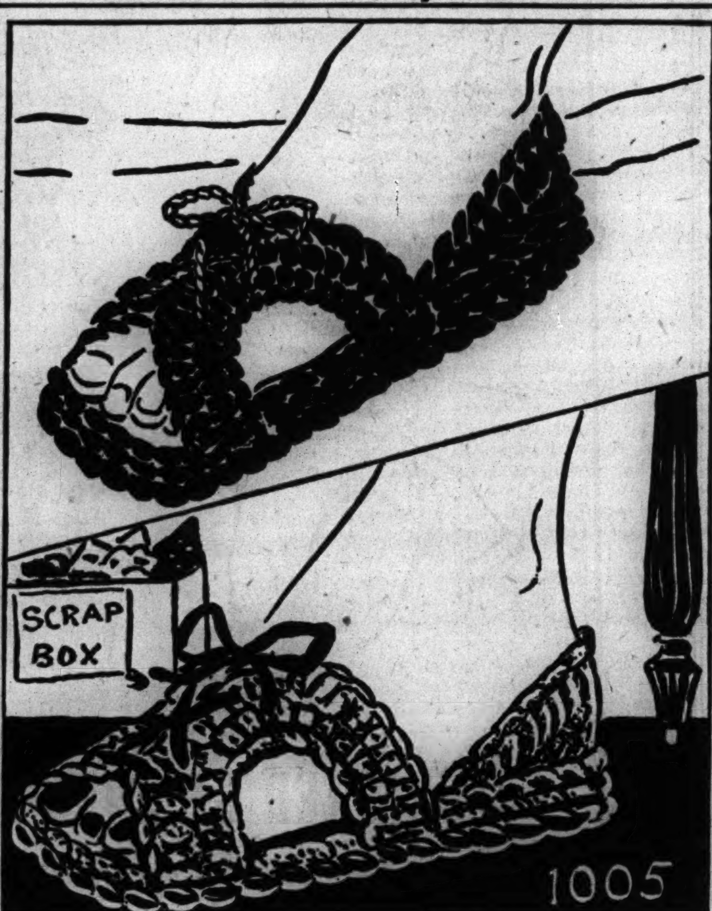
Crocheted Play Sandals



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Crocheted sandals with the open toe and supporting heel are popular favorites for all members of the family. They are cool and comfortable to wear around the house and also may be worn as play shoe or for beach wear. These sandals are not difficult to make and may be completed in a brief space of time.

For instructions in crocheting the play sandals, No. 1005, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Both Milstein and Audience Have Fine Time

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Every musician knows what intense pleasure there is in taking a relatively easy piece — something which has been mastered in youth, perhaps, and then forgotten—and tossing it off with that extra flourish which can come only with absolute mastery.

Yesterday in Orchestra hall the Russian violinist, Nathan Milstein, exhumed Lalo's Spanish symphony [not a hard piece as big concert pieces go] and, with the help of Frederick Stock and the Chicago Symphony orchestra, gave it a performance which obviously delighted him and which stirred his audience to rapid fire applause.

Under the Milstein hands the threadbare piece took on an unsuspected richness. Melodies which have long ceased to have any expressive power become beautiful again when they are delivered with a tone so opulent and radiant.

Dvorak's wonderful second symphony [which had been played last Thursday and Friday] was repeated at this concert. The orchestra—especially the woodwind section—outdid itself. The symphony's gentle melodies flowed with an exhilarating ease.

The program began with Smetana's symphonic poem, "Vysehrad" [which boasts one melody almost as good as the two great ones in the same composer's "The Moldau"]. Then David Van Vactor took the baton for a second performance of his "Gothic Impressions."

Further experience with the piece increases one's respect for its effectiveness and for the competence of its instrumentation.

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE.

Economical tongue takes its place as a company dish in this recipe which wins today's $5 prize for Mrs. Arthur A. Murphy, 6151 Winthrop avenue, Chicago. The leftover sliced tongue may be reheated in the sauce, or served cold with the sauce.

Fresh Tongue Delight.

4 to 5 pound fresh tongue
3 whole cloves
1 bay leaf
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 clove garlic
⅔ cup currant jelly
1 cup water
⅔ cup catsup

Wash tongue and place in large kettle. Cover with water and spices, vinegar, salt and pepper, and garlic. Simmer for 3 hours, or until tender. Skin tongue and place in baking pan. Combine jelly, water, and catsup, and melt together in saucepan. Pour over tongue in baking pan. Place in moderate oven and bake for one hour, basting with sauce. Add more water to sauce, if necessary.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

Could Be.

The letter was intended to discourage hoarding. Nothing good whatsoever, it stated emphatically, could be said for "the family hoarder." But, due to a stenographic slip, when it reached its destination the aspersions were cast on "the family boarder."

Thoughts While Buying a Book.

A survey shows that reading is the favorite diversion of the American woman. . . . The boy who goes off to camp and leaves behind a girl who likes to read can be pretty sure of a faithful heart. . . . If the week-end dash by business girls for good books at rental libraries is any indication, the boys have nothing to worry about. . . . Evidently the girls have discovered that reading annihilates time in adding to experience. . . . It may be a coincidence, but I've heard more men say a woman looks prettier with her head bent over a book than on the dance floor. . . . A gentle reminder from the favorite bookseller sets forth the three basic reasons for reading: To gain knowledge, to stretch the mental or spiritual horizon, to be entertained. "In this amazing year of our Lord, 1942," he concludes, "our reading must be arranged to embrace these three reasons."

How to Annoy a Salesgirl.

Ask her if she can wait on you next when there are three ahead of you.

Instead of thanking her courteously and departing, tell her you are meeting your mother [sister, girl friend, husband, or boy friend] for lunch and "will decide later."

Refuse to carry packages. [Remember she didn't make the rules.]

Ask for special attention or a hurry-up job because you know Mr. Vice President so very well. [All salesgirls know this stunt. Often the customers who ask for favors under such circumstances don't even get the name straight of the "very dear, old friend" in the firm. Baloney!]

Discouragement Note.

Altho Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, head of the selective service, speaking before a group of business men the other evening, told them there would be fewer and fewer deferments granted to military age men in defense industries [thus increasing the necessity of training women to take over the jobs]—still letters continue to come to this column from discouraged job hunters.

Thirty-five years old. And thoroly experienced in office work—filing, switchboard, typing, etc., yet having a hard time trying to get a job. Why? Doesn't experience count at all? Is the younger element to be catered to entirely? These are the questions scattered unhappily thru the letters. You try to make a good appearance, but after you walk all day you are bedraggled and desperate, wondering where on earth you can earn an honest dollar. If employers would only think there should be "unity" in these times—and forget ages—there would be a lot of happy employed "older" women, one unemployed office worker writes, adding "What will tomorrow bring? Have you ever looked for a job? Been down to your last dollar? I hope not—it does things to you inside."

Quick prune bread is almost as good as the yeast kind, and it's much simpler to make. Allow it to "ripen" for a day before cutting. It will slice more easily and have a better flavor after 24 hours. Prune bread makes grand luncheon sandwiches, with lettuce and cream or American cheese.

Quick Prune Bread.
[Large Loaf.]

3 cups sifted flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons sugar
1 cup finely chopped prunes [cooked]
½ cup chopped nuts
1 egg, beaten
1½ cups milk and juice from prunes
¼ cup melted shortening

Sift flour, baking powder, soda, salt, and sugar together. Add prunes and nuts. Combine egg, milk and shortening, and add all at once to dry mixture. Stir to blend. Pour into greased loaf pan and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes to 1 hour. The grated rind of half an orange may be added for flavor accent. Add it with prunes.

The soy bean is one of the most versatile and useful of vegetables. In the orient it has been known as "poor man's meat" for centuries, but its use as human food in this country is quite new. Out of soy bean meal comes flour for baking, the oil is useful in cooking and for commercial purposes such as paint and varnish making, and the production of glycerine. Soy bean protein is used for plastic materials, adhesives, a fiber which may be used in cloth, among other things.

Soy beans contain a high quality protein, and are rich in minerals and vitamins. They are excellent food for the low cost diet.

HOW TO COOK DRY SOY BEANS.

Soak the beans for 3 hours, or overnight, in 3 cups of water for each cup of beans. Drain and cook for about 1½ hours in fresh, salted water to cover. Beans more than double their bulk after soaking and cooking.

Soy Bean Casserole.
[Serves Four.]

3 cups cooked soy beans
½ teaspoon dry mustard
2 tablespoons molasses
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 onion
¼ pound diced salt pork
1 cup boiling water

Place beans in baking dish and add seasonings. Place onion in center of dish, or slice it into the beans. Place salt pork on top. Add boiling water. Bake at 350 degrees for 2 hours.

Soy beans have a very rich, nutty flavor, best contrasted in any meal with a crisp green salad.

Maple Sugar Apple Crisp.
[Serves Five.]

4 cups sliced apples
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
⅓ cup water
½ cup maple sugar, crushed
¾ cup flour
½ cup butter

Slice apples into greased baking dish. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon and add water. Combine maple sugar, flour, and butter, rubbing to coarse crumbs. Sprinkle over apples and bake at 350 degrees for half an hour, or until apples are tender and topping is brown.

Interest Still High in Badminton Tourney.

There aren't many competitors coming from out of town for the annual midwest badminton tournament this week-end, but the fact that the entries are only a few less than last year's all time high indicate that there is no loss of interest. Defense work is holding the usual Detroit delegation from 30, as of last year, to a mere three, and the same is true of other cities. Even the defending champion, Jack Burns of Detroit, feels that he can't take three days off from his vital defense work to defend his title.

The tournament will open at 7 o'clock Friday night in the Evanston High school gymnasium. Matches will continue from 10 o'clock in the morning to midnight Saturday and the semi-finals will be played at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. A luncheon and cocktail party at the Villa Moderne preceding the finals at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon will be the only social entertaining on schedule, except for a few small parties for visiting players. A ticket for the entire series at $1.25 or for individual sessions at varying prices may be obtained at the gate.

Miss Marion Woolhiser to Become Bride Today.

A tennis champion whose marriage is taking place today is Miss Marion Woolhiser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Woolhiser of Winnetka. She and Robert Case Bennett Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Bennett of Highland Park, will be married at 8:30 o'clock in the chapel of the Winnetka Congregational church, the Rev. Samuel D. Harkness officiating. A reception will follow at the Woolhiser home. The bridegroom's mother, the former Elizabeth Klotz, is a well known golfer.

The bride's younger sister, Jean, who also is well known on the tennis courts, is to be maid of honor. Her engagement to Ensign William M. Belding was announced recently. Ensign Belding will not be here for the wedding, as he is on active duty.

Mount Vernon, another of the tournament contenders, gained its 26th victory in 31 games by overwhelming Galatia, 58 to 30, in Centralia.

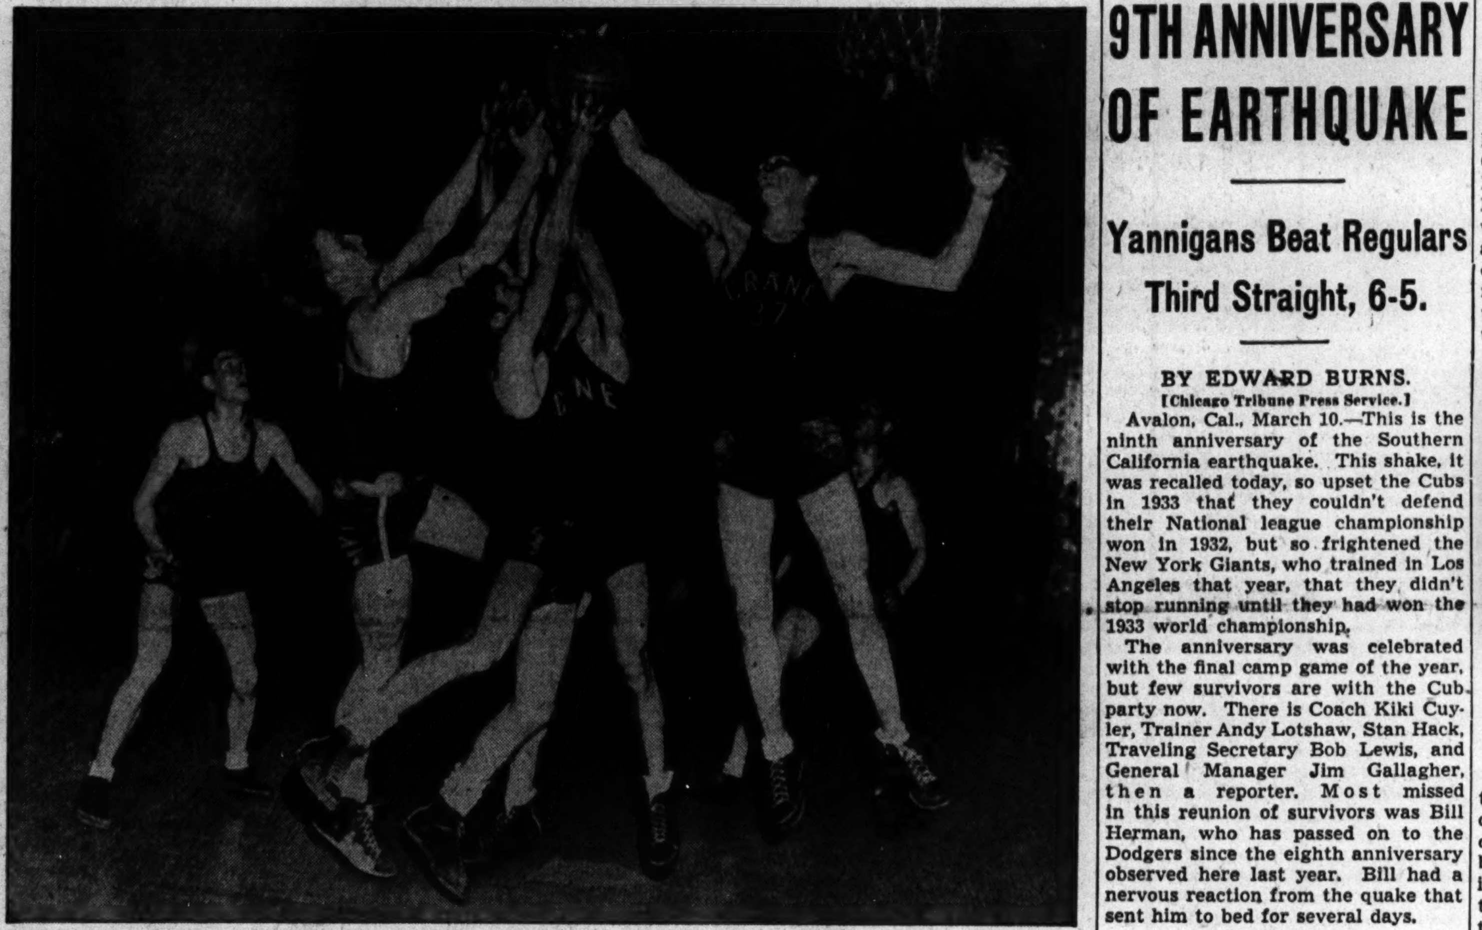
Four Preps with but a Single Thought



Four players went up in the air for this rebound in the Kelly-Crane seniors game in Marshall gymnasium yesterday afternoon, but Abe Troop of Crane, at right with hand on ball, gained possession. At the left of the quartet of jumpers is Bob Pelster of Kelly, while the two Crane players in the center are also trying to retrieve the ball. Kelly won the game, 36 to 28, to gain the finals in the public high school city tournament.

Kelly Defeats Crane, 36-28; Reaches Senior City Final

The Kelly seniors reached the finals of the city high school basketball championship competition yesterday when they defeated Crane Tech, 36 to 28, at Marshall.

Al Misevich scored 13 points for Kelly and Abe Troop was the sharpshooter for Crane with 11 points.

Play was about even for three-quarters with the score 27-27 going into the final period. By this time competition was getting rough with Misevich and Manny Begun engaged in a personal feud that finally caused both to be banished. Their tactics incited a fan who jumped out upon the floor with every intent of making it a battle royal. His action was the signal for the spectators to surge forward.

Riot Is Checked.

The officials, Lenny Sachs and George Boyle, aided by a couple of policemen, managed to nip a budding riot in about two minutes. After the game a police squad was on hand to prevent further trouble.

The second place central section team, Lindblom, is paired with the first place Wells quintet of the west section at Gage Park today in the other senior semi-final. Lindblom won from Manley 33 to 18 and Wells beat Schurz 34 to 28 in the quarter-finals.

Four undefeated teams will clash in the junior semi-finals this afternoon.

Marshall, defending champion, which won nine in the west section and then defeated Roosevelt 48 to 23 in the quarter-finals, will meet Waller, victor in the north section and highest point maker in the entire league sectional play, at Lane Tech.

Waller Has Power.

Waller compiled the total of 543 points to 324 by opponents, including the quarter-final triumph over Crane, 40 to 29.

Parker captured the south section honors by winning nine assignments and will battle Tilden, central section champ, at the Chicago Teachers college.

ILLINOIS MAKES NO COMMENT ON PHILLIPS RULING

Champaign, Ill., March 10 [Special]. —University of Illinois Athletic association officials tonight would make no comment on the ruling made yesterday by the state industrial commission, ordering the association to pay permanent disability allowance to Douglas A. Phillips, a university student who was injured in the university swimming pool nearly two years ago.

C. E. Bowen, manager of the association, said that no announcement will be made until the university legal counsel has studied the ruling, which was mailed from Chicago last night. The industrial commission ordered the athletic association to pay Phillips $4,641.90 and, after four years have elapsed, a pension of $200 annually.

Phillips was injured during a water carnival when his head struck the bottom of the pool. The industrial commission claims that the Tribe of Illini, sponsor of the carnival, received part of the gate receipts and ruled that, because of this consideration, the participants were employés of the association and thus protected by the workmen's compensation law.

Princeton Drops Frosh Sports Until War's End

Princeton, N. J., March 10 [Special]. —All freshman sports activities at Princeton university will be abolished next fall for the duration of the war, R. Kenneth Fairman, graduate manager of athletics, announced today.

WALSH TO TAKE CROWLEY'S POST UNTIL WAR ENDS

New York, March 10 [Special].—Fordham's wartime football teams will be coached by Jim Crowley's assistants, with Earl Francis Walsh, former Notre Dame star, acting head coach.

The six man board of athletic control met tonight and granted Crowley a leave of absence to enable him to accept a lieutenant commander's commission in the United States navy air force. In announcing the board's action, the Very Rev. Robert I. Gannon, S. J., Fordham president, who had said last week that a nationally known figure would succeed Crowley, stated, "the name coach selected to succeed Jim Crowley at Fordham is Jim Crowley."

Developed Frank Leahy.

Walsh, 41 year old bachelor who was a running mate of George Gipp and as a high school coach at Winner, S. D., developed Frank Leahy, Notre Dame coach, said he was pleasantly surprised.

"I'm mighty proud to fill in for Jim Crowley while he's away doing his bit for the country," said the gray haired lawyer-coach who divided his duties under Crowley between back field coaching and scouting.

Carrying on with Walsh will be Glen Carberry, Ed Kosky, Nat Pierce, and Ed Franco.

Walsh an Iowa Native.

Walsh, a native of Iowa, played on the first great Knute Rockne teams of 1919, 1920, and 1921 at Notre Dame. He was a star baseball and track athlete before graduating in 1922. He might have made the big leagues as a ball player, but took up coaching at Winner high school. Leahy, his most outstanding pupil, followed him to South Bend.

From 1923 to 1932 Walsh was athletic director and head football coach at Dowling college in Des Moines. When Crowley came to Fordham in 1933, he brought Walsh along.

Crowley, who still has two years of a five year contract at an estimated $12,000 at Fordham, will be assigned to training naval air cadets in the new three month football toughening routine under Lieut. Comm. Tom Hamilton, former navy coach.

CUBS CELEBRATE 9TH ANNIVERSARY OF EARTHQUAKE

Yannigans Beat Regulars Third Straight, 6-5.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., March 10.—This is the ninth anniversary of the Southern California earthquake. This shake, it was recalled today, so upset the Cubs in 1933 that they couldn't defend their National league championship won in 1932, but so frightened the New York Giants, who trained in Los Angeles that year, that they didn't stop running until they had won the 1933 world championship.

The anniversary was celebrated with the final camp game of the year, but few survivors are with the Cub party now. There is Coach Kiki Cuyler, Trainer Andy Lotshaw, Stan Hack, Traveling Secretary Bob Lewis, and General Manager Jim Gallagher, then a reporter. Most missed in this reunion of survivors was Bill Herman, who has passed on to the Dodgers since the eighth anniversary observed here last year. Bill had a nervous reaction from the quake that sent him to bed for several days.

Avalon Disagrees.

Residents of Avalon refused to participate in recollections of the quake. "It was nothing to the shake this island got shortly after Dec. 7 and has been getting ever since," is the way one of the resident business men explained apathy toward the ninth anniversary of the earthquake.

The game today, won by the Yannigans, 6 to 5, was the seventh intraclub game and the third between the socalled Regulars and the Yannigans. The first four games, between teams chosen on an alternate basis by Catchers McCullough and Bob Scheffing, resulted in two victories for each side.

These games, played for cash pools contributed by the players, were becoming a bit too spirited to coincide with Manager Jim Wilson's ideas of gradual conditioning. So Skipper Jim disbanded McCullough's Night Owls and Scheffing's Grumpies and restored the old Regular and Yannigan system. In the first two games the Yannigans showed the same spirit they had shown in the games for cash but the Regulars were a mite listless and took severe drubbings.

Triples Decide Game.

In making it a sweep of the Regular-Yannigan series today the Yannigans supplied the margin of victory on enormous triples by Chico Hernandez and Frank Jelincich. A swat by the latter off Ken Raffensberger in the ninth traveled 460 feet in the air and bounced against the 487 foot marker on the center field wall.

Bill Nicholson socked a homer and two singles for the losers and Stan Hack made two doubles.

Boston, Mass., March 10 [Special]. —The Bruins clinched third place in the National Hockey league tonight by beating the Chicago Blackhawks, 9 to 1, before 8,600. Five of the Boston goals came in the third period.

The victory not only evened the Bruins' season record with the Hawks at three triumphs, three losses, and two ties, but also improved the Bruins' chances of eliminating the fourth place Hawks when, as seems likely, the two teams clash in the Stanley Cup play-offs.

Hawks Lead—for Five Minutes.

Should the Hawks finish fourth, the clubs will open their playoff series in Chicago Stadium March 22. The second and, if necessary, third game will be played in Boston Garden March 24 and 26. Had the Hawks succeeded in their efforts to take third place from the Bruins, the third game of the series would have reverted to Chicago and the Hawks would have had the advantage of playing the decisive game on their home ice.

The Hawks struck swiftly in the first period. Red Hamill skated in close and bounced the puck off the Boston goal post. Bob Carse grabbed the rebound, passed to Bill Mosienko in front of the goal, and he netted the puck at 1:14.

The lead stood for five minutes until Flash Hollett passed to Gordie Bruce in center ice. Bruce stickhandled thru the Chicago defense, pulled Sammy Lo Presti out of the cage, and scored at 6:10.

Worse and Worse!

The Bruins added three goals in the second period. Des Smith beat Lo Presti at 4:40 after a rink long dash with Herb Cain. Hollett made it 3 to 1 at 5:58 by driving Bruce's long pass thru Lo Presti. Roy Conacher scored at 12:38 on a 30 foot shot. Busher Jackson, who set up the play with a pass from the Chicago blue line, was credited with an assist.

Bill Carse was sent off for interference, and before he returned, at 4:08 in the third period, Jack Shewchuk rifled a 55 foot shot thru Lo Presti to increase the Bruins' lead to 5 to 1.

Bill Carse went off again, along with McGill for high sticking. Before they returned, Hollett slid in his second goal on a solo run at 11:41.

Dutch Hiller Is Injured.

At 17:25, Art Jackson batted the puck out of a center ice face-off in the Chicago zone and Herb Cain beat Lo Presti for Boston's seventh tally. During the last minute of play Gronsdal fed scoring passes to Conacher and Jack McGill to run up the Bruins' lead to 9 to 1.

The victory may prove costly for the Bruins who lost their diminutive winger, Dutch Hiller, for an indefinite period. Hiller suffered a lacerated ear when he was struck by a stick. He was carried to the dressing room, where eight stitches were required to close the wound.

The Hawks will conclude their regular home schedule against the New York Rangers Sunday night in Chicago Stadium.

WAR PROBLEMS FACING GOLFERS TACKLED BY CDGA

Plans Are Laid for Hale America Tourney.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The board of directors of the Chicago District Golf association, who this season face one of the game's biggest undertakings, yesterday gathered in the La Salle hotel to formulate plans for that job—the Hale America National Open tournament, to be played at the Ridgemoor Country club on June 18, 19, 20, and 21. President Thomas G. McMahon of Skokie, Larry Rutherford of Medinah, co-chairman of the event, and Ted Quinn of Riverside, CDGA tournament chairman, and their associates evolved a list of 23 committees to handle the multitude of problems bound to arise from the tournament.

The CDGA, the Ridgemoor club, the United States Golf association, and the Professional Golfers' Association of America will be represented with co-chairmen on a majority of the committees, so that the duties of each can be coördinated.

Caddie Shortage Seen.

One of the reports filed was made by Lynn S. Broaddus of Elmhurst, chairman of the association's caddie committee. Caddies will be one of the most important factors in the game this year, since selective service and defense jobs have taken away older bag toters by the thousands, necessitating the use of younger and generally untrained boys.

The three leagues—North Shore, West District, and South District—have agreed to continue competition for 1942, Dr. John A. Walters of Kildeer, chairman of the interclub league committee, reported.

F. Ray Bowen of Park Ridge and the North Shore league announced the dates for his organization and is now arranging a schedule of five matches rather than the eight in use before. The reduction is being tried because business activities are certain to cut into the hours usually devoted to golf.

League Dates Set.

The dates for the five North Shore matches are May 20 at Evanston, June 10 at Skokie, July 8 at Park Ridge, Aug. 12 at Edgewater, and Sept. 9 at Westmoreland. The other three north members are North Shore, Sunset Ridge, and Ridgemoor. The interleague championship, involving the three champions, is set for Sept. 16, probably at a neutral south side club.

The North Shore league also is contemplating a scoring system whereby the results of matches would count as one point instead of the present system of cumulative match points won over a season.

Parham Makes His Chicago Debut Tonight

Charley [Peewee] Parham of Detroit, one of the hardest hitting junior welterweights in boxing, will make his Chicago debut in an eight round bout against Cleo McNeal of Akron, O., tonight in Midway arena, 6115 Cottage Grove avenue. In an earlier appearance in the south side club McNeal was defeated in 10 rounds by Leonard Bennett on Feb. 13.

Gene Spencer, South Chicago lightweight, originally scheduled to meet Parham, yesterday was signed to fight Jimmy Joyce of Gary in a five round supporting match instead. Spencer conquered Sam Scully on Feb. 20 and Jimmy beat Bill Parsons Feb. 13 in previous appearances in the Midway arena. Other matches:

Bill Petersen, Indiana Harbor, vs. William [Moose] Kennedy, Gary [8], heavyweights.
Bessie Williams vs. Herman Hayes [5], 175.
Vito Rizzo vs. Jimmy Santora [4], 133.

Jim Londos, former heavyweight wrestling champion, who threw Ole Olson in White City on Monday, will return to action in Rainbo Fronton, 4836 North Clark street, this evening against Rudy Kay. . . . There also will be an amateur boxing program tonight in Cicero stadium, 19th street and 52d avenue, headed by a five round event between Harold Lang, giant Seward park boxer, and Cairo Hodges.

Most Valuable Men Chosen by Indiana, Purdue

Indiana university has named its captain, Andy Zimmer, and Purdue its senior forward, Frosty Sprowl, as their most valuable players in the competition for the W-G-N trophy which goes to the most valuable player in Western conference basketball for the season of 1941-'42.

The naming of these players last night brought to four the players selected thus far by the individual schools. Previously Illinois had named its sophomore guard, Andy Phillip, and Iowa its junior forward, Tom Chapman.

Zimmer led the Hoosiers into a second place tie in the final Big Ten standings by scoring 110 points in conference play. Sprowl was named Purdue's most valuable for the second straight year. He finished fourth in the conference scoring race with 186 points.

Harper, Keiser Rout Sarazen, Hogan, 5 and 4

Miami, Fla., March 10 [Special].—A couple of long shots—off the tee and with the betters—reached the final round of the Biltmore International Four Ball tournament this afternoon.

Jack Grout, Pittston, Pa., professional, paired with Ben Loving of Biltmore, sank a 60 foot chip shot on the 36th green for a 1 up victory over Jimmy Hines of New York and Willie Goggin of San Francisco.

Herman Keiser of Akron, O., and Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., defeated the defending champions, Gene Sarazen and Ben Hogan, 5 and 4.

With only four holes to go, Grout and Loving were two down, after Hines and Goggin had fired a 29, six under par, on the first nine of the afternoon round. Then Grout took command. He knocked in a four foot putt on the 553 yard 33d for the birdie four that won the hole when Goggin's putt slid past.

Grout smacked his second shot on the 400 yard 34th seven feet from the pin and made a perfect putt. They halved the 396 yard 35th in par 4s and the stage was set for Grout's coup de grace.

Grout and Loving did the morning 18 in 30—35—65 to go to lunch two up. They turned in a best ball 34—31—65 this afternoon.

OLD GRAND-DAD
Head of the Bourbon Family

THE truest words ever written about this whiskey were, "I'd know that taste in the dark." For it kisses the lips with an ardor that glows in the memory, and it warms the tongue as a sunbeam warms a Kentucky meadow on a day in June. Try its nectar for yourself, and you'll know why Old Grand-Dad deserves its fame as Head of the Bourbon Family.

DETROIT PLAYS OSHKOSH FOR PRO TITLE TONIGHT

Eagles Top Flyers, 44-43; All-Stars Whip Trotters.

Bud Jeanette and Jerry Bush last night led the Detroit Eagles, defending champions, into the professional basketball tournament finals at the International amphitheater. Between them they scored 27 points in the Eagles' 44 to 43 overtime victory over the Grumman Flying V's of Long Island, N. Y., before 8,200 fans. The championship and third place games will be played tonight in the Amphitheater, 42d and Halsted streets.

Oshkosh qualified as Detroit's opponent for the title by rallying to beat the Harlem Globe Trotters, 48 to 41. The losers were ahead at the half, 23 to 17. The Grummans and Trotters will meet for third place honors.

Bush Gets Eight Baskets.

The Detroit-Grumman contest was a battle from the opening whistle and Bush's long shots kept the champions in the game as the first half ended 20 to 19. Six of Bush's eight field goals were scored in the first two periods. Jeanette's outstanding contribution was an aggressive floor game.

In the fourth period the Grummans enjoyed a 36 to 31 lead but Bush's shots from the field, a short goal by Ahearn and a free throw gave the Eagles the lead with seconds to play. Irv Torgoff then counted from the center to tie it up at 38-all and force the contest into overtime.

Jeanette Clinches It.

During the extra period Jeanette played Grummans off their feet with the result that he was fouled frequently and cashed in for all six free tosses in overtime. Score:

Freisinger to Open Skating Classes Today

Leo Freisinger, former Silver Skates champion and an internationally known speed skater and a former Norwegian champion who now is a member of the Norwegian royal exiled air force, will instruct in a series of races this morning on a portable rink at Tilden Technical High school. The name of the flyer cannot be given since relatives live in Norway. He is in training in Canada.

The program is sponsored by the skating association. Instructions also will be given tomorrow morning from 9 to 12 at Taft High school on the northwest side.

Physical Fitness Program.

"This is the skating association's contribution to physical fitness," Pete Miller, president of the Amateur Skating Union of America, said yesterday in announcing the dates.

The ASU also may make a move to divorce roller skating from its direct jurisdiction, according to Miller. At the convention of the Amateur Athletic union in Philadelphia last November the ASU was given four months in which to exert control over the activities of amateur roller skaters which many believed did not strictly observe the amateur code.

Roller Skating Conference.

The four months expires March 22. The ASU has had jurisdiction over speed skating and figure skating, as well as roller skating. Conferences recently were held by Miller, Sid Novak, secretary of the ASU; Dan Ferris, national secretary of the AAU, and J. Lyman Bingham, assistant to the president of the AAU.

"One solution may be an appointment of a commissioner for amateur roller skating," Miller said last night. "There are 3,500 roller skating rinks in the country and if these are organized by clubs of skaters and they then affiliate with the ASU thru a commissioner they should avoid the charges of professionalism now made because skating is said to be controled by the rink owners."

Marquette's Five Loses to Sailors, 52-48

The Great Lakes Naval Training station's basketball team rallied in the second half last night to defeat Marquette university, 52 to 48, at Great Lakes. The Hilltoppers led at half time, 28 to 25. Shortly after the second half began Great Lakes tied the score, 31 to 31. Dick Klein, former Northwestern star, broke the tie with a basket and the sailors went on to build up an eight point lead, which Marquette vainly tried to overcome in a late second half rally. It was the sailors' 29th victory in 34 games. Lineup:

If Roller Derby Rough Stuff Makes You Boil—You're a Fan

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Why, things happen at the Roller Derby that just make your blood boil. Why, the pathos of the frustrated hero is enough to take your heart out and wring it. And the arrogance of the leering villain! There's something to bring you up booing. No wonder the management has to turn the crowds away from the doors of the Coliseum on the big nights. It's terrific.

You should have seen it last night. Even tho it was a comparatively dull evening the regulars were whooping it up. A gallant little fellow in white [a member of the Chicago team, the manager explained] was trying to pass a hulking lout wearing a black and orange jacket [a member of the California team].

All the lad in white had to do was get by the villain and he would have lapped the field, thereby earning a point for Chicago—and the score was then 84 to 79 [or else it was 184 to 79—the board was a bit indistinct]. At any rate the suspense was terrific.

O, That Villain!

They were skating at blazing speed round and round the turns. The noise was so loud you had to roar at yourself to think. Then it happened. It was terrible. The L. F. I. W. [little fellow in white] was just about to get to the front on one of the turns when the L. V. [leering villain] gave him the hip. The L. F. I. W. went careening into the rail. Plunging half over he dangled by his stomach, his feet waving pitifully on one side of the fence and his head and arms drooping on the other.

The crowd was up booing and hooting at the L. V. But do you suppose it disturbed him in the least? Not him. He swung around the course, actually gloating at his foul tactics. Coming around again to the point where his base deed had been perpetrated, do you suppose he bent over his victim with the kindly regret of a generous conqueror? He did not. Do you know what the leering villain did? He leered.

All righteous persons among the spectators promptly turned toward the officials, expecting that the inexorably just whistle blower would blast the evil fellow off the track. But the referee regarded the entire proceedings with a jaundiced eye. He glared with imperturbable coldness both at the mocking villain and at his pitiful victim [who now was on his feet, skating warily along and seeking a chance to give somebody else the hip].

And More Derby Fans Are Made.

Then the full horror broke upon the uninitiated spectators. They realized that such tactics are not only condoned but are actually legal. It was terrific. The drama and the pathos of it stirred them. Right away they became Roller Derby fans. Making inquiries they learned that Chicago's team of five boys and five girls have been skating against California's team of five boys and five girls since a week ago last night. And they threaten to continue to do so until March 29.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 10 (AP).—Jack [Pop] Cooper, 64 year old Kansas City, Mo., driver, added the national 91 cubic inch class hydroplane championship to his long list of speedboat conquests in the southland regatta today. It was almost a photo finish.

Cooper averaged 47.23 miles per hour to win the first heat by four boat lengths.

Miami, O., Signs Holcomb, W. & J. Football Coach

Oxford, O., March 10 (AP).—Stuart Holcomb, 32 year old football and track coach at Washington and Jefferson college, Washington, Pa., today was appointed head football coach at Miami university here.

Holcomb's appointment was announced by Merlin A. Ditmer, director of intercollegiate athletics, and ended a three month search for a successor to Frank Wilton, whose resignation becomes effective in June.

Holcomb, captain of the [illegible] State university football team, coached football at Findlay college and Muskingum college before going to Washington and Jefferson last season. He will come here next Tuesday to direct spring football practice.

Washington and Jefferson college issued a statement saying "the precipitate haste of the appointment, acceptance and announcement gives our board of trustees no opportunity to act in any way. . . . We can only express our profound disappointment and our good wishes to Mr. Holcomb. . . ."

The statement was signed by W. and J. President Ralph H. Hutchinson and W. F. [Pete] Henry, the college's athletic director.

Loop to See Free Bowling School Today

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

The Chicago Tribune Free Bowling School will hold sessions in the loop for the first time today, and its program, predicated on the belief that persons in the loop most eager to gain instruction are the loop workers themselves, will start at 11:30 a. m. The place will be the Congress Recreation center, 31 East Congress street, where Instructor Andy Varipapa will do his teaching on the third floor section of 20 alleys.

Andy will start his lecture at 11:30 and by noon when most of the office and store workers are expected to flock in, will be on the approaches to do his teaching. His assistant, six year old Twinkle Watts, probably will bowl a game or two during the noon hour also. The teaching is to continue well into the afternoon.

Trick Shots at Night.

Then at 11 p. m., after the Congress Women's Major league has finished its weekly matches, Andy and Twinkle will be back for matches and Andy's trick shots.

Andy, Twinkle and Dr. A. R. Wyant, the latter captain of the University of Chicago football team in 1893, bowled a game as the feature of the school's session yesterday at Schalk's Evergreen Towers, but Andy's course of instruction was what interested the bowlers most. Many of them were beginners who needed a little encouragement along with coaching.

At Park Manor Tomorrow.

Tomorrow the school moves to Park Manor, 100 East 75th street, where Dom De Vito has scheduled it at from 2 to 5 and 11 p. m. Friday it returns to the loop for an afternoon session at Bensinger's Adams-Wabash center and an evening class at Bensinger's 29 West Randolph alleys.

The Tribune school is to go to a western suburb for the first time next Tuesday, the Grove recreation at Downers Grove having booked it. The afternoon session there will go on at 2 p. m. and the evening matches and trick shots at 9 o'clock. The following day it will be back on the south side, at Beverly recreation, Ashland avenue at 94th street.

Wright Won't Like This: He'll Hit 4th for Sox

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., March 10.—It's beginning to look as if Taft Wright, the jovial bachelor who splits every 12 months between playing right field for the White Sox and supervising his North Carolina farm, may not have a very enjoyable summer.

There are two things in the world of which Taft craves no part. One of them is calisthenics which launch the daily training drills and the other an assignment to the fourth, or cleanup post, in the batting order.

As Manager Jimmie Dykes remarked today while going over his various problems [one of which was disposed of by the signing of the superconfident Dave Philley] it may be necessary to overlook Wright's personal opinion as to where he should bat. Wright is a consistent power hitter and there is no other fellow possessing such qualifications. So fourth is where Wright may have to take his swinging turn.

A Matter of Psychology.

As against Wright's claim that the cleanup responsibilities annoy him so much that he can't hit, it might be well to string along with Dykes' judgment. Wright was in and out of the cleanup rôle several times last season. He'd go back in there when experiments proved it was no place for the now absent Luke Appling, but he'd get out of it again by constant complaining to the boss. But he didn't do badly either as No. 4 or No. 5, proof of which was his .322 batting average. It is merely a complex and the chubby one probably would forget it if he happened to get off to a flying start, which is what Dykes predicts he'll do.

Despite the uncertainty surrounding the cleanup spot, Dykes refuses to give any consideration to Wally Moses, the ex-Athletic, as a candidate. Wally never hit under .300 in his seven seasons with Philadelphia and you'd think that with such a recommendation he might be a logical nominee under the prevailing conditions.

An Assist for Dykes.

But Dykes argues that Moses is the type who should lead off or swing second or third. For the time being Moses will bat second and Wright fifth, but all this will be changed by developments, one of which could be the appearance of Holdout Appling.

The strange case of Philley, a 21 year old rookie from a class C league, was cleaned up hurriedly when Dykes decided the time had arrived for employment of his oratory. Philley had been around since Saturday evening but hadn't seen the training grounds. He wouldn't even start back to his Texas home after refusing a chance to sign yesterday. So Dykes took him in tow in the hotel lobby this morning, pouring forth some fatherly advice about kids having exaggerated notions of unproved ability.

Dykes pointed out he hoped Philley's claim of being a sure fire big leaguer was correct; that a player of this type is just what the Sox need.

Now It's Up to Philley.

"After you have shown you are a big leaguer," declared Dykes, "you'll get the money and don't worry about that."

The stocky lad let the advice soak in for a few minutes, grabbed a paper bag in which to carry his shoes and glove and hustled to the park for his first attempt to stake out his claim on fame. And that concludes the Philley incident.

Memories of the influenza epidemic that flattened half the squad here last spring were revived when Tom Turner couldn't answer the breakfast assembly call. During the night he started sniffling and confined his activities today to drinking lemon, orange and grapefruit juices. Turner was billed to do the catching in the opening exhibition with the Cubs Friday, but now it will be George Dickey.

Dykes now has definitely arranged his pitching program for Friday's game. He switched from two rookies and Bill Dietrich to Ed Weiland, Orval Grove, and Joe Haynes for three innings apiece.

Priddy's Hit in 11th Beats Red Sox, 3 to 1

Sarasota, Fla., March 10 [Special].—Gerry Priddy, who was given the third base job today when Manager Joe McCarthy received word that Red Rolfe may not play ball again, celebrated his new status with the world champion Yankees by driving out a two run single in the 11th inning that defeated the Boston Red Sox, 3 to 1, before 1,680.

Rolfe had telephoned President Ed Barrow in New York that he again was suffering from colitis and that, pending examination by a specialist in Toledo, O., would not know what his ultimate decision would be.

The Yanks were held to one hit in the first five innings by Norman Brown, a Piedmont league rookie right hander. The champions tied the score in the eighth on a single by Phil Rizzuto and a double by Ed Levy. A great throw by Mike Chartak cut down what would have been the winning run for Boston in the eighth inning.

Ted Williams, Red Sox slugger, arrived in camp today and started swinging a bat to loosen the kinks incurred by a four day auto trip from Minneapolis.

A'S WIN ON BUNT.

Fullerton, Cal., March 10 (AP).—The Athletics broke a four game losing streak today by scoring a run in the ninth inning on a squeeze play by Eddie Collins Jr. to beat Sacramento of the Pacific Coast league, 5 to 4.

Collins' bunt brought Mike Kreevich home from third with the winning run. A home run by Al Rubeling with two on in the eighth had given the A's a 4 to 3 lead, but Sacramento tied it on two hits and two walks.

TIGERS PICK LINEUP.

Lakeland, Fla., March 10 (AP).—Manager Del Baker today turned his attention to selection of a Detroit batting lineup for the Tigers' first exhibition game here Friday with the St. Louis Cardinals. It appeared the Detroit batting order not only for the exhibition series but for the American league season would be:

Billy Hitchcock, shortstop, or Jimmy Bloodworth, second base; Roger Cramer, center field; Barney McCosky, left field; Rudy York or Rip Radcliff, first base; Pinky Higgins, third base; Don Ross or Bob Patrick, right field; Birdie Tebbets, catcher. Paul Trout and Hal Newhouser will pitch Friday.

General Manager Jack Zeller disclosed that all American league clubs had agreed to waivers on Catcher Billy Sullivan, a holdout along with York and Pitchers Buck Newsom, Johnny Gorsica, and Luther Thomas.

MIZE IS DOWN AGAIN.

Miami, Fla., March 10 (AP).—The tendon in the right shoulder of Johnny Mize, huge first baseman obtained from the St. Louis Cardinals during the winter, popped out of place again today after staying put since last Friday. Mize immediately went to a doctor and Mel Ott, the new manager of the New York Giants, said the big infielder would be given plenty of rest before being allowed to join his mates this time.

"He threw too soon," Ott explained. "Immediately after last Friday's treatment he started throwing. By Monday he was confident his troubles were over, but they weren't."

Babe Young, last year's regular at the spot, took over first base in the workout.

DAIRY FARMERS VOTE TO FIGHT CIO INTRUSION

Report Labor Has Nothing to Aid Agriculture.

A protest against the CIO campaign to unionize the nation's 3,500,000 dairy farmers was made yesterday at a meeting of the Pure Milk association in Hotel Sherman. A. H. Lauterbach, general manager of the marketing coöperative of 12,000 dairy farmers in Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin, said that there is no common ground for labor and farmers in the same organization.

"We have seen that tried in Minnesota and North Dakota, where labor and farmers formed a political party," Lauterbach said. "Labor outnumbered the farmers, and farmers received few benefits."

Resent Efforts to Organize.

A resolution adopted at the meeting said that, "As experienced dairy farmers, we resent the efforts of union leaders to organize farmers in an effort to promote their own selfish interests.

"An analysis of the problem reveals a lack of knowledge and appreciation of the problems of agriculture on the parts of these outside groups and their leaders.

"Organized labor is and must be primarily concerned with the welfare of labor. Farming is a way of life as well as a means of making a living.

Make Fabulous Promises.

"We condemn any effort on the part of organized labor to extend its organizations, policies or methods into the ranks of agriculture and warn our members and all other farmers to be on the alert against joining the ranks of outside groups, making fabulous, inconsistent or impossible promises which cannot be fulfilled."

Lauterbach spoke of the shortage of farm help. He said farm boys, for patriotic reasons, had not asked for draft deferment when they were entitled to it.

"The real seriousness of this problem," said Lauterbach, "will come when we find that our farmers have cut down production due to shortage of labor."

Want Army Deferments.

Among the resolutions adopted was one asking that farm labor be deferred under the selective service draft to the same extent as other defense industries. Another asked that the government take immediate steps to keep manufactured dairy products for war requirements moving regularly at prices fair to producers.

Another resolution passed by the group held that the present allocation of steel is unfair to the dairy farmer and requested federal officials to allow more favorable priority ratings.

CHICAGOAN HELD AS WIFE SLAYER BY MIAMI COURT

Miami, Fla., March 10 [Special].—Zachariah Goldsmith, 54 years old, a Chicago advertising salesman, was ordered held without bond today for grand jury action in connection with the fatal shooting of his estranged wife, Margaret, 37, at a rooming house here on March 1.

State Investigator I. R. Mills testified at an inquest that Goldsmith signed a statement confessing he killed Mrs. Goldsmith, who formerly lived at Wrightville, near Chicago, because she refused to return with him to their home at 211 East Delaware place in Chicago.

Mrs. Elizabeth Green, at whose home Mrs. Goldsmith was killed, testified she saw the Chicagoan empty his pistol into his wife's face, then bend over and kiss her. Justice of the Peace Henry L. Oppenborn ordered Goldsmith held after a coroner's jury recommended a charge of first degree murder be filed against him.

VIOLENCE FLARES IN T.P.&W. STRIKE; FIREMAN INJURED

Peoria, Ill., March 10 (AP).—Violence flared again tonight in the Toledo, Peoria, and Western railroad strike when members of the CIO and AFL unions joined the railroad brotherhoods' picket line and prevented a freight train from leaving on schedule. Rufus Clark of Peoria, a fireman, was taken to a hospital suffering from fractured ribs, loosened teeth, and head cuts. He had gone to the railroad yards to leave on the freight train.

Earlier today Federal Judge J. Leroy Adair denied a petition by the brotherhoods asking that no further injunctive relief be given the railroad. Counsel for the brotherhoods asked that a temporary injunction issued Jan. 3, enjoining violence and restricting picketing, be dismissed on the ground that a party defying governmental authority should not be permitted to invoke its protection. Judge Adair continued the temporary injunction, however.

FARRIERS' SKILL SHOWN IN STATE LICENSE EXAMS

Four farriers—horseshoers to you—assembled yesterday in Andy Tait's shop at 1125 South California avenue to display their skill before examiners for the state department of registration and education. The examiners will make a report to Springfield and the smiths will be informed later if they have passed the test and get a state license.

In addition to Tait, John Pester of Solon Mills, McHenry county; B. M. Blackford of Mount Pulaski, Logan county, and Freeman Blair of Warren, Jo Daviess county, took the test. The examiners were John Huening of Glenview, who has been on the job since 1915, and Herbert Cary of Springfield, who has been watching horseshoers for 22 years.

Huening and Cary said decline in use of motor vehicles and increase in the use of horse drawn vehicles had not yet caused an increase in the number of applicants for horseshoers' licenses, but that they expected more in the months to come. Chicago still has 25 blacksmith shops and in some 10 horses are shod in an average day.

REPORT BLAZER NAMED BY JURY IN SLOT INQUIRY

A true bill charging Fred Blazer with conspiracy was reported yesterday to have been voted by the grand jury in its slot machine investigation, begun last fall after THE TRIBUNE published the secret records of the Guzik-Nitti-Humphreys-Vogel gambling syndicate. The first true bills, charging three men with conspiracy, were reported voted last Friday.

Ralph A. Clare, assistant state's attorney, said that Blazer was a resident of the Brookfield and Congress Park neighborhood. Saloon keepers of the neighborhood are reported to have told the grand jury that Blazer installed 15 machines in their saloons for Edward Vogel, slot machine boss of the syndicate. The machines were later removed and stored in La Grange, where they were confiscated. Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney, said Blazer has vanished.

Police Commissioner Allman yesterday announced the suspension of Policeman Fred Trauth of the Englewood station, a member of the force since 1922. Trauth was at one time a member of the gambling squad headed by Capt. Martin McCormick. No reason was given for the suspension, but it was supposedly ordered in connection with information on loop gambling presented to the grand jury.

FALSE TEETH
BROKE UP A TRUE ROMANCE
But Everything's Rosy Now

Herbert Harlan loved his Mrs.,
Showered her with gifts and kisses.
Mrs. H. loved Herbert too;
But his kisses were taboo!

1. Why? Herb's FALSE TEETH were a "sight"
Though he brushed them every night.
The "aroma" they effused
Really couldn't be excused!

2. Said his dentist: "Try a can
Of this POLIDENT, young man;
It soaks your plates clean, sweet and pure;
And stops vile 'Denture Breath' for sure."

3. Herbert did; and now no strife
Darkens his domestic life.
MORAL: POLIDENT'S just right
To keep your plates, and romance, bright.

BROAD SEARCH FOR ARMS TOOLS IS ORGANIZED

Governors Will Aid Ordnance District.

Plans to find every available machine tool and plant facility that can be used to make arms were made yesterday at a governors' conference with Col. Donald Armstrong, deputy chief of the Chicago ordnance district.

Aid of the state governments was enlisted in the mobilization of industrial resources which Col. Armstrong said is imperative if military equipment is to be produced in the shortest possible time.

The governors of some of the states in the district agreed to send a representative for each state to the ordnance offices in Chicago. The district comprises northern Illinois, Iowa, North and South Dakota, Minnesota, northern Indiana, upper Michigan, and Wisconsin.

Will Supply Information.

These representatives would supply current information to the district's procurement officers as to what idle machine tools are available for war goods production.

Gov. Green of Illinois declared the plan to uncover all available industrial facilities a practical step. He appointed as his representative Dean Charles M. Thompson of the University of Illinois college of commerce. He said that he had asked the university trustees to grant Thompson a year's leave of absence to devote his full time to ordnance district duties.

Governors Julius Heil of Wisconsin, Harold Stassen of Minnesota, and G. A. Wilson of Iowa announced they would name their representatives to the ordnance district after consulting other state officials. Gov. H. F. Schricker of Indiana was represented at the conference by J. H. Albershardt, information director.

Governor States Problem.

"Our problem is to convert every suitable plant to war production," Gov. Green said. "We will aid the ordnance district in expediting the manufacture of armament by finding idle plant facilities which could be pressed into service. For those plants which cannot be converted to war work we must find some way of keeping them in business."

Col. Armstrong explained that the governors' representatives will provide a direct pipe line to their states for the gathering of latest information on available plant facilities. He explained that the ordnance district requires many types of machine tools which cannot be obtained new. The navy and air corps take precedence over the ordnance department on all newly manufactured tools.

"We expect to be letting large ordnance contracts in the next few months which will increase the total awards in this district to 2 billion dollars," Armstrong said. "The total to date is above 1.4 billion dollars. It is therefore imperative that we find more plant capacity."

Washer Firm Leaders Called to WPB Parley

Washing machine manufacturers, meeting in the Morrison hotel yesterday to further their plans for complete conversion of their plants to war purposes, were called to a conference of the War Production board to be held in Washington, D. C., tomorrow. A representative of the industry said the manufacturers, who have been operating on a restricted basis for some time, expected to be ordered to discontinue all civilian production at an early date.

The Washington delegation will be headed by John M. Wicht, president of the American Washer and Ironer Manufacturers association, and W. Neal Gallagher, executive secretary.

Working on Gun Mounts.

The industry, which was given a $12,900,000 government order for gun mounts several months ago, to be shared by all manufacturers, will meet the April 1 deadline for the delivery of the first unit, the industry spokesman said.

The manufacturers were represented as anxious for government aid toward speeding the conversion of their plants to war production. One of the disadvantages has been that the industry—like the automotive industry—is largely one of assembly.

Complete conversion of individual plants is made difficult by the industry's practice of assembling in one plant washing machine and ironer parts made in one or several other factories, in some instances in distant states, the spokesman said. Many of the plants are not equipped to manufacture the complete machine.

War Orders Inadequate.

The original gun mount order has been sufficient to keep the industry busy at only a fraction of its normal rate in the production of civilian products. Representatives of the industry are expected to urge a larger volume of government orders to hasten the plant conversion.

About 70 manufacturers, representing virtually all the major companies, attended yesterday's meeting. H. A. Bumby, president of the Barlow and Seelig Manufacturing company of Ripon, Wis., was elected a member of the association's executive committee, to succeed Louis C. Upton of St. Joseph, Mich., who resigned recently for a divisional position with the WPB. Upton is president of the Nineteen Hundred corporation.

Wicht, who presided at the conference, is head of the General Electric company's household washer and ironer division at Bridgeport, Conn. Gallagher is president of the Automatic Washer company, Newton, Ia. The association maintains headquarters in Chicago.

PREDICTS EARLY START OF LAKE COAL SHIPPING

Washington, D. C., March 10 (AP).—Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes told the solid fuels advisory war council today he expected Great Lakes coal transportation to get started this year by March 26, three weeks ahead of the usual opening date. Ickes, who is solid fuels coördinator, said the early start would help the coal mining and transporting industries to meet the expanded coal requirements under the handicaps of transportation burdens during wartime.

Louis Jefferson Brann, former governor of Maine, was chosen as chairman of the solid fuels advisory council, which has been asked by Ickes to undertake a campaign of encouraging coal storage by consumers.

Ickes described the oil situation in the east as "very acute," and on his desk was a recommendation from the oil industry as to what course to pursue. This recommendation has not been made public, but informed sources said it would mean that some 10 million motorists in 17 seaboard states and the District of Columbia would have to get along with less gasoline.

A new division of petroleum supply was created today with Robert Lee Minckler of Glendale, Cal., the director.

ALL INDUSTRY TOLD TO REPORT ON CONVERSION

Nelson Seeks Gauge on Progress.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 10.—The War Production board today ordered all American industry to make monthly reports on the progress of conversion to war work. Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the board, said the reports from manufacturers would be used to gauge accurately the switch from civilian production to the fabrication of guns, tanks, planes, and ships, and whether the speed of conversion would be sufficient to meet production goals for this and next year.

Nelson enclosed in his letter to manufacturers the first three page form which is to be returned by March 25 for tabulation by the WPB. It provided space for the listing of any factors which hamper capacity production, and Nelson promised to take "all steps within our power" to remedy such conditions.

Data to Be Listed.

Companies are expected to list the value of production for the preceding month, types of products turned out, the number of man hours worked, and the value of unfilled orders. They also are to list the expected peak in war production and employment.

Among other WPB orders today was one banning the production of rubber tired farm tractors, effective May 1, and ordering manufacturers to switch to steel tired equipment as soon as possible. Effective immediately, manufacturers must cut their production of rubber tired vehicles 45 per cent below the January and February average, and in April, must reduce output 60 per cent.

Board officials said that under the curtailment, 10,000 rubber tired vehicles could be made this month, 7,000 fewer than the manufacturers had scheduled, and only 8,000 could be turned out in April. Three hundred tons of crude rubber will be set aside for this month's production, and 240 tons for use next month.

Can Meet Seasonal Needs.

In an interpretation of priorities regulations, J. S. Knowlson, director of WPB industry operations, notified canning factories and other seasonal industries that they will be permitted to build up their inventories in anticipation of peak requirements.

As applied to the canning industry the interpretation eases restrictions on deliveries of tin plate and fabricated cans. Whereas priorities regulation No. 1 requires all producers to keep inventories to "a practical working minimum," Knowlson ruled that supplies could be built up to meet seasonal requirements provided companies refrain from hoarding.

The Office of Price Administration removed shearlings and moutons from provisions of the leather price ceiling to stimulate production for military use in aviators' costumes and arctic clothing. A shearling is a sheepskin with a small amount of wool left on it. A mouton is a shearling which has been fur dressed, usually for use in women's coats.

RAIL ASKS COURT AID TO PERMIT FARE INCREASE

The North Western railway yesterday asked an injunction to restrain the Illinois Commerce commission and various Illinois and county officials from interfering with its plan to increase suburban fares 10 per cent as authorized by the Interstate Commerce commission. The petition was filed on behalf of Charles M. Thomson, trustee of the road, in the United States District court. The case was assigned to Judge William H. Holly.

The petition said that the road faced the dilemma of either violating the laws of congress or of being subject to prosecution under Illinois law. The Illinois commission has suspended increases in commutation fares until July 6, pending a hearing scheduled to start this morning.

The road stated that it had been losing $2,000,000 annually on its commutation business and that, even with the increases authorized, it would lose $600,000 annually. It declared that unless an injunction was granted it would be possible for assessments for violation of the Illinois statutes to accumulate to an amount running into millons.

The Hub Enlarges Its Gary Store on 15th Anniversary

VILLA TURICUM SOLD AT AUCTION

Edith M'Cormick 5 Million Estate Brings $75,000.

Villa Turicum, palatial Lake Forest summer home of the late Edith Rockefeller McCormick, was sold for $75,000 yesterday at a tax foreclosure sale in Waukegan. The property's value is estimated at $1,500,000. It cost $5,000,000 when it was built in 1912.

The sole bidder was Richard B. Hart, president of Hart, Shaw & Co., 135 South La Salle street, who was understood to be acting for the estate. The sale was conducted by Garfield Leaf, Lake county treasurer, and Assistant State's Attorney Wilbur B. Brazell to satisfy tax claims of $340,427, including interest and penalties for the years 1931 thru 1939.

Lake Forest to Get Park.

Hart said the 253 acre property would be subdivided and sold in two to 10 acre plots, and indicated that the city of Lake Forest would be able to acquire 58 acres for a city park and bathing beach in return for taxes due.

Hart bid on each of the 16 parcels in which the property was sold, his bids ranging from $600 to $16,590, the latter for a 78.59 acre parcel with an assessed valuation [one-quarter of the actual value] of $88,410.

The parcel on which the house—a 59 room mansion with 15 baths—stands was sold for $13,500. The assessed value is $70,290.

Taxing Units May Object.

Approval of the sale must be made by Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady, and any of the nine taxing bodies to which money is owed by the estate may enter objections.

Brazell said the county has been losing $30,000 taxes yearly, which it now expects to collect and that eventually, with the subdivision completed, the tax income should be doubled.

Villa Turicum lies along the lake on East Westleigh road, east of Sheridan road and just north of Fort Sheridan. The tax foreclosure complaint which resulted in the sale was brought against the Chicago Title and Trust company, executor of the will of Mrs. McCormick, who died in 1932, and against her son, Fowler, and others.

AETNA'S GROUP LIFE INSURANCE BUSINESS GAINS

The group insurance business of Aetna Life Insurance company expanded rapidly in 1941 as a result of increased industrial activity in the nation, Morgan B. Brainard, president, said in his annual report issued yesterday. New insurance written by the company on group life and employé plans amounted to $277,497,933. The new business, together with growth in policies already on the books, resulted in an increase in insurance in force of $485,181,072 and raised the total group and employé insurance in force at the end of the year to $3,010,788,625.

Aetna added $142,291,106 of new ordinary life insurance last year. Total ordinary insurance in force at the year-end was $1,846,010,447.

Assets of the company increased nearly 62 million dollars to a total of $778,237,039. The net rate of interest earned in the life department was 3.42 per cent last year, compared with 3.51 in 1940.

Ceilings Check Hog Price Rise; February Meat Output Larger

Dip to Last Week's Top

News that the Office of Price administration had established price ceilings for pork products in wholesale channels, to become effective March 23, caused a reaction in the market for hogs yesterday after prices had started toward new high levels. Opening steady to 10 cents higher, the market fell to a level 10 to 15 cents under Monday's and in line with the highest point of last week.

Packers paid up to $13.75 a hundred pounds for top loads of hogs at the start of trading, equaling the best price since 1926. However, most orders for good hogs were filled later at $13.50, equaling last week's peak.

Expect Rise in Selling.

Farmers marketed about the same number of hogs as a week earlier, but members of the trade believe that many hog feeders who have been holding back heavy stock for higher prices may start shipping more now that the uncertainty over pork price ceilings has been eliminated. The 11 principal markets in two days of this week received 139,000 hogs, 16,000 fewer than on Monday and Tuesday of last week, 5,000 less than a year ago, and 38,000 fewer than two years ago.

Live costs of fat lambs advanced 10 to 15 cents during the day. Top loads brought $12.40, with the bulk at $12.00 to $12.25. Old ewes rose 10 cents to $7.75, the highest price since March, 1937.

Second to Record

Meat production in the United States last month was second largest on record for February, exceededonly in 1928, data furnished by the department of agriculture disclosed yesterday. It is estimated that packers under federal inspection during the month produced a total of 1,279,911,000 pounds of beef, veal, pork, lard, lamb, and mutton.

This total compared with 1,138,576,000 pounds in February last year, and with a record low of 776,184,000 pounds in February, 1935, when the accumulated results of pig killing, drouths, and crop control measures held the output abnormally low. February production of beef was increased from 370,959,000 pounds last year to 472,230,000 pounds this year. The veal total of 42,728,000 pounds compared with 39,862,000 last year.

Pork Output Larger.

Pork and lard, at 704,452,000 pounds, compared with 666,956,000 in 1941, while lamb and mutton, at 60,501,000 pounds, compared with 60,800,000.

Packers produced this tonnage from a total of 6,581,840 animals last month, and 6,216,953 in February, 1941.

PENNSY RAILROAD REVENUE LIFTED BY WAR TRAFFIC

Increased traffic caused by the government's military activities resulted in a sharp upturn in revenues during 1941 for the Pennsylvania railroad, M. W. Clement, president, told stockholders yesterday in the road's 95th annual report. Sharply higher taxes and increased operating expenses curbed the road's profit gain.

Operating revenues for 1941 totaled $614,041,163, an increase of 28.6 per cent over 1940. Operating expenses totaled $442,677,275, up 30.8 per cent.

As previously reported the road had a surplus of $48,414,588 available for common stock, after appropriations of $3,969,370 to sinking and other funds. This was an increase of $11,517,923 over the 1940 surplus.

Clement said that 1941 taxes totaled $66,169,548, an increase of nearly 51 per cent over 1940.

Freight revenues last year totaled $477,008,587, an increase of 31.2 per cent, and passenger revenues totaled $89,022,892, an increase of 24.3 per cent.

Wrigley Profit Cut by Loss of Foreign Funds

Wartime restrictions cut last year's profits of the William Wrigley Jr. company, its annual report to stockholders disclosed yesterday. Net income for 1941 amounted to $8,090,413, equal to $4.04 a share, compared with $8,226,648, or $4.11 a share, in 1940.

The company included in its earnings only the $438,993 of dividends from foreign subsidiaries which were actually received. Net earnings of the foreign subsidiaries amounted to $641,795, and if the company had been able to realize the entire amount the net profits would have been increased to $8,293,215.

Sales Volume a Record.

Philip K. Wrigley, president of the company, which is the world's largest manufacturer of chewing gum and is operated from headquarters in Chicago, said that last year's sales volume was the largest ever achieved.

"We are glad to report this," he said, "as it enabled the company to pay toward the support and defense of our country in a year of emergency $5,397,026 in taxes, which is $2,361,608 more than in 1940. We hope that we can continue to carry our share of the load, altho the necessity of putting sugar, one of our principal ingredients, on a quota basis, will prevent us from increasing sales volume beyond the quota allowed, which at present is 80 per cent of 1941 production."

Foreign Units Widespread.

Wrigley did not state the specific factors which prevented full realization on the foreign investments, but the company's world-wide operations include subsidiaries in Singapore and the Philippines as well as plants in England, Canada, Australia, and New Zealand. The foreign investments were listed separately at $3,004,283.

Earned surplus was reduced $862,611 by deduction of the amount applicable to foreign subsidiaries now excluded from the consolidated accounts, and $455,380 for addition to investment reserve.

ASK 9 MILLIONS FOR BUILDING OF NEW 'SOO' LOCK

Washington, D. C., March 10 (AP).—Construction of an additional lock at St. Ste. Marie, Mich., in the interest of the war effort will begin almost immediately after congress appropriates the money.

This assurance came today from Col. Miles Reber of the construction section of the army engineers, who disclosed that contract bids were requested even before President Roosevelt signed yesterday legislation authorizing the lock.

The President, acting promptly after approving the bill, asked congress to appropriate $9,300,000 for construction.

TAX TO LIMIT, NAM READY TO URGE CONGRESS

Would Leave Only Survival Income.

New York, March 10 (AP).—The National Association of Manufacturers today proposed taxation "to the limit—leaving only enough for survival" and will offer its detailed plan to congress tomorrow.

The NAM made the announcement after a joint meeting of its executive and finance committees.

Cowdin Speaks for Group.

The chairman of the latter group, J. Cheever Cowdin, who is also chairman of the board of Universal Pictures corporation, issued this statement:

"It is the sense of this committee representing 80 per cent of the nation's war production manufacurers that all corporations and individuals with income should be taxed to the maximum of their ability to pay for the terrific burden of this war.

"All income over and above that needed to keep our business structure alive and intact should be taxed to the limit—leaving only enough for survival—in order to guarantee the victorious prosecution of the war, to eliminate profiteers and to insure the future solvency of our government."

Seek a "Flexible Ceiling."

Asserting that groups of committee members had been working since the first of the year on factual material to be presented to congress, Cowdin said:

"It is our aim after reviewing the complicated, technical problems involved to determine an equitable base to insure the collection of maximum taxes from all corporations.

"We will do everything possible to help the congress in finding what might be determined a flexible ceiling; above which no unwarranted profits will be permitted to any corporation but beneath which there will be a sufficient return to insure private industry's ability to carry out the war production program of the government."

U. S. and Canada to Impose Newsprint Price Ceiling

Washington, D. C., March 10 (AP).—The United States and Canada will soon impose price ceilings on newsprint simultaneously, it was learned today. The price administration declined to comment on the plan but other sources said it was intended to be effective for the second quarter of the year. There was no indication what the price maximum would be.

STOCKS WEAKEN UNDER RENEWAL OF MILD SELLING

Small Offerings Put Many at Year's Low Marks.

New York, March 10 (AP).—Selling activities dominated the stock market's course today and various industrial issues fell to new lows for the last year and longer.

Offerings of the depressed shares were not unusually large but absorption was notably poor. A scattering of coppers, aircrafts and specialties managed to emerge with minor gains.

The market again was affected by the gloomy tone of war reports from the southwest Pacific. It also was shadowed by the specter of rising taxes, which speculative sources interpreted as a promise of considerable dividend cutting in the months ahead.

NAM Tax Stand Disturbing.

Focusing attention on the tax situation was an announcement by the National Association of Manufacturers just before the market's close that this organization favored "taxation to the limit—leaving only enough for survival."

The Associated Press composite of 60 stocks recorded a net decline of .2 of a point to 35.0, the lowest level since March 31, 1938.

Transactions totaled 334,000 shares compared with 308,950 Monday.

CHICAGO TRADING SAGS.

Trading volume fell to 14,000 shares in a session of uneven price movements on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Of the 84 issues traded, 20 advanced, 37 declined, and 27 closed unchanged. Utah Radio Products, the most active issue, closed up ⅛ point at 1⅝ on a turnover of 1,050 shares. Commonwealth Edison, on a 800 share turnover, declined ¼ to 19⅝. Among the other more active stocks, Peabody Coal closed unchanged, Swift lost a small fraction, and Consolidated Biscuit and Standard Brands were slightly higher. Prices were without trend in the half hour of trading after the New York close.

BOARD OF FOUR CHOSEN TO RUN GENERAL ANILINE

Washington, D. C., March 10 (AP).—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. tonight announced the selection of Robert E. McConnell, Robert E. Wilson, George Moffett, and A. E. Marshall as managing directors of General Aniline and Film corporation, which Morgenthau has taken over.

The announcement said it was "anticipated" that McConnell would be president and chairman of the board. Resignation of the present management is expected at a meeting called for next Monday.

McConnell is chairman of the engineers defense board and consulting engineer to the War Production board. Wilson is president of Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company; Marshall president of Rumford Chemical Works, and Moffett chairman of Corn Products Refining company.

GAIN OF 44½ PCT. IN SALES SHOWN BY NATIONAL TEA

Sales of the National Tea company during the four weeks ended Feb. 28 totaled $7,298,228, an increase of 44.5 per cent over the corresponding period of last year, the company reported yesterday. For the eight weeks ended Feb. 28, sales were $13,939,827 an increase of 45.6 per cent. At the end of the month the company had 1,059 stores in operation, compared with 1,013 a year ago.

Bond Stores, Inc. announced that its February sales of $3,258,783 were 58.4 per cent larger than in February of 1941, and that the January-February total increased 110.7 per cent over last year.

U. S. Steel Shipments Set New Record for February

New York, March 10 (AP).—Shipments of finished steel products by subsidiaries of the United States Steel corporation in February were at the record high for that month of 1,616,587 net tons, the corporation announced today. Commodities

Cotton futures advanced 40 to 70 cents a bale yesterday on higher bids attributed by brokers to a belief that the farm bloc would continue its fight to prevent government sales of cotton below parity prices. Spot and commission houses did most of the buying. Wool tops were unchanged to .5 cent higher. Grease wool improved .2 to .6 cent. Coffee, cocoa, and cottonseed oil closed unchanged.

BANK AID TELLS FRIENDSHIP WITH FAVORED BROKER

Testifies in $350,000 Suit Against C. F. Buck.

A woman who has been involved in five years of litigation over the affairs of the defunct Calumet National bank yesterday told a jury of her friendship with the only man allowed to buy the assets of the bank.

She is Mrs. Fern North Gishwiller of Wheaton, who was confidential secretary to Clarence F. Buck, former collector of internal revenue in Chicago, while Buck administered the affairs of the bank as receiver. Her friend was Richard Cramer, a real estate broker.

In this suit, which opened last Friday in the Circuit court of Judge Ray D. Henson, the federal controler of currency is seeking to recover $350,000 from Buck and his two bonding companies on charges that Buck neglected his responsibilities.

Fraud Conspiracy Alleged.

Testimony has been completed in federal court on the five year old trial in which Cramer, Mrs. Gishwiller, and other officials of the bankrupt Calumet Bond and Investment company, were charged with conspiring to defraud creditors and stockholders of the bank of $100,000.

Questioned by Attorney Theodore Rein, representing the federal controler, Mrs. Gishwiller told of meeting Cramer in 1935 and then of employing him to buy her a home.

"We both liked to play golf," she testified on direct examination, "so we played together in the mornings—sometimes in the evenings. Once in a while we had dinner together."

"Did you ever loan him money?" Rein asked.

"Yes," she replied, "in amounts ranging from $50 to as high as $2,000. I never asked him to give me notes for the money or any security."

Charge of Government.

Also on direct examination Mrs. Gishwiller testified she wrote letters for Buck with and without taking dictation. The government charges that because of Buck's trust in her Mrs. Gishwiller and Cramer were able to buy the bank's assets thru the investing company which they headed at prices so low as to be fraudulent.

During Monday's session Buck admitted that Cramer was the only real estate broker given the privilege of purchasing property assets, but he said there was no other market for them. He also admitted that the bank's appraiser, on whom he depended, was recommended by Mrs. Gishwiller.

On cross-examination by Attorney Raymond G. Real, representing Buck, Mrs. Gishwiller testified that all the letters she wrote concerning the bank's business were read and approved by Buck.

Salary increases of undisclosed amounts "in recognition of higher costs of living" were announced yesterday for Chicago traffic and operations employés of Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc. J. A. Thomas, regional manager, said the company was adding a number of employés to handle anticipated traffic increases in the spring and summer and had established a personnel office for interviewing prospective employés at 39 South La Salle street.

RISING VOLUME BOOSTS PROFITS DESPITE TAX RISE

Eastern Air and Other Big Firms Set Peaks.

Mounting business volume overcame the effects of rising wartime taxes on the earnings of a number of corporations reporting last year's results to shareholders yesterday and enabled some of the companies to set new peaks in profits.

Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker, president and general manager of Eastern Air Lines, announced 1941 net earnings of $1,609,706, highest in the company's history, compared with $1,575,456 the year before. The profits were equal to $2.81 a share, compared with $2.80 in 1940 when the number of outstanding shares was slightly smaller.

Planes of the company carried 482,648 revenue passengers during the year, 39 per cent more than in 1940, and passenger revenues rose 32 per cent to $11,027,384. The number of revenue miles flown increased 26 per cent to 19,841,436.

Kellogg Profit a Record.

A Chicago organization, Kellogg Switchboard & Supply company, reported 1941 net income of $564,211, the largest on record and equal to $1.95 a share on common stock. Earnings for 1940 were $303,241, or 95 cents a share.

The company, one of the principal suppliers of equipment to the independent telephone industry, has been able to supply all of its regular customers despite wartime restrictions on materials and currently is devoting virtually its entire output to the war effort, the announcement said.

"During the last year," the announcement continued, "the independent telephone industry has assumed a new measure of national importance because it furnishes the telephone service of a large part of the territory outside the big cities and connects with the isolated and exposed localities where many army encampments, munitions plants, and other vital war plants are located."

National Container Earns More.

Wartime demands for shipping containers were reflected in the 1941 report of the National Container corporation of New York, which showed net profits of $1,073,435, highest on record, compared with $795,671 in 1940. The earnings, figured after a $1,655,762 deduction for federal taxes, were equal to $3.25 a share, against $2.40 the year before. The company's sales volume rose from $5,984,614 to $9,206,970.

The Chicago Pneumatic Tool company, another to benefit from the impetus of war, announced 1941 net profits of $2,766,602, also the largest on record, compared with $1,717,602 in 1940. The earnings were equal to $6.15 and $3.01 a share in the respective years. From last year's earnings the company deducted $5,960,000 for federal taxes, against $1,305,000.

Sales of the Allied Chemical and Dye corporation increased 30 per cent during 1941 and net profits rose to $21,416,566, equal to $9.67 a share, from $20,885,270, or $9.43 a share, in 1940. The statement, issued from New York, showed that 3 million dollars was added to the company's contingency reserves.

Withholds Sales Figures.

The Climax Molybdenum company of New York, producer of a vital war material, announced last year's net earnings were $8,954,205, equal to $3.55 a share, against $6,039,373, or $2.40 a share, in 1940. The company told shareholders that figures on plant expenditures and sales were being withheld because their publication "is not deemed advisable in the national interest."

Its business swelled by large lend-lease purchases of condensed milk for shipment to England, the Carnation company of Milwaukee reported 1941 net earnings of $2,564,450, the largest in recent years. The earnings were equal to $3.97 a share and compared with $2,319,027, or $3.56 a share, in 1940.

Central Illinois Public Service company, an operating subsidiary of the Middle West corporation, reported net profits for 1941 of $2,005,339, against $2,300,781 the year before.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM By GAIL COMPTON

The Farmer Takes a Tip.

The conception of the American farm as the last stronghold of individualism is becoming antiquated. Husbandry is turning into the science of farming as business moves to the country.

The farmer no longer is the plodding unknown worker, but an important figure representing billions of dollars in national income. Business men from the city, and even farmers themselves, are applying modern business methods to the farm.

One example is the number of farm management services that have sprung up. The services will take over a farm, manage it, prod it into profitable production, hire the labor, and see that the owner gets his just dues. All this is done, usually, for a flat fee or a commission.

Banks Help Clients.

Many banks have opened farm management services for their clients to relieve them of the task of supervising the farm work.

One of the oldest and best known of these organizations is the Doane Agricultural service of St. Louis. Staffed with accredited farm managers, the Doane service manages farms, makes appraisals, tests soil, and maps out crop rotations.

Doane experts consult with the owner of the farm that enlists their aid, helping to formulate policies of operation. A report of the property is made and recommendations as to crops, soil treatment, and repair work are given. The organization helps to obtain materials and seed, supervises planting and harvesting, and checks crop returns to assure the owner of his share.

Complete Records Kept.

Live stock and dairy farms are visited every month, grain farms less often for a check on the work. Complete cost accounting records are kept so the owner can get an accurate conception of his farm as a profitable or unprofitable unit.

Fred E. Bates, vice president of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company of Chicago, detailed some of the services such an organization has tendered farms owned by the bank or managed by the bank. At one large dairy farm in Wisconsin the service has hired dairymen, worked out rations for the animals, directed sanitation, and done all the other chores.

Many city business men who have purchased farms for pleasure or investment have turned their land over to these organizations lock, stock, and barrel for expert guidance.

200 Establish Own Service.

More than 200 Cook county farmers have organized themselves and established a farm management service for bettering their own methods. They have employed a field agent who visits each member's farm once a month to make recommendations and check crop yields.

This is a forward step from the old conception of "My father did it this way, so it's good enough for me." The farmers have realized that they must take advantage of scientific studies. In the words of one old dirt farmer: "It has taken city men to teach us farmers how to farm. They come to the country with no idea of how to run a farm and, as a result, employ persons skilled in that field. The farms of those city men are more profitable than most of ours."

REPORT WEST'S SUGAR MAY BE SHIFTED TO EAST

Cane Territory Stocks Cut by War.

Possibility of a large transfer of western beet sugar into eastern states to equalize supplies was reported in the sugar distribution industry yesterday. It was understood that the War Production board and western beet refiners have the matter under discussion. The amount considered for movement eastward was believed to be 300,000 to 500,000 tons.

The shipments, if decided upon, would go into what normally is cane sugar territory. The cane sugar refining business and, consequently, the sugar supplies for the east, south, and parts of the southwest, have suffered from the effects of the war.

Raw Sugar Shipments Reduced.

Lack of ships has hindered the movement of raw sugar from Cuba and Puerto Rico to continental refiners. Recent submarine attacks on shipping have intensified the problem and helped bring on the spotty supply situation that has resulted in restrictions on sales by refiners and secondary distributors and in preparations for consumer rationing.

Currently, refiners of both beet and cane sugar, as well as secondary distributors and wholesalers, are permitted to sell only 80 per cent of their year ago volume.

In what is known as the "Chicago and west" sugar market, the main outlet for beet sugar, sales of sugar to retailers and to consumers have slackened recently, partly as a result of government restrictions.

Distributors Are Not Disturbed.

Despite the slowing down of the market in the west, sugar distributors in Chicago and other western areas were said to be showing no concern over the longtime outlook. Except in isolated instances involving individual problems, there has been no disposition of distributors to try to unload sugar stocks before rationing becomes effective, it was said.

The distributors were understood to take the view that no glut in the western market would develop, particularly with some other parts of the nation needing more sugar than they have.

PROFIT CASHING TRIMS GAINS IN GRAIN FUTURES

Early Rise Is Attributed to F. D. R. Speech.

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

Before profit taking shaved advances, grain futures rose more than a cent a bushel yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Brokers attributed the early rise to renewed hope that the farm bloc's bill to prohibit sales of government owned wheat and corn at less than parity prices will become law.

Failure of President Roosevelt to make direct reference to the bill in his Monday night broadcast was the chief reason for the early optimism. For the most part traders continued to operate cautiously, however, as they said the general import of his address left little doubt as to his position regarding farm prices.

All Grains Close Higher.

At the close wheat was up ⅛ to ⅝ cent with May contracts at $1.28½ a bushel. Corn was ⅛ to ⅝ cent higher; oats, unchanged to ¼ cent higher; rye, ⅛ to ¼ cent higher, and soy beans, ⅛ to ½ cent higher. Lard continued to be quoted at the government ceilings.

Part of the strength in the corn market was attributed to the report that the Commodity Credit corporation was not accepting orders for feed wheat for delivery after April 30. The grain men believe the federal agency is putting a halt to current sales for early summer delivery in order to give it a chance to see whether the feed wheat program is opening up any storage space.

New Grain to Move Soon.

With movement of new crop grain to start out of the southwest in a little more than 60 days, the grain trade admits it is baffled about what to do with it. Farm storages are still full in many sections as a result of the efforts of the department of agriculture to keep the grain on the farms last year under loan.

DEPENDENT CHILDREN.

During 1941 I provided almost the entire support of my two small children who are living with my divorced wife in another city. May I claim these children as dependents, or is this prevented by the fact that I do not have custody of them?—T. B. A.

Answer: Since you furnished more than half their support during the year and they are under 18 years of age, you may claim them as dependents. It is not necessary that the children live with you.

RAILROAD SIGNALS.

Please furnish me with a report on General Railway Signal. I am particularly interested in the extent to which earnings have increased with the improvement of railroad purchasing power.—J. T.

Answer: The General Railway Signal company is a leading manufacturer of mechanical, electric, and pneumatic signal systems and safety devices for railroads. Patents are held for several types of equipment. The repair and replacement of parts in systems installed are important sources of revenue. The company, incorporated in 1904, has its main plant at Rochester, N. Y.

More than half of business booked in 1940 was connected with maintenance, but orders for new installations have been increasing since that time. In addition, army shell orders totaling nearly $9,000,000 were received late in 1940 and in August, 1941.

Earnings have shown substantial increases since a loss in 1938. Gross operating profit more than doubled in 1941 but a tax increase of more than $1,500,000 cut into net profit. Comparative results follow:

	Gross opr. profit.	Net profit.	Per com.shr.
1941	$4,283,036	$796,991	$2.06
1940	1,835,159	526,761	1.21

*Loss.

Capitalization is 22,311 shares of 6 per cent preferred stock, $100 par, and 321,000 shares of no par common, both listed on the New York Stock exchange. Common dividends amounted to $1 a share in 1941, compared with 50 cents in 1940. Nothing was distributed in 1939.

OIL PRODUCER.

Does Barnsdall Oil still sell gasoline at retail?—C. J. F.

Answer: The Barnsdall Oil company is a producer and marketer of crude oil. Refining and retailing operations were discontinued in 1935.

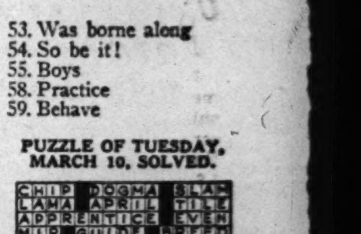
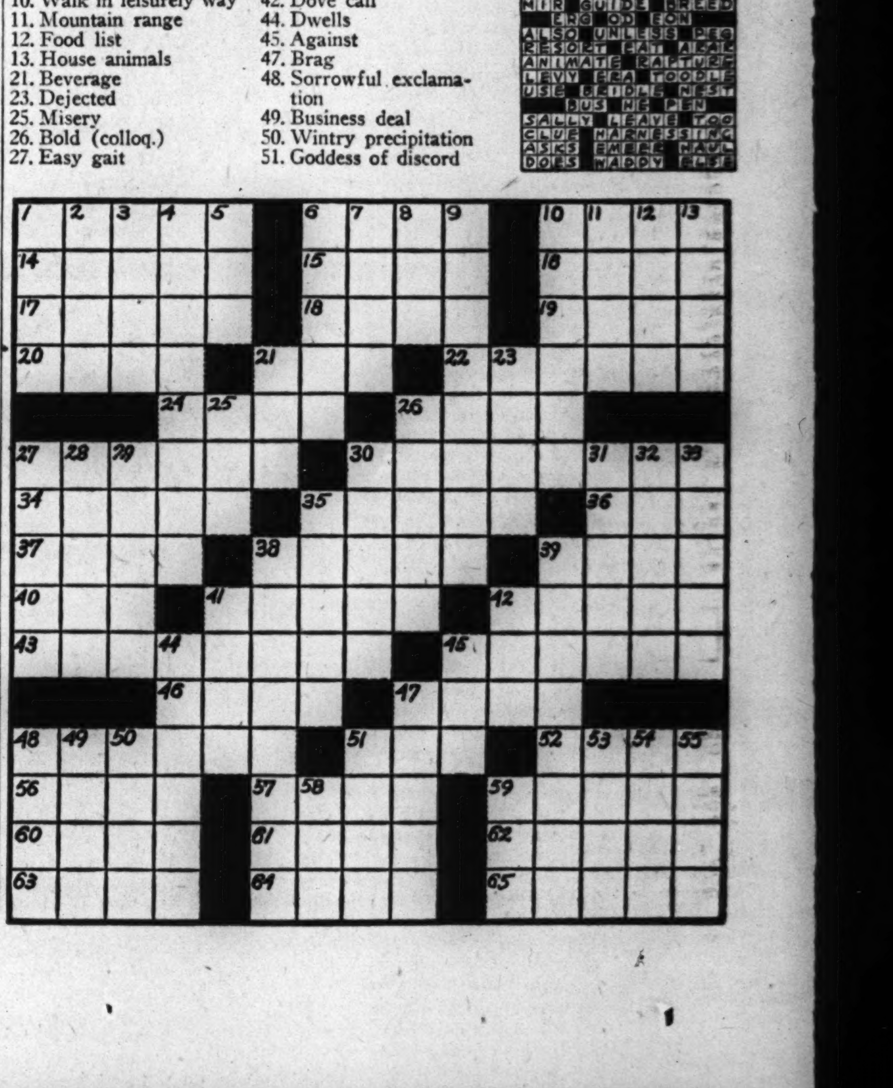
PUZZLE OF TUESDAY, MARCH 10, SOLVED.





SURFACE LINES' EARNINGS FALL TO RECORD LOW

Blame Increased Costs; Revenues Rise.

The Chicago Surface Lines' net earnings for the 1941 fiscal year declined to $3,226,402, the lowest point in the 35 year history of the system, Edward C. Burke, assistant auditor of the lines, disclosed yesterday before the Illinois Commerce commission.

The figures were submitted at a hearing on the company's application for an emergency increase in street car fares from 7 to 8 cents, which has been pending before the commission since last August.

Net earnings reported by Burke, covering the year ended Jan. 31, were $906,402 less than the $4,132,804 earned in the preceding year. Burke said the decline resulted from increased operating costs, largely wages, and higher taxes, which more than offset a boost of 3.45 per cent in total revenues resulting from 19 million more car riders in 1941 than in 1940.

Gross Revenue Increased.

Chicago car riders' 7 cent fares and miscellaneous income rolled up total revenues last year of $48,430,109, a gain of $1,610,000. Operating expenses jumped, however, to $40,647,707, a boost of $2,100,000, and taxes increased by $414,000 to a total of $4,536,000, Burke's testimony showed.

The increase in labor expense resulted largely from a new wage contract, effective last June 1, which lifted the pay of employés by $2,400,000 a year.

The $3,226,402 net profit is after deducting expenses and taxes, but before payment of interest on bonds and before payment of compensation to the city of Chicago for the use of streets. A disputed reserve of $726,452, or 1½ per cent of gross revenues, was set aside by the company in 1941 to cover the city's claim for compensation, which is to be determined finally by the federal District court. The 1½ per cent reserve has been set up under court order since 1938.

1929 Earnings 13 Millions.

In its most profitable year, 1929, the company had net earnings of $13,002,700, four times the 1941 total. In that year the lines in accordance with the 1907 street car franchises paid into the city's traction fund $2,625,000 out of the net profits. This represented 55 per cent of the profits after first allowing a 5 per cent return to investors on the capital value.

Since 1931 the company has fallen short of earning the 5 per cent, so no compensation has been paid into the traction fund under the 1907 franchises. The return on the capital value, computed under the franchise terms, was only 1.8 per cent in the last fiscal year. Before 1941 the lowest earnings were $3,488,574 in 1938.

The commerce commission yesterday ordered all parties in the surface lines' fare case to complete their testimony by today and set final arguments in the case for Friday.

R. F. Kelker Jr., city traction engineer testifying at the hearing, predicted the surface lines' net earnings in 1942 will reach $5,400,000 as a result of increased riding. He said this would represent a return of 6 per cent on actual book value of the properties, after excluding intangible values and deducting depreciation allowances. For this reason, he said, no increase in fare is justified.

Fund Misuse Charged.

A complaint filed against the city of Chicago in the federal District court yesterday charged that the traction fund, which amounted at its peak to 75 million dollars, including interest accumulations, has been mishandled.

The complaint, made by Attorney Weightstill Woods in behalf of six car riders, charged that the use by the city of the traction fund to finance the city's 60 million dollar subway and pay salaries to traction engineers, attorneys, and experts, violates the trust agreement of the 1907 franchises. It asked the court to order the city to reimburse the fund in full so the money can be used for its original purpose—to benefit street car riders.

WHOLESALE EGG PRICES DIP AS BUTTER CLIMBS

Butter prices went up and eggs down on the Chicago wholesale market yesterday. Butter receipts were light and a bid of ¼ cent above the current prices for medium grades was not filled at the spot call on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. Best butter sold at 34¼ to 35½ cents a pound. Most of the recent shipment of Argentine butter to Chicago has been sold, dealers said.

Farm run and undergrade eggs declined ¼ to ½ cent a dozen. Storage packed eggs were ¼ cent lower, with the extras selling for 30¼ cents and the firsts at 30 cents a dozen.

In futures trading on the exchange, butter closed .05 cent higher, with March at 33.3 cents. Eggs recorded a gain of .15 cent after losing as much as ¼ cent a dozen in early sales. The October egg contract closed at 32.4 cents a dozen. Potato prices were slightly lower, with the April contracts at a new seasonal low. Largest trade was in March contracts, which closed at $2.66 per hundredweight.

BAKING COMPANY GIVES 17 DRIVERS SAFETY AWARDS

The Continental Baking company last night presented 17 driver-salesmen from the Chicago area with watches for having completed 10 years of service without having an automobile accident charged against them. The 17 salesmen drove a total of 2,172,638 miles in the 10 years. Robert C. Haven, director of safety for the company, presided at a dinner in the Morrison hotel at which the men were honored. The three leading in mileage were: Adolph S. Blakeman, 319,290 miles; Clarence A. Baumeister, 257,718 miles, and Leo B. McGrath, 188,760 miles.
